FNB To Expand Main Office

The Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Oakland recently authorized construction of an additional 12,000 square feet of floor space to the rear of its Main Office on Second Street.

The project, which will also require minor remodeling of a portion of the existing area, has been approved by the Regional Administrator of National Banks, Richmond, Va.

The new addition of reinforced concrete and steel, designed to match the existing structure, will consist of three floors above ground and a full basement adjoining the present Community Room. An elevator will service all four levels. The main floor will house the Consumer Loan Department as well as Note Windows and additional office space for other operations. Bookkeeping, Proof and Data Processing functions will be combined on the second floor to provide more efficiency in those areas. The Credit Department and Central File will occupy the basement level, while the third floor will be utilized for storage and expansion.

The contract for construction was signed June 13 with Coombs & Hemmann, Inc., Morgantown, the successful bidder. Work is to begin immediately with completion of the project expected within 325 days. The construction work should cause only minor, temporary inconveniences to customers and no major interruptions of service are anticipated.

Drive-in movies are the greatest thing to happen to the U.S. since Elmer's glue-all. Their biggest selling points have always been convenience and economy.

I like the convenience part especially — after all the drive-in is just a quick drive around the block. For instance, a friend of mine and I decided to go to the drive-in Sunday night. The movie started at 9 o'clock; at seven o'clock we began to pack the car with all of the essentials: cooler, ice, pillows, blanket, cigarettes, matches, bottle opener, coke, "munchies", bug repellent, mosquito netting, a Coleman stove and a change of clothes. Then we had to be at the drive-in an hour before the movie started because the waiting line was backed up to Crellin.

The economy part is a big attraction too. For the price of one regular theatre ticket, two people can go to the drive-in. However, there are those people who try and save even more money. The other night, the trunk popped open on the car in front of us and a Little League team fell out.

Eventually it gets dark enough to start the movie. The air is alive with anticipation, the crowd is hushed...and there on the silver screen before you is a movie about how the refreshment stand prepares its french fries.

Once the feature movie starts it becomes apparent that most people who go to the drive-in do not go to watch the movies. At first I thought the car in front of us had the engine running; then I realized that the steam was coming from within the car.

I really don't think they should show Burt Reynold's movies at the drive-in. Every time Burt takes his shirt off the women drivers swoon over their steering wheels and the blaring horns make it difficult to hear the dialogue.

Also, people who bring their pets to the drive-in should be chastised. I'm directing this to the woman who crawled across my hood looking for her cat and whispering, "Tabitha, come to Mommy." Thank heavens for interior hood releases — I think the lady landed somewhere in the back row. Meanwhile Tabitha was sitting on top of the projection booth and enthralled in a Pink Panther cartoon.

Then there was the couple who obviously didn't have a car. They just opened the back door of my car, asked if anyone was sitting there, and sat down.

The most entertaining part of the drive-in is leaving. Everyone sneakily drives to the end of their row with their lights off — then they simultaneously turn on their headlights and rush towards the exit. The resounding echo of crunching metal can be heard for miles.

See you at the drive-in.

What's a C.D.?

A C.D. is banking jargon for a certificate of deposit. And a certificate of deposit is a high interest savings program. One that many people don't quite understand, or have a host of misconceptions about.

At First National, we felt it was time to clear the air and lay to rest some of the fears people might have about one of the best savings alternatives available to them. Such as:

DO YOU HAVE TO BE WEALTHY TO OWN A C. D.?

No. As a matter of fact, First National C.D.'s require a minimum investment of only $1,000.00. Now you can earn 6%, 6½%, 7¼%, 7½%, or 7¾% interest per annum, compounded daily, with a C.D. with only $1,000.00 minimum deposit.

DO YOU HAVE TO TIE UP YOUR MONEY FOR AGES?

Not at all. In fact, you can earn 6% in a C.D. and your money will stay on deposit for only one year. Granted, First National Bank has C.D.'s that require you to keep your money on deposit for longer periods of time. But the longer the maturity date, the higher the interest rate. The rate table quickly shows how this works.

WHAT IF I NEED TO WITHDRAW SOME MONEY?

Your money is always available. You may withdraw all or part of your C.D. at anytime. However, the law states that you must forfeit some interest on the amount you withdraw, but you never lose any of your savings . . . only interest. It is usually referred to as a substantial interest penalty.

HOW SUBSTANTIAL IS SUBSTANTIAL INTEREST PENALTY?

It simply means that, should you have to withdraw money from your C.D., you would forfeit 90 days of the interest on the amount withdrawn. Even so, the balance of the withdrawn amount will still earn interest at the 5% regular savings rate. So you do lose some interest, but only 90 days worth.

WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN INTEREST RATE AND EFFECTIVE ANNUAL YIELD?

The interest rate is the base rate. That's what your savings earn daily. When you compound the interest rate (add interest to interest) over a 365-day period, we arrive at an effective annual yield. Which, simply stated, is what your savings earn in a year. Both of these rates are shown in the rate chart.

SO C. D.'S ARE PRETTY SIMPLE.

We hope you can see that high interest certificates of deposit are not any more complicated than a checking account.

At First National, we wanted you to know some of the important facts concerning C.D.'s; and the important role they can perform in your future savings plans.

So if you'd like to start a high interest savings plan . . . come by and see us.

Former Garrett Player Signs With Chicago

Deutsch played with GCC during the 1973-74 and 1974-75 seasons. During his sophomore year he was voted outstanding pitcher.

Upon graduating from GCC, Deutsch attended Davis and Elkins College where he had an outstanding career. While there he was voted pitcher of the year in his conference during his junior and senior years.

By coincidence, Deutsch will now play ball with a former GCC teammate in the Florida State League. Robert Whitfield held the shortstop position at GCC during the time Deutsch played, until he was drafted by the Orioles chain.

Both boys attended Charleroi High School and were recruited by GCC coach, Dennis Fearnow.

Oakland Loses Twinbill To Hyndma

In a game lasting over four hours Sunday, the Oakland Pen Mar team bowed to Hyndman in the 10th inning with a bases-loaded walk in the first game of a double-header. Oakland took the loss in the second set by a score of 11-8.

Hyndman rushed to an early lead in the second scoring two runs on an error and picked up another run in the third with a single by Bryant. The team tallied two additional runs in the fifth on a double by Keel, single by Shaffer and an Oakland error.

Oakland came back in the sixth exploding for four runs when Dave Bender reached first on a walk, "Corky" Sweitzer singled him in, Ed Wildesen singled in Sweitzer and Wildesen scored on a passed ball. Ernie Shotwell added the final run by singling home Al Cvetnick.

Singles by Bender, Sweitzer and Wildesen in the seventh gave the Garrett Countians a one-run lead but Hyndman evened up the score and came out ahead by one in the ninth on a run-producing single by Bryant and a double from Crawford.

The Circle has been receiving names and addresses of seamen who request that gospel tracts be sent in their languages, and it was decided by the Circle to comit themselves to sending gospel tracts to ten different seamen each month.

Eleven missionary letters were read and a June Missionary prayer request sheet was made to be distributed to the church.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter W. Price, Mountain Lake Park, have returned from participating in a program entitled "Sing Out, West Virginia" presented in the West Virginia State Theatre in the Cultural Center at Charleston, W. Va., on Father's Day, June 18. The event was also held in commemoration of the founding of West Virginia on June 20, 1863.

Two original songs written by Dr. Price, "The Buckwheat Song" and "Huckleberry Mountain" were performed as the second presentation of the program. More than twenty original compositions were performed either by their authors or by other musicians. The two songs by Dr. Price were sung by a group of five from the Church of Christ with Dr. Roger Nichols, Charleston, accompanying.

Mr. Wheeler is the author of many songs that have sold millions of records for such stars as Glen Campbell, Johnny Cash and his wife June Carter, Judy Collins, Nancy Sinatra, Pat Boone and others. Mr. Wheeler autographed a copy of his book Song of a Woods Colt for Dr. and Mrs. Price at Charleston.

The coordinator of "Sing Out, West Virginia" was Miss Louise Bing, Charleston, famous for her leadership in raising $40,000 to have a bronze statue of Lincoln sculpted and cast representing the symbolism of Vachel Lindsay's poem "Lincoln Walks at Midnight."

The opening number was sung by Mrs. Mabel Grafton and her daughters who performed "The West Virginia Hills." Mrs. Grafton is 100 years of age and taught country school for years. Mrs. Grafton was brought to the stage in her wheel chair, but she came to the microphone with a cane and help from her daughter.

all in the ninth after a walk by Cvetnick, single by Ken Marks and a run-producing single from Rick Bridges, while Larry Nesselrodt tied the score by singling home Marks.

A two-out walk with the bases loaded in the tenth scored the final run for Hyndman.

Reliever Ernie Shotwell was slated for the loss after taking over for starter Rick Bridges who pitched six and one third innings. Huffman was credited with the win for Hyndman.

In the second game Hyndman once again jumped out with an early lead after scoring four runs in the first and two in the second. Oakland came back quickly in the third on a two-run homer by Larry Nesselrodt. Consecutive singles by Shotwell, Bender and Cvetnick tallied two runs, and a third was added by an error. Marks tripled in Cvetnick to tie the score 6-6.

Hyndman added three runs in the fifth and two more in the sixth to gain the lead and later the win. Oakland scored its final run in the fifth after a single by Sweitzer and a double from Cvetnick. Sweitzer scored as Marks reached first base on an error.

Local racers did comparatively well last weekend in several races.

Frank Lewis, racing in the late model division at Morgantown Speedway began his Heat in the number one position and finished first. In his feature race he started second and finished tenth out of 23 competitors.

Frank also raced in Bedford, Pa., Friday evening and took seventh place in his Heat. Although he started the Feature in the number four spot he was unable to complete the race due to mechanical difficulties. In a Sunday evening race in Hagerstown, Frank began the Heat in the seventh position and finished first and in the Feature he started 13 and finished ninth.

In the semi-late division, Dewey Wakefield began a Heat at the Morgantown Speedway Friday night in the second position and finished fourth. He started 17th in the Feature but encountered some engine problems that made him unable to complete the race.

Also at Morgantown, Randy McCartney left the third position in the Heat to capture the race in the semi-late division and with seven laps to go in the Feature race he had mechanical problems and was unable to finish.

Bob Hersbman competed in the Morgantown semi-late division, starting second in the Heat and finishing first. He started eighth in the Feature and finished in the fifth position.

In the Dune Buggy competition at Morgantown, Randy Murphy finished seventh in the Heat and started the Feature as number thirteen to place ninth.

Garrett Countians Lose Several Games In Action Last Week

Grantsville tied the score 6-all in the top of the ninth but a bases-loaded single by John Boor in the bottom of the inning enabled James P. Love Post of Lonaconing to win over the Garrett Countians 7-6 last Thursday evening.

Grantsville was leading 4-0 in the third inning when Love scored five times, highlighted with a grand slam homer by Boor. With the score tied 6-6 in the ninth Love's Steve Metz opened the inning with a triple and after two intentional walks Boor delivered the winning hit.

Love's Phil Whetstone with seven and a third innings of relief got the win over Tim Workman.

Nazelrode and Thorne collected two hits each for the Garrett Countians. In Saturday's action at GCC, Grantsville bowed to Fort Cumberland Post 13 6-5 in the 11th when Post 13's Ken Klosterman made the circuit on a pair of two-base errors. Klosterman hit a hard grounder to shortstop Larry Nesselrodt and raced to third when the hurried throw went past the first baseman. The throw back to third also went wild, allowing the winning run to score.

Post 13 opened the scoring in the first inning but Grantsville knotted the score in the bottom half of the inning on a double by Nesselrodt, a wild pitch and a sacrifice.

A bases-loaded single by Ken Marks cleared the sacks to give Grantsville a 4-1 lead in the fifth but Post 13 added a run in the sixth when Kevin Carcella walked and made his way around the bases on a passed ball, infield out and wild pitch, Carcella tied the score again in the ninth with a two-out home run.

Post 13 tied the score 4-4 in the top of the seventh on a double, single and a sacrifice. Grantsville moved ahead again in the bottom of the seventh on a walk to Allen Sweitzer and Mark's fourth hit of the game.

Carcella was the winning pitcher for Post 13, Thorne was slated with the loss.

On Sunday at Bayard the Potomac Valley A.A. squeezed past Island Creek Coal 6-5, but the coalmen rebounded for an 8-3 verdict in the nightcap.

Wayne Skidmore homered for Island Creek and Mike Murray rounded the bases for PVAA in the opener as Basil Armstrong picked up the win over "Ike" Straley. Pete Brosnihan had a two-run homer for Island Creek in the seventh while John Gainer and Skidmore had two hits each.

Do You Really Have Enough Tables?

A national agency took a homemaker's survey recently, and one of the findings they reported was that the average home lacks sufficient tables.
They said that there were not only a lack of tables themselves, but also a lack of variety of tables in many homes.
Actually, there are several decorating guidelines to use concerning tables.
First, if you want to have a really comfortable, easy-to-live-in home, you should have tables near most of your seating pieces - and that's easier to accomplish these days because there's such a tremendous selection of shapes and sizes of tables. It's not difficult to find just the "right" table to fit by any chair or sofa.
Secondly, although tables are practical and necessary to hold lamps, refreshments, etc., they also have an important role to perform in making your rooms beautiful. All by themselves, tables can add decorator touches if you pick the proper looking tables for the different parts of your room.
Look around your home. Ask yourself these two questions: do you have enough tables? Do you have pretty tables? If you'd like to improve on either of those points, we can help. Stop in.

First Federal

announces another new savings plan and

We Pay 1/4% more

- $10,000 Savings Certificates
- 6 Month term
- Insured by FSLIC
- ¼% more than U.S. Treasury Bills

Here's how it works. The interest rate that the government will pay on Treasury bills is posted every Tuesday. You add ¼% to that rate and that's the basic interest we'll pay you on a Six-Month Savings Certificate, FSLIC insured (up to $40,000). In addition to that basic rate, you'll also get the benefits of daily compounding which will add more interest to your annual rate. So we will always pay the highest rate available. Though the Treasury rate changes weekly, the rate on your certificate will remain fixed for the six-month term. If renewed, the rate will be the current rate plus ¼%. The only stipulations are that you must deposit at least $10,000 and leave it for six months.*

For further information call or come in to any of our six convenient locations.

*Substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal.

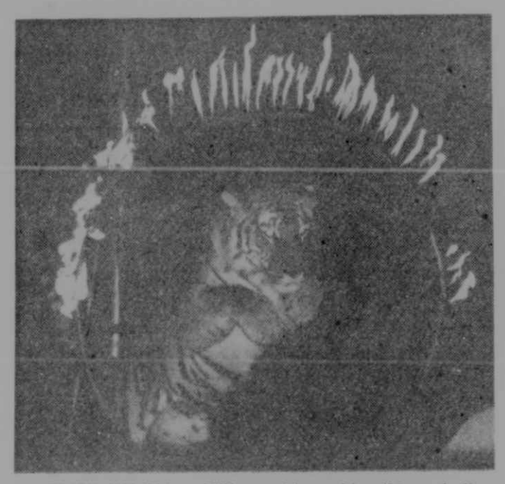
I SAW "BORN FREE" THREE TIMES — Maude, a female lion could, no doubt, be a distant cousin of Elsa. She seemed star-struck by our photographer and claims to trace her ancestry back to the MGM lion. Maude and her fellow jungle cats performed admirably under the direction of liontamer, Don Carr.



SERVE YOURSELF — Barbara and Kate are the largest of the Carson and Barnes Indian elephants. They weigh about five tons each and are over forty years old. These two are particularly adept at stealing a bale of hay, stepping on it to break the binding, and then eating the whole thing. They certainly deserve their snack because the circus tent could not be erected without their help.

YAK, YAK, YAK — Although these animals keep up a spirited conversation among themselves, it isn't the reason they are called yaks. Actually the name is derived from the Tibetan word for these shaggy, wild oxen of central Asia - gyag.

A REAL RIB-TICKLER — Laugh and the whole world laughs with you is George, the laughing Hyena's motto. He kept the crowd in stitches with his peculiar kind of high-pitched giggle. The hyena is a wolf-like, carnivorous mammal native to Africa and Asia.

FLICK MY BIC — With careful coaching this male tiger was taught to leap through a ring of fire. The tiger, like all animals, is instinctively afraid of fire, but is an avid swimmer in his native India. That's right, India - there are no tigers in Africa.

A HORSE OF A DIFFERENT STRIPE — This African Zebra is a member of the Carson and Barnes menagerie. He is the proud owner of three-color stripes, brown, black and white. Most zebras are either brown and white or black and white; these fellows are both. Zebras can at best be described as having the personality of an ill-tempered pony, but these were an exception. The animals in the show's menagerie are chosen for their domestic qualities and are very gentle with children.

Children Of All Ages Throng To See Carson & Barnes 5 Ring Circus

By Jim Willis

In years gone by, everyone in Oakland flocked to the railroad station when the circus came to town. Times changed, but America's love for the Big Top has never diminished, evident when children and the young at heart arrived in droves last Friday to watch the Carson and Barnes Circus. The show was sponsored at the Wisp Ski Area by the Ali Ghan Shrine Temple and the Oakland Harige Unit.

This circus no longer travels by railroad, but instead it is transported by a "wagon train" of over 80 trucks and motor homes. The performers and animals, who are based in Hugo, Oklahoma, travel extensively. This year's schedule includes stops in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota, Georgia and Mississippi.

Carson and Barnes is a fulfilling dream for owner, D. R. Miller. He explained that as a boy he was avidly interested in the circus, sometimes getting up at five a.m. to arrive as the animals were unloaded. His father shared his interest and together they would travel 50-60 miles to view a circus.

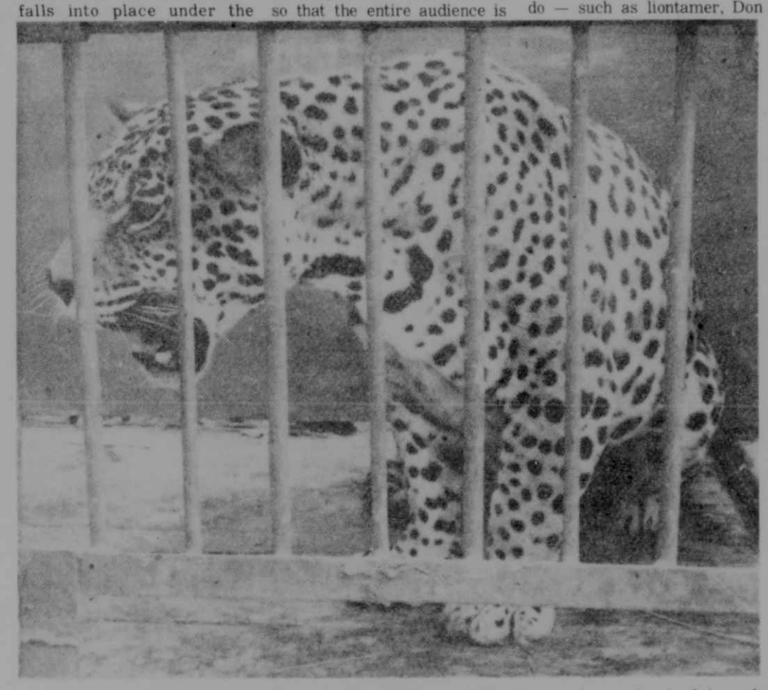
Mr. Miller never outgrew his fascination, and in 1936 he started his own circus. After several name changes, business arrangements and restructuring, the present Carson and Barnes took shape. It now features five rings, more elephants than any other in the world and it is one of the largest tented circuses in existence.

The show presently employes 218 people and the acts come from Italy, Poland, Spain, Mexico, South America, Germany, Cuba and the United States. Talent scouts, Manuel King and Ted Bowman travel extensively looking for unusual acts to complement the show's programming. Mr. Miller plans to travel to South America this summer to review new acts.

Just setting up the circus proves a grueling task for the Carson and Barnes staff. Wire mesh pens are erected each day to house ambulatory animals such as camels, llamas, zebras, pygmy goats, deer, yak, guanaco, Sicilian donkeys, emu, ostrich, and a wallaby. The wild animal display alone contains over twenty dens for the display of Canadian black bears, lions, tigers, leopards, a laughing hyena, cougar and wild cat. Each morning when the fleet of motor vehicles transporting the show arrive on the lot, the animals are unloaded, fed and watered.

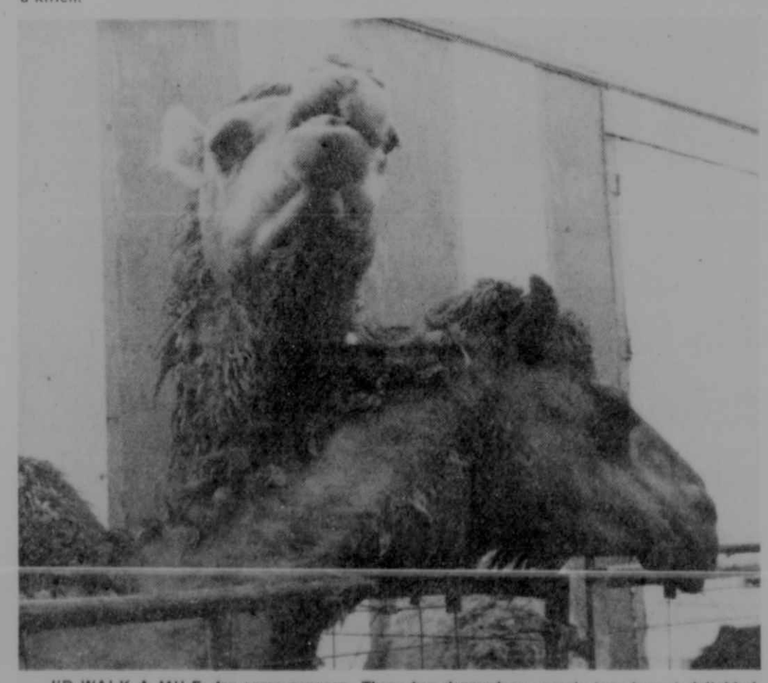
The public always enjoys watching the circus set-up, which is particularly interesting because of the antics of Barbara and Kate, two Indian elephants. These two ladies weigh in at five tons apiece and are over forty years old. Ed Russell, equestrian director for the show, reports that the tent could never be erected without their help. The canvas tent is laid out in huge sections and the two elephants carefully raise the support poles upon the voice commands of their handlers.

The elephants are probably the biggest attraction in the show — literally. Most of the elephants are four to ten years old and are imported from Thailand. The pachyderms are surprisingly gentle and double as an amusement ride for children before and after the actual show. Like the elephants, some of the children that ride them are in their forties.



The Carson and Barnes show falls into place under the direction of Mr. Russell and his eloquent ringmaster, Tom Laurita. Mr. Russell is responsible for balancing the acts, that is, to evenly distribute the performers in each ring so that the entire audience is entertained at the same time. Some acts such as "Miss Rosario," a contortionist of amazing versatility, would be hard to follow. But follow they do — such as liontamer, Don Carr who puts lions and tigers through their paces simultaneously and then has a male tiger ride his natural enemy, the elephant. As a coup de grace, the tiger jumps through a ring of fire.

The aerial acts are breathtaking, complete with beautiful choreography and costuming. In a dazzling finale, the entire aerial troupe presents a spectacle called "A Touch of Hollywood."



The tented circus may be a rarity today, but thanks to Carson and Barnes it is making a comeback. One need only observe the rapturous expressions on the children's faces to know that the circus could never become extinct, mainly because those children never really grow up.

A FACE ONLY A MOTHER COULD LOVE — Hippopotami may not be some of God's loveliest creatures but they do possess some endearing qualities. They are very docile, herbivorous African mammals and are sometimes called the "river horse." The hippo spends much of the day submerged in water and if out of water for too long he would die. This prime example of his species is "Goliath" the new four-ton acquisition of the Carson and Barnes Circus.

IF A LEOPARD COULD CHANGE ITS SPOTS — Unlike his jungle cousins in Asia and Africa, this male leopard, "Cheetah," was relatively tame. His ferocious expression was just for the benefit of enthusiastic shutter-bugs. A quick scratch under the chin soon had him purring like a kitten.

I'D WALK A MILE, for some popcorn. These two dromedary camels (one hump) delighted children with a vast array of facial expressions that are peculiar to camels. They were rewarded for their efforts with offerings of popcorn and other tidbits. Most Americans don't realize that these beasts of burden were once used by our cavalry in the western United States.

the ROCKPILE

by Cathy Helbig

In March of 1921 "Bob Martin, the AEF champion, who recently had a fifteen round bout in New York in which he came out a good second best, stopped off in Oakland for an hour or two to visit his brother, Mr. Alvey R. Martin."

"Farmers coming into Oakland over the State road on Friday and Saturday complained bitterly because the snow plow which had operated over the highway earlier in the week had removed the snow down to the surface of the road, making it unfit for sledding purposes, while on the other hand those who came to town in automobiles and other wheeled vehicles expressed their delight with the conditions of the road and the manner it had been cleared of the snow."

A Swanton doctor was arrested on a charge of dispensing prescriptions for drugs to addicts and with failure to keep records of his prescriptions. "it is also alleged by the federal authorities that he has tried to smooth over the difficulties with the government by offering to pay what he thought was a sufficient sum. This was refused by the federal authorities at Washington and prosecution of the case ordered. His arrest followed."

Later that spring, John Beitzel of Bittinger, "placed an order with his dealer for a high silk hat, size 7½, to be worn in honor of the recent arrival of a daughter at his home."

"Several construction projects were being undertaken at this time; "The unsightly boardwalk which has spanned Wilson Creek along Second Street from the corner of the Offutt residence property to the corner of Green Street, will soon be a thing of the past as the property owners and the town government have arranged for the tearing away of the wooden walk and to replace it with a reinforced concrete walk. Work on the upper end of the walk was begun a day or two ago by Isaac Tusing" and "Work on the new concrete road leading from Oakland toward the West Virginia state line via Crellin has resumed."

Pvt. William P. Smith who was killed in action on September 28, 1918 in France was buried in Accident on April 17, 1921. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Smith of near McHenry and had been interred in one of the American cemeteries in France until the Government gave supervision to be disinterred and sent back home. A large crowd turned out for his burial.

In May of 1921 a Mr. Bell, a farmer in Grant County, W. Va., was shot from his horse as he was riding home. Mr. Bell was accused of informing on moonshiners and he had been told by residents to leave. He was also to have informed on a draft evader. There were no suspects in that murder.

That spring must have aroused homicidal tendencies as another man was murdered. A Mr. Sanders of Keyser was killed by five gamblers and bootleggers as he was preparing to board the train to return home from Clarksburg.

The men maintained that they were only engaged in a "friendly wrestling bout" and that Sanders had struck his head upon the street curb. This evidence was not taken seriously and the men were locked up.

Give your child a lifesaving course on how to use the phone.

It's good to know that your child is never alone in an emergency. Not if you have phones and teach your child how to use them properly.
Just take a few minutes and show your child where the emergency numbers are located in the front of the phone book.
Better yet, write down certain emergency numbers and keep them near your phones. For the fire department, the police department, your family doctor, and the operator.
That's right, the operator. If a child becomes confused or panics, simply dialing "0" can alert the operator, who knows how to handle an emergency.
If your child is preschool age and can't read, point out where "0" is on the dial and how to dial it.
The friendly voice on the other end is a reassurance that someone will always be there. Just in case.
Of course, also make sure your child knows never to play with phones, that they're not toys.
Rather, they're a way to save time. And money. And even lives.
Clip the coupon and send for our new free colorful brochure that tells you how you can use your phones for all they're worth.

BEST PERFORMANCE

All he has to do is stay on for eight seconds.

But that can be the longest eight seconds of the day when the rodeo performer gets a particularly spirited bronco.

He knows that when he gives the final nod of his head and that big gate is swung open, some horses turn into twisting, turning beasts who seem to breathe fire and stomp lightning.

Yet every performer hopes he will get that very kind of mount. Unless the horse puts on a wild display during the ride, the judges will score the rider low and he will miss the prize.

Anything that brings a special reward usually requires a person to go beyond his normal performance.

Shouldn't we all then be ready to give an extra share of our talents and abilities if we want eternal life—the greatest reward ever promised to man?

This Sunday come to church and find how it's done.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE QUIET REVOLUTION

Lesson for June 25, 1978

Background Scripture: Acts 17
Devotional Reading: Acts 17:23-34

A black African leader was interviewed by a newsman. Asked what had influenced him most as a revolutionary leader, he replied without hesitation: "The Christian missionary school I attended."

Rev. Althouse

Many Christians were shocked to think that their contributions to the missions had in any way influenced this man to become a revolutionary. Ironically this story broke in the summer of 1976 while Americans were celebrating their own revolutionary heritage.

World Upside Down

Yet there is no question but that Christianity has been a revolutionary force from its very beginning. Testimony to this is found in Acts 17 when Paul and Silas are working in Thessalonica. Encountering the two missionaries in the synagogue, some of the Jews of Thessalonica drag some of the Christians before the town authorities, charging: "These men who have turned the world upside down, have come here also" (17:6).

Wherever Paul and Silas went — as well as other Christian missionaries — they were upsetting people and turning communities "upside down." No matter how you slice it, the Good News of Jesus Christ is a revolutionary message and force! No community was ever the same again. These men upset the peaceful balance of communities by challenging their religions, their business practices, and their moral standards. Governmental authorities looked upon these people as politically subversive and many were treated as such.

Jesus, The Other King

One of the reasons they were regarded so suspiciously by civil authorities was their insistance upon calling Jesus their Lord. Political leaders saw this as a threat to the authority of the Roman Caesar and his empire. Thus, in Thessalonica the Jews accused the Christians of saying that "there is another king, Jesus."

Well, of course, we do regard Jesus as Lord and King. Yet, Jesus is a different kind of king. He seeks no political or temporal kingdom and his sovereignty is spiritual. To be sure, his Lordship often has consequences that are political, social and economic in nature, but that is not the focus of his sovereignty in men's hearts.

This also means that although his Good News is revolutionary and throws the world into ferment, still his revolution is not that of the sword or any other kind of violence. If there is force in his revolution, it is moral force, the power of love and loyalty. The violence it often experiences — as Paul and Silas experienced it in Thessalonica and elsewhere — is simply the sinful response of people who are threatened by it. People often react violently, failing to realize that violence has never been able to stop it.

When people take Christ into their lives and into their communities, they cannot help but experience a quiet revolution in all that he touches and turns upside down.

THE PATIENT'S RIGHT TO KNOW

How times have changed. Not too long ago, much about medicine and treatment of an illness was very secretive. But, nowadays people want to know what's wrong with them, what caused the problem and how fast it takes to be cured. They also want to know about the drugs they take, what they are, what they do and what the side effects may be.

We feel that these are all logical questions and in our pharmacy we carefully explain the directions for use and other pertinent information about your prescriptions.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

C&P Presents Award To Earl Boyce

Earl (Shorty) Boyce, Oakland, was presented with an Employe Recognition award by the Community Relations team of the C&P Telephone Company June 7 in the Oakland Service Center.

Making the presentation was L. C. Rucker, Jr., District Manager.

The award recognizes employes for outstanding service to their community, and Shorty's award was based on his activities with Little League, Pony League, Junior Rifle Club, Hunter Safety Course, Youth Hunting Course and the local VFW post.

He has managed and umpired for Little League baseball for the past ten years, and during this time has fostered two championship teams and has participated personally in three All-Star games in Hagerstown.

Shorty has also been managing a Pony League team for the past 11 years.

He has also served as the chief range instructor on the rifle range for the Junior Rifle club for the last two years, assisting the 50 members, nine to 18 years old, every Thursday.

In addition, he has been an instructor of the Hunter Safety course since 1966. Completion of the course requires weekly meetings for a ten-week period. He has also been an instructor for the Youth Hunting course and serves as a counselor and instructor for the Boy Scouts marksmanship merit badge award.

Shorty is also the commander of the local VFW Post 10077.

Steer Camp To Be Held Next Week

John Wildesen, former Garrett resident and present manager of the Eastern National Livestock Exposition, will conduct a Steer Camp on Friday, June 30, and Saturday, July 1, for all youth enrolled in a baby beef project, according to Extension work-study student, Bill Knepp.

The Fitting and Showing Workshop will begin on Friday afternoon at 1:00 p.m. with a weigh-in of steers to gauge an animal's progress towards the County Fair. The afternoon schedule will show participants how to wash and clip their animals in preparation for a mock show.

The youth will have an opportunity to participate in recreational activities during the evening schedule. Participants may bring their sleeping bags and stay all night if they so desire as all persons will be chaperoned.

On Saturday, Wildesen will work with individuals to help them identify conformational strengths and weaknesses of their animals so they may learn to display them to their best advantage. Extension work-study students Barry Glotfelty and Bill Knepp will videotape the workshop so students will have an opportunity to observe their strong points and learn from their showmanship mistakes.

The afternoon program will feature a mock fitting and showing contest which will give the participants an opportunity to produce their newfound knowledge in the show ring.

All youth are encouraged to attend. Participants are asked to bring a nylon halter, chain lead show halter, brushes, as well as feed, bedding, buckets and their sleeping bag. This is an opportunity to learn the fundamentals of showman ship from a master showman. For more information, contact Bill Knepp at the Extension Office at 334-2145.

Youth are reminded of the following livestock judging sessions: evaluate sheep at Blaine Bowser's residence on Dung Hill road (off route 495) near Foxtown on Monday, June 26 at 7:30 p.m., as well as the Charolois judging meeting at Owen and Harry Martin's located two miles south of Oakland on route 219, on Monday, July 10, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Muzzle - Loaders Ask Attorney General's Opinion

The Western Maryland Muzzle-Loaders Association is requesting an opinion from Attorney General Francis B. Burch on the action of the State Wildlife Administration in limiting a special deer hunting season in December to hunters using flintlock muzzle-loading rifles.

Dennis W. Tompkins, president of the association, who wrote the letter to Burch, pointed out that the other popular type of muzzle-loading arm, the percussion or cap-lock, as it is sometimes called, is being prohibited from use during this special season. He estimates about 40 percent of the muzzle-loading arms are percussion muzzle-loaders.

Tompkins contends that both Delegate DeCorsey Bolden, who introduced the bill, and State Senator Edward J. Mason, who amended it in the Senate, intended that the bill was to establish a special season for owners of all types of single-shot, muzzle-loaded black-powder firearms.

The special deer season has been set for December 7, 8 and 9. Acting Governor Blair Lee signed the bill into law effective July 1.

Tompkins wrote, "The Western Maryland Muzzle-Loaders Association feels that this restriction limiting the special season to flintlock rifles only constitutes a violation of the law as written and as intended by its sponsors in the General Assembly.

Real Estate

By DON CARSTENS
Deep Creek Realty

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS . . . NOW!

The results are in! Last year broke all records in single home construction and existing (resale) home sales. Statistics point to a record 3.9 million existing home sales for 1977 topping the old record (1972) of 3 million. New housing starts passed the 1.4 million mark, passing 1972's record of 1.3 million starts. However, there is still not an abundance of properties available as demand continues to more than keep up with supply.

One of the major reasons for the tremendous growth in the housing market has been the availability of mortgage money at a favorable interest rate. Although loan money is still available, indications are very clear that interest rates will be easing upward during the next six months. It also appears that shortages in raw materials (especially insulation) and a shorter supply of skilled workers could drive home prices up.

Real estate has always been a sound investment and the very best hedge against inflation. With all of the economic cards falling into place at this time, if there was ever a good time to buy - that time is NOW!

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices:

Data On Student Achievement Averages Released

Supervisor of Curricula

In the past several years, unfortunate political incidents have created a decline of public confidence and trust in governmental agencies at all levels. This situation, coupled with a strong national movement toward a greater respect for individual rights, has resulted in a pronounced demand of proof of government credibility for both process and product.

Educational institutions have and are being affected by these same national attitudes. The public has demanded not only more extensive involvement and representation in educational matters so as to be in a better position to review both the process and product of the intellectual development of children, but also have demanded tangible evidence of this product.

In Maryland and consequently in Garrett County, the public demand for greater "reported accountability" has resulted in the "Maryland-Garrett County Accountability Program" initiated in 1973. This program mandates State-directed assessment of students at grades 3, 5, 7, and 9, to determine both their achievement and their academic proficiency. The Garrett County Board of Education, in order to complete the sequence, requires assessment also of students in grade eleven.

Accountability is defined as the act or acts of being responsible for providing youth with an education commensurate with their potential and their needs. In order to be effective, accountability must be the responsibility of the student, the parents, the teachers, the school administration, the teachers' association, the board of education, and the local, state, and federal governments. The required interaction is represented graphically as follows:

It is with this total involvement and acceptance of responsibilities that the Garrett County Public School System has entered and is continuing its assessment and accountability program in conjunction with the Maryland State Department of Education.

The assessment instruments used are the Iowa Tests of Basic Skills, Houghton Mifflin, for grades 3, 5, 7, and 9, and the California Achievement Tests, McGraw Hill, for grade 11. These tests measure academic achievement according to national norms in the areas of vocabulary, reading, spelling, capitalization, punctuation, language usage, maps, graphs, reference skills, mathematical concepts, and mathematical problems. The Cognitive Abilities Test, Houghton Mifflin Company, is used to measure verbal, quantitive, and non-verbal intelligence. These tests are given to all students in the assigned grade levels except the exclusions allowed (certain special education students) by the Maryland State Department of Education. Tests for grades 3, 5, 7 and 9 are given in March and April. The eleventh grade test is given in late September.

The following charts represent the average score of all tested Garrett County youth in each area tested by grade by year in grade-level equivalents:

The following conclusions can be made from the existing Garrett County Accountability-Assessment data:

1. That the third grade average achievement for Garrett County is considerably above the national norm in all areas tested;
2. That the fifth grade average achievement for Garrett County is on or above the national norm in all areas tested;
3. That the seventh grade average achievement for Garrett County is approximately 5 to 10 months below the national norm in all areas tested;
4. That the ninth grade average achievement for Garrett County is approximately 10 to 15 months below the national norm in all areas tested with the exception of language usage which is 20 months below;

Data Released

5. That the average verbal intelligence of the 7th and the 9th grades is very "low-average" — 100 is considered average;
6. That the areas of greatest weakness are language usage and spelling;
7. That grades 3 and 5 are gradually improving in achievement according to these measures and the 7 and 9 grades are maintaining the status quo; and
8. That the 11th grade average achievement is on or slightly below (1 to 5 months) the national norm.

Assessment data are useless unless they are used with other data to improve educational programs for all youth — both individually and collectively. These data are being used (in Garrett County) as follows:

1. To provide useful data about students' ability and growth from childhood through maturation;
2. To identify individual student's strengths and weaknesses in learning;
3. To guide instructional procedures and methodology to meet individual needs;
4. To identify curricular areas which are in need of revision;
5. To identify instructional areas which require or demand special emphasis;
6. To provide useful data for planning more effective instructional programming;
7. To provide objective data for effective grouping, programming, and scheduling students for instructional purposes; and
8. To provide a vehicle for conveying to students, parents, teachers, and others who place legitimate demands upon the educational system for periodic and comparable measures of a student's or students' educational progress and achievement.

Local Resident Has Real Stars In Her Eyes

Judy stands next to a life-size model of Billy "Crash" Craddock in her promotional display booth to record for the camera her second place prize in the "Fanfare" booth competition. Her efforts took second place over 300 entries, an excellent reward for her first promotional booth. While in Nashville, Miss Lewis got the opportunity to meet many country and western stars, and received compliments on her promotion efforts. The mannequin was borrowed from the local H-P Stores and dressed to resemble her favorite singing star.

A local resident's very first attempt at creating a promotional booth won second place honors at the "Fanfare" display in the Nashville, Tennessee auditorium this month.

Miss Judy Lewis, Horse Shoe Run, was tied for first place for several hours with her booth promoting Billy "Crash" Craddock, featuring the theme "Crash Country." With the judges' final decision, the booth was awarded second place. This was the first time the Craddock booth had ever won a top prize in five years of contest entries.

There were over 300 booths entered for judging this year.

Judy first met Billy Craddock in 1973, and has been a loyal fan of his country music for many years. She helped arrange his performance here in May 1975. Craddock recently released a new single "I Been Lonely Too Long, Baby," which is climbing the charts.

Miss Lewis, who had never done any art or design work on such a large scale before, assembled the 8 by 20 backdrop at the Tennessee headquarters. Judging was done by members of the International Fan club organization.

Background was of black tarp, lettering was of cardboard sprayed with fluorescent paint, and stars were covered with diamond dust glitter. Black and strobe lights were used to complete the effect.

Miss Lewis, a diminuitive blonde, is a former resident of Garrett County, living here seven years, and in Horse Shoe Run for four. She attended Lincoln High School in Cleveland, Ohio, where she received her basic art training. Judy now hopes to make artwork and promotional design a full-time job.

Smiling Billy "Crash" Craddock glitters all over as he appears in real life before an audience at one of his shows. For her promotional booth, Judy Lewis used a life-size mannequin with a photograph-mask of Billy to emphasize her favorite country singing star.

Looking very pleased, Dale Morris displays the second place award the Billy "Crash" Craddock booth won during a competition in Nashville earlier this month. Mr. Morris is Billy's manager and had been sponsoring a promotional booth at the "Fanfare" competition for more than five years without a win, until Miss Lewis designed a booth.

Telephone Company Distributes New Book

What's six inches wide, nine inches long, 380 feet high and took 9300 pounds of paper to make? A stack made from C&P Telephone's new Garrett County telephone directories, which are being mailed to customers here during the next two weeks.

In fact, if the 208 pages of each of the 12,200 directories to be distributed were laid end-to-end, they would make a paper road over 360 miles long - or approximately the distance from Oakland to Indianapolis, Indiana.

But there's more to the new directories than inches and pounds. There's good advice about dollars and cents.

"We want to help all of our customers to save money on their telephone bill," said Nancy Nemith, local manager for C&P. "One of the best ways is to use the call guide in front of the white pages."

Right "up front," the call guide has rate schedules which you can use to shop for the right type of telephone service and equipment to meet your needs at the lowest cost. It also explains the best time to make long distance calls and how to save by dialing direct.

Have a problem with your telephone service or a question about your bill? The call guide gives you the numbers to call for repair or to reach your service representative at C&P's business office in Oakland.

The new directory has almost 9,500 listings in the white pages and contains about 400 more listings than last year's edition, reflecting the growth which has taken place in Garrett County in that time.

One new number is for C&P's teletypewriter service for the deaf. This service enables deaf persons with teletypewriters to call C&P's Telephone Assistance Center for Disabled People about their telephone service. The new number is 800-424-8657, which is toll-free.

Customers who have other disabilities which may affect their use of the telephone can call 800-424-8655 to discuss arrangements for telephone service to meet their needs.

"To make sure our customers have all the directories they need," Nemith added, "we've included a post card in each directory that can be mailed in to us for more copies of the directory.

LEAVE THE DRIVING TO US — Since 1948, Sharps Chevrolet, Oakland, has provided cars for the Board of Education's Drivers Education classes. The cars are leased to the Board for a nominal fee and the Board maintains and insures the cars. At the close of the school year the cars are returned to Sharps and reconditioned to be sold. The county's Drivers Education program, under the direction of Dick Travis, has been a growing success. There are now two instructors at Southern High School and one at Northern. Pictured, left to right, are Southern's driving instructor, Harry Beaulieu returning the keys of an Impala to Bill Sharps, proprietor of Sharps Chevrolet.

Special Education Teachers Invited To Seminar at GCC

Special education teachers from Garrett County will be able to participate in the World Congress on Future Special Education at the University of Stirling in Scotland, without leaving the county. A seminar will broadcast live via satellite from Europe on Thursday, June 29 at 12:30 p.m. in Room 164 of Garrett Community College.

The broadcast will highlight the World Congress of the Council of Exceptional Children and provide local special education teachers with the opportunity to exchange ideas with educators from around the world.

The possibility and means of bringing about greater cultural and social interaction among countries will be explored in a videotape presentation. Also, teachers will discuss the benefits of the Congress and explain strategies of their particular programs.

Following the videotape, the panel of special educators will present problems they are encountering in their programs and ask the congress for guidelines and possible solutions.

A question and answer period will allow local participants to direct questions and receive answers from the panelists in Scotland.

The guest panelists include: Dr. Nils-Ivar Sundberg, UNESCO headquarters, Paris, France; Father Henri Bissonnier, Research and Development Specialist, Paris; Dr. Kaoru Yamaguchi, Tokyo Kakugei University, Tokyo, Japan; Dr. Simon Haskell, Burwood State College, Burwood, Victoria, Australia; Dr. Aaron Armfield, University of Nebraska, Omaha, Nebraska; Dr. Louis Bransford, Public Service Satellite Consortium, San Diego, CA; Mr. Rusty Welch, Council of Exceptional Children, Reston, VA.

Special educators or any interested citizens may call Hilda M. Lee for additional information at Garrett County Board of Education, 334-8121, Extension 45.

There will be a $3.00 charge for attending the workshop. Senior citizens are admitted free.

PET POINTERS

by jim willis

One question often asked of veterinarians during checkups is "does my pet have any cavities?"

Generally the answer is no. The thick layer of dental enamel found in dogs and cats and the relatively small amount of decay-causing carbohydrates in their natural diets resist the development of tooth decay. A more serious dental problem for domesticated pets is the accumulation of tartar and gum problems resulting from diets of soft processed foods.

In the wild, wolves, coyotes, lions and the like feed primarily on meat, tearing it into small pieces and gnawing it from bones. In contrast, many domesticated cats and dogs eat softened bite-size pieces of processed foods. Some of these foods contain considerable amounts of sugar and starch. The pets have little opportunity for scraping their teeth clean as they eat.

When your pet eats soft foods, food particles and saliva combine through the action of bacteria to form tartar — a sticky substance which hardens and forms brownish rings around the base of the teeth. This accumulation of tartar irritates gum tissue forcing the gum away from the base of the tooth. The gum swells and bleeds easily and the tooth finally falls out. The accumulation of tartar also causes the pet to develop bad breath.

If tartar buildup is minimal, the pet can retard its accumulation by regular gnawing on a hard bone — preferably a knuckle or shin bone. A synthetic bone or rubber toy that is hard enough to scrape the surface of the teeth as the dog chews is also good. Chicken or other thin bones and soft rubber toys are of no value. If your pet is cooperative, you can use a moist cotton ball dipped in table salt to clean tooth surfaces close to the gum line.

In advanced cases of tartar buildup, professional assistance is necessary. Your veterinarian will remove all tartar, including that below the gum line, as the first phase of treatment. Teeth that are too loose to be saved will be extracted.

Your veterinarian may also prescribe antibiotics and vitamins to reduce gum infection and swelling, and apply an antispetic to the gum surface.

To prevent tooth problems from recurring, you'll have to discuss a new diet for the pet with your veterinarian. He or she may recommend a dry, hard pet food, fewer treats of soft table foods or hard chew toys. Without these changes, tartar will almost certainly return in a few months.

Sometimes tartar accumulation goes unnoticed until most of the pet's teeth are loose or missing. If this happens, your pet can continue to live a happy (although toothless) life, after your veterinarian administers the proper dental hygiene and suggests a suitable diet.

THE ARTS

by jim willis

With the advent of summer, most Garrett Countians are anxiously awaiting the opening of the Garrett County Playhouse, July 5. Newcomers to the area may not be familiar with the "Blue Barn" and its theatre productions. Therefore I am reprinting a history of the Garrett County Players by Earl Arnett of the Baltimore Sun. The article was published last season.

"Imagine a barn on Beckman's Peninsula near Deep Creek Lake, where actors from New Mexico recreate the English settings of Noel Coward's comedies of manners. Bats occasionally fly among the rafters, but the show goes on with verve and skill.

"At intermission, the locals, the 'lake people' and other assorted visitors — most from Pittsburgh and Washington — greet each other as old friends. The opening night has all the aspects of a family summer reunion; the place exudes festive familiarity.

"This is an unusual theater with little appropriate logic. By all odds, it should have folded years ago, but it still perks along after more than two decades of dedication, hard work and care. The relatively new Garrett Community College has made rumblings in theater, but this playhouse represents the only consistent theatrical outlet in the county.

"Gene and Barbara Yell began the process in 1955. They had met while both were students at the Goodman Theater in Chicago during the 1930's, eventually got married and then moved in 1948 to the University of New Mexico, where he has taught drama ever since.

"But every summer they returned to the pleasant atmosphere of Garrett County where Mrs. Yell had also summered during her girlhood in Washington. Her family owned Hemlock Hollow, which she proudly calls "the largest (60 acres) privately owned tract of virgin forest in Garrett County."

"At first, they tried to make the property a summer guest resort, but the enterprise wasn't too profitable, and they had always dreamed of creating a theater. Drama students in New Mexico used to come to him in the spring and ask where they could work, and he could never tell them Mr. Yell recalled. Finally, they organized a board of directors, found a barn near McHenry, Md. and opened a theater in July, 1955.

"The actors were students from the University of New Mexico, attracted by their teacher's offer of free board, room, laundry and cigarettes for their services. Their first show was "Blithe Spirit."

"Many of the native Garrett countians who attended that year had never seen a live play, she said. Both she and her husband were thrilled by this development. Not only were they giving student actors an opportunity to learn their craft in front of a paying audience, they were opening up the magic of theater to people isolated from urban culture.

"So the theater became a summer ritual, which has continued despite the odds. A fire destroyed their first barn in 1962, but their supporters rallied to the cause. They played in the local high school and then found their present barn, which they rent. Boats were stored in what is now the theater area, and cows were milked in their present lobby.

"Their first show here was "Seven Keys to Bald Pate," by Earl Derr Biggers (the creator of Charlie Chan), so the barn bats only added to the suspense of this antique, comedy thriller, Mrs. Yell remembered.

"Over the years, the acting company has changed and developed. Although the nucleus has always come from the university, county residents have participated in some productions. Even after they graduate, a number of the students have returned to participate in the Garrett county summer. Some have gone on to commercial success in theater; others return for the love of it.

"Milburn Mehlhop, for example, graduated from the University of New Mexico in 1969 but has returned every year to direct, write plays and act in various productions. Seven actors, graduates and undergraduates of the university, live this summer at Hemlock Hollow, where they are intense, hard working theatrical community.

"This little repertory company performs a different play every week for about two months, so the pace never slackens. The experience is not exactly a vacation. Most of the plays, which are selected by Mr. Yell, are family fare, selected from the stock repertoire. This season began with two Noel Coward one-acts and continues with five other plays through August 13. It includes a Somerset Maugham revival, "The Church," which the Yells saw last year in London, and an original by Mr. Mehlhop. The latter, who works in New York during the winter, speculated that such a theater is now a rarity, seldom found anywhere in the country.

"The players are paid salaried now, but the theater's financial structure has never been secure. Many people think that it is subsidized by the University of New Mexico or government grants, but this has never been the case, the Yells maintain. The university helped with costumes, lighting equipment and mailings in the beginning. But it has always been a private effort with some financial risk.

"Mr. Yell said that they made $7 the first year. Last year, they would have lost $1100, if a benefit dinner had not bailed them out. A similar dinner was held this month to aid in meeting the costs. Most of the money comes from ticket sales. The theater will have to pay for itself, the Yells say, because after he retires next year, they will not be able to afford any deficits.

"It seems unlikely that financial problems will seriously undermine this little theater. In addition to the energetic Yells and their friends, it has a host of community supporters. By now, they say it wouldn't be summer in this part of Maryland without the Garrett County Playhouse."

Cooking Corner

June is Dairy Month and a good time to praise those wonderful people who make it possible for us to have milk, cheese and butter — the Dairy Farmers of America. Cows won't wait to be milked just because you were out late the night before. Milk won't wait to be delivered to the processor because you're not feeling up to par. We consumers just assume that when we go to our favorite grocery store, we'll find milk in the cooler and an abundant variety of cheeses to choose from, in addition to a panorama of other dairy products throughout the store. The next time you enjoy baked potatoes with sour cream, an ice cream cone, a spoonful of tangy yogurt or any other dairy product, remember the farmers who have made these dairy products available for our use.

The following recipe is made available by Georgia Stevens Nerud, Consumer & Good Economics Specialist at the Cooperative Extension Service of the University of Maryland.

COTTAGE CHEESE SPREAD

1 cup cottage cheese
2 Tablespoons creamed butter
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon salt
1 Tablespoon catsup
1 teaspoon vinegar or lemon juice
Crackers or bread

Press cottage cheese through fine sieve. Mix cheese with creamed butter and add catsup, vinegar or lemon juice, sugar, mustard and salt. Spread on crackers or make sandwiches.

The following recipe is a very good appetizer.

HOT CHEDDAR PUFFS

½ cup cheddar cheese, shredded
1 Tablespoon parmesan cheese, grated
5 teaspoons milk
3 teaspoons butter or margarine
½ cup flour
2 eggs, beaten
¼ teaspoon mustard
salt to taste
Cooking oil for frying

Mix cheeses and set aside. In a saucepan, heat milk and butter. Slowly stir in flour. Season with salt to taste. Remove from heat and cool slightly. Add beaten eggs and blend well. Add cheese mixture and mustard. Heat cooking oil in saucepan or deep fryer to 390 degrees. Drop mixture by teaspoonfuls into hot oil and brown. Drain on paper towels and serve hot.

QUICK CHEESE RABBIT

2 cups cheddar cheese, shredded
½ cup beer
Dash of dry mustard
Dash of cayenne pepper

Put shredded cheese into a saucepan with beer. Melt cheese over LOW heat, stirring constantly. Add dry mustard and cayenne pepper. When mixture is smooth, serve over toast triangles or crackers.

NUTRITION NOTE: In order to insure proper nutrition, follow the 4-C rule for home care of milk and milk products ...(1) keep clean (2) keep covered (3) keep cold (4) consume within a reasonable period of time.

TIP OF THE WEEK: Four ounces of grated cheese equals one cup. Also, when melting cheese, use low heat because too much heat or prolonged cooking will cause cheese to become stringy or tough. Remember that when cheese is melted, it is cooked.

Review Session Scheduled At ACC

A special review session for persons planning to take the Maryland State certification examination for Cardiac Rescue Technicians (CRT's) will be conducted on June 23 and 24. The sessions will be held at Allegany Community College, Cumberland, Room S68, Science Building. The two sessions will build upon each other, and will run from 7:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. on the 23rd, and from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. on the 24th. Lee Lindsay, Baltimore City Hospital, will be conducting the review program. Both classes are opened to certified CRT's, as well as those planning on taking the certification exam in July.

These classes are being sponsored by the Maryland Institute of Emergency Medical Services and Allegany Community College. The college is currently completing a 140-hour training course for twelve CRT's. Instructors for the program are Dr. Gina Glick, Lt. James Dawson, and Calvin Tracy.

MCEA Chooses Finster Council Vice Governor

Wally Finster (Allegany County Health Department) was elected as Western Maryland Council Vice-Governor for the Maryland Classified Employees Association (MCEA) at a recent meeting at the Maplehurst Country Club on Friday evening, June 2.

Council Governor Clyde Moser (Hagerstown Correctional Complex) announced that all future Council meetings will be open to any interested MCEA member and that he will make periodic written reports to the MCEA Chapter Presidents in the Western Maryland region.

MCEA Statewide President Henry Williams reported that all candidates for the Office of Governor of the State of Maryland will be invited to speak before the MCEA State-Wide Board of Directors.

Acting Governor Blair Lee has already met with the MCEA Board of Directors. Acting Governor Lee indicated that the highest salary raise he could recommend next year for State employees would be at the most only six to seven percent.

Bill Burch is the next candidate for governor scheduled to meet with the MCEA Board of Directors.

Other candidates for governor will meet with the MCEA Board in the near future.

President Williams also announced that the status of the proposed new MCEA Headquarters building will be a topic of discussion at the next MCEA Annual Convention in Ocean City on September 27, 28 and 29.

Anna Mae Kidwell (Cumberland Queen City Chapter) reported that the Oscar "Skip" Cryer Memorial fund had raised a total of $256.25. (Any person wishing to donate to this fund may send their donations to Mrs. Anna Mae Kidwell, 220 Green Street, Westernport).

The goal of the memorial fund is to create a community parklet in Grantsville in honor of Mr. Cryer.

Over 3,000 State employees in the four (4) Western Maryland Counties were represented:

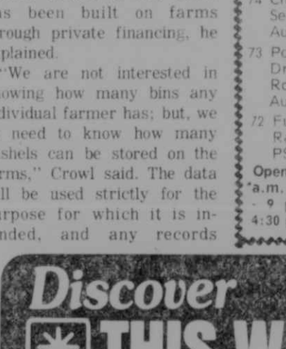
From Garrett County were Richard Towers, Robin Walters, Ethelwyn Riley, Rodney Glotfelty, and John Walters.

John Walters, MCEA Statewide third vice-president, reported on T.E.A.M., MCEA's political action arm.

The next MCEA Western Maryland Council meeting will be in Garrett County.

ASC Conducting Farm Storage Capacity Survey

Producers are currently participating in a survey which will help determine the amount of storage space on farms in Maryland. The survey is being conducted by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).



Paul A. Crowl, an official of the agency, said the information is needed to determine whether sufficient storage space is available for the 1978 harvest and also for the Grain Reserve Program.

Questionnaires requesting storage data have been mailed to all farm operators. "Many farmers have responded favorably to the request," Crowl said. ASCS loaned money to farmers to construct more than half a billion bushels of storage capacity last year. However, there is limited knowledge of how much space existed before, or how much has been built on farms through private financing, he explained.

"We are not interested in knowing how many bins any individual farmer has; but, we do need to know how many bushels can be stored on the farms," Crowl said. The data will be used strictly for the purpose for which it is intended, and any records identifying an individual farmer will be destroyed.

A large 1978 crop could place considerable pressure on storage facilities, particularly in areas where tight storage conditions existed last fall. "With this information, we will attempt to find out where the handling and storage problems could show up during harvest." Commercial facilities are being surveyed by ASCS and the Economics, Statistics and Cooperatives Service (ESCS).

YOU CAN BUY A CHEAPER MOPED, BUT YOU'LL PAY FOR IT.
If some mopeds cost less than a Puch, it's simply because they're lesser mopeds.
They don't have the hill-hungry hi-torque engine that most Puchs have.
They aren't designed as thoughtfully, or constructed as carefully, as Austrian-built Puchs are.
At a lower price, Puch couldn't offer things like a 2-speed automatic transmission, oil injection, or an automatic starting system.
Come in and see why, feature for feature, you really can't afford anything less than a Puch.

CCC "Boys" Plan Reunion July 22

Maryland veterans of the old Civilian Conservation Corps are planning a second reunion, to be held at the Gambrill State Park in July. Gambrill is eight miles from Frederick, off U.S. 40. The picnic reunion will start at 10 a.m. and continue until dark on July 22.

The "CCC" or "Three C's" was one of the most successful governmental programs begun during the "Great Depression" of the 1930's. Unemployed young men and boys were recruited by the Corps to work at forestry, soil conservation, dam and road building and similar conservation oriented tasks. The results of their efforts can be seen today in some of Maryland's State Parks, where stone and timber pavilions and other structures they built still stand.

Chile's military junta has granted amnesty to its political foes.

Two Trials Result In Suspended Sentences

Two men received suspended sentences in Circuit Court last week from Judge Fred A. Thayer, one for accessory to the fact and the other housebreaking.

Jeffrey Lynn Savage, RD 1, Oakland, pleaded guilty of amended information, accessory to the fact. The sentence of two years to the Commissioner of Correction was suspended. He was also fined $500. Savage was placed on probation for two years under supervision. Original charges of storehouse breaking and larceny were replaced by the amended charge. The incident involved occurred at the Tack Barn on U. S. 219 north of Oakland in January.

Robert Edward Sampson, Naples, Fla., pleaded guilty of daylight housebreaking and received a two-year suspended sentence. The incident involved the property and goods of Homer Bennett at Deer Park in April. Sampson was placed on probation under supervision for two years. He is to make reasonable restitution and to pay court costs. Charges of storehouse breaking and entering, grand larceny and being a rogue and vagabond were dropped.

Rescue Squads Conduct Simulated Disaster Drill At Grantsville

On June 11, a simulated disaster occurred at the Grantsville Elementary School. A gas explosion in the cafeteria triggered an explosion in the adjacent boiler-room during the evening, while parents were visiting a display on student projects. Students, parents and teachers were injured and trapped throughout the building.

Shirley Baker, Doris Beal, Dotty Folk, and Marlene Taliaferro made up the simulated wounds on 36 victims of the disaster. Some injuries were: multiple fractures, burns, exposed viscera, lacerations and heart attack. There were also some medic alert patients whose medic alert tags had to be found during the patient survey.

Participating in the simulated disaster were some 30 members of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad and a team from the Salisbury Area Ambulance Association. The drill was set up by Captain Barry Beal of the Northern Squad with the cooperation of Matthew Stieringer, principal of the school.

Maryland Wins Landmark Decision In Gasoline Case

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced this week that he is moving to implement the Retail Service Station Divestiture Law upheld by the United States Supreme Court in a landmark decision on June 14, 1978.

That law, which was proposed by Comptroller Goldstein in 1973 and enacted by the Maryland General Assembly in 1974, requires major oil companies to divest themselves of the operation, but not the ownership, of retail service stations in Maryland.

"Under the regulations established to implement the Retail Service Station Divestiture Law, the approximately 242 stations now being operated by major oil companies must revert to dealer operations within one year of the Supreme Court mandate. I expect that mandate to be received by the Maryland Court of Appeals in about 25 days. In the meantime, I am making the necessary determinations to begin implementation of the law in compliance with the Supreme Court's decision," Mr. Goldstein said.

The State Comptroller noted that the Divestiture Law assures Maryland consumers that service will continue to be available at retail gasoline stations and predicted that competition in the marketplace would continue to benefit the consumer. "This law assures consumers that there will be retail stations where they can get both major automotive repair service and normal safety maintenance checks. It also guarantees the equal availability of gasoline during any future periods of shortage, unlike the situation which arose in the winter of 1973-74," Mr. Goldstein said.

Comptroller Goldstein called the Supreme Court's decision "a great thing for Maryland and her sister states. It is a strong affirmation of a State's right to regulate industry within its borders."

Mr. Goldstein noted that he had already set down regulations which will permit a major oil company to operate a retail service station temporarily if necessary. "We don't want to disrupt the service to the consumer," he said.

Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen Meet

A recent meeting of the Allegany-Garrett Sportsmen's Association was called to order by President Charlie Emerick, with 16 persons attending and seven clubs in good standing represented. The treasurer's report, given by C. C. Pete Myers, showed a balance of $564.47, not including some additional dues from clubs received that evening.

Secretary Dennis Tompkins clarified the latest turnabout in the percussion rifle hunting privilege for deer, explaining that although the new State law calls for a muzzle-loading season, the D.N.R. has decided to still hold the season open only for flintlock rifles. He noted that his organization, the W. Md. Muzzle-Loader's Association, will ask the State's Attorney General for an opinion as to whether the D.N.R. is discriminating against percussion rifle owners, and violating the law, by providing a season only for flintlock shooters.

There was some additional discussion of the SOS program being operated by the Fisheries Department with Mr. Emerick explaining the program and its intent to save streams from pollution, and restore already polluted streams through the individual and club efforts of sportsmen.

Treasurer, Pete Myers then encouraged those in attendance to return to their own clubs and encourage their members to attend AGSA meetings in order to provide well-rounded input from area sportsmen on issues that affect everyone. He also asked various club officers to inform the Association through secretary, Dennis Tompkins, of the membership size of their clubs in order to get an accurate total of the Association's membership.

The membership voted to favor some kind of support, possibly a contribution, toward a plaque for the late "Skip" Cryer, a well-known sportsman and naturalist who is being honored through a memorial effort led by Anna May Kidwell of Westernport.

Further discussion included various points of view on letters of the Coalition on Surface Mining, with no opposition expressed against the Coalition by the members present. The D.N.R. has asked to be notified of Coalition meetings and the president accepted the responsibility of notifying them.

Vice-president, Les Crawford, commented on the forerunner of the Square Circle Club Shooters Organization and read the club's by-laws as a point of interest.

The Deer Park Sportsmen's Club volunteered to host the next AGSA meeting at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 20 at Deer Park. The meeting will include discussion on setting up a turkey farm by the DNR. Possible trapping of turkeys will also be discussed.

Assessment Answers

Q. I am a widow, under sixty, on a fixed income, and would like to know where to get the form to fill out for the new Property Tax Credit Program.

Q. I am under sixty and in the very low income bracket. At the present, I am unemployed. I would like to know where and when do I have to file. Will the form be mailed to me?

Q. I am a widow, fifty-five, mother of two school children, and living on a fixed income of Social Security. I read your column about the tax credit law for people under sixty. When this becomes law, will you let me know where I can get an application to fill out?

A. These three letters are typical of the many that have been received this week.

On Tuesday, May 2, 1978, Acting Governor Lee signed into law legislation that should provide property tax relief to an estimated 124,000 Maryland homeowners who are under sixty and another 104,000 who are over sixty or disabled. The new program will be known as the Maryland Homeowners' Tax Credit Program. The new law became effective June 1, 1978. It replaces the old law, which was commonly called the "Circuit Breaker," and which has been in operation for the past three years. The Circuit Breaker was limited to those over sixty or the totally disabled. The new Homeowners' Tax Credit Program reaches those under sixty as well.

The applications, which are now being printed for those in the under-sixty category, were available to homeowners the week beginning May 22. They are available in each of the local assessments offices in the counties and in The City. They will also be available in the public libraries and in cooperating banks throughout the state. Other distribution points may be added later.

For this year only, persons who are under sixty have been given until October 21, 1978, to file for a tax credit on property taxes that are due this year.

One of the features in the new law is that the age barrier has been eliminated, and now the basis for participating in the program depends upon the homeowner's combined gross income.

You might wish to use this table as a guide to determine whether or not it would be worthwhile to file an application for a tax credit. Opposite each income level in the example is an amount of real property taxes. If the total property taxes on your home exceed the amount shown for your income level, you may well be eligible for a credit, and you would be wise to file an application.

Combined Gross Income	Taxes Must Exceed
$ 1,000	$ 15
$ 2,000	$ 30
$ 3,000	$ 45
$ 4,000	$ 60
$ 5,000	$ 95
$ 6,000	$130
$ 8,000	$200
$10,000	$310
$12,000	$420

If you qualify, you will be entitled to a credit for the amount of your property tax that exceeds the above limits.

The maximum credit for those under sixty is $450. Your net worth — not to be confused with your income — must not exceed $200,000, excluding the value of your homesite property for which the credit is sought. Any tax credit will be calculated on the assessed value of your dwelling of $40,000, whichever is less.

I would like to have your opinion on a property tax matter which has been bothering me for some time. I live in a development split foyer just under twelve hundred square feet, with a club room on the ground floor.

I have been unsuccessful in protesting my assessment for several years. I base my protest on the fact that several ranchers in the neighborhood, which are two hundred to two hundred and fifty feet larger than my home, are assessed at considerably less or in one case just a slight amount over me. My understanding is that the state laws imply that like homes should be assessed in an equal and like manner. My problem seems to be that the assessors:

1. Consider a split foyer as a two-story home and a rancher a one-story home.
2. Two of the three comparable homes mentioned above are considered average construction while my home and one of the comparables are considered good construction.

My answer to the appeal board has been that:

1. A split foyer is not a two-story home. It is no different than a rancher that you enter in the middle. Ranchers can be built with more windows above ground and with a walk-out basement. As far as the cost of construction goes, I have had some builders tell me that split foyers can be less expensive to build than ranchers because of less expense in digging the basement.

The origin of the word "story" is that a two-story home is just that, a home that you can tell two stories on in pictures. Some homes in southern Bavaria actually have stories and nursery rhymes painted on the side of the home. A split foyer would not depict two nursery rhymes.

2. My home should not be classified as superior to the two comparables because these two homes were built by a very good and reputable builder, while mine was not. My house cannot match the quality of construction or finishing of the two homes classified as average.

Any help or advice you can provide will be appreciated. Also please do not use my name as it could cause me a problem with the assessors.

I am thanking you in advance.

Your letter raises several good points. The two troubling issues are the correct classification of a split foyer and the construction quality of your home compared to those mentioned.

First, establish beyond a doubt that the homes you are comparing yours with are, in fact, larger and do not just seem larger. One way is to verify this through your assessments office prior to your hearing. The split foyer concept in home construction is relatively new, but this type is now classified separately for assessment purposes and should be considered as such. If your home had been previously worked as a two-story home prior to the development of the new assessing category, adjustments should have been made to compensate for the differences.

A standard split foyer style differs from a standard rancher in a number of respects. Usually, there is more exposed exterior surface. There are more and larger lower-level windows, normally of the casement or double-hung variety. In a rancher, these would be regular basement windows. A split foyer will have an entrance and finished stairway leading to both levels. Normally, a rancher will have an entryway to only one level. Another distinction is that split foyers will often have an entrance on the lower level with sliding glass doors. If the ranchers have additional features, then upward adjustments for them should be made. Excavation and grading costs can be less for a split foyer but are usually not sizeable and have but minor impact upon the assessment.

The quality of construction has a bearing on the assessment and is important. Physical reviews of all residences are supposed to be made at least once in every three years with the primary purpose being to evaluate such factors as the quality of construction.

As you believe an error exists and since the only way to correct this kind of error is through physical inspection, request the assessments office to make a physical review. Or, if you are at the second appeal level, ask the appeals board to have the construction grade checked by the assessments office and bring to their attention the lower construction grade levels of the two comparables.

Questions or letters of general interest on assessments and the property tax should be addressed to 'Assessment Answers — James Burley' in care of this newspaper. They will be answered through this column to the extent that space allows.

This column was written with the co-operation of the Maryland State Department of Assessments and Taxation.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Stancey Bowers, who passed away June 24, 1976:

God took him home, it was his will; but in our hearts we love him still. His memory is as dear today, as in the hour he passed away. We often sit and think of him, when we are all alone; for memory is the only friend that grief can call its own.

Sadly missed by wife Sharon and daughters Lori,
Staci and Jamie

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to those who helped us during our recent accident. Those at the scene whom we don't know, all our friends who helped so much afterwards and a special thanks to our Southern Rescue Squad. We are sure the extent of injuries were minimized due to its fine efforts and skills in rescue and transporting. We are indeed very fortunate to have it. Again, thanks to all.

Pinewood Derby, Ceremonies Highlight Scout Picnic

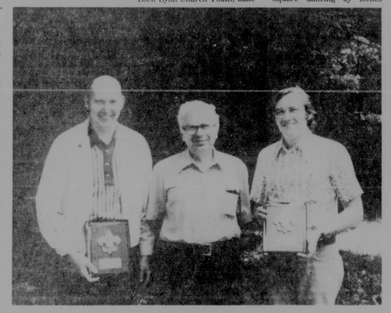
A crowd of over 300 people were on hand at the June 11th picnic of the Deep Creek District Boy Scouts of America according to Pat Fischetti, District Chairman.

Scouts and their families participated in an afternoon of games, activities, and fellowship. Highlights of the afternoon were a District Pinewood Derby and the presentation of District Appreciation Awards for service to Scouting.

The Pinewood Derby Championship attracted a field of 30 cars who were treated to a race conducted on an electronic track by Mr. Paul Johnson of Barton. After a double elimination race, the winners were: Bryant McKee, Pack 80, McHenry; 2nd place Jimmy Thomas, Pack 31, Oakland; and 3rd place Mike Stefanick, Pack 31, Oakland. The top three finishers were presented trophies for their accomplishments.

The District Achievement Award recipients this year were Leo Martin and Father Martin Feild.



Martin was active in Scouting as a youth in Mt. Lake Park. As an adult, he developed Troop 70 into a unit that produced three Eagle Scouts in one year. He is currently District Scout Leader Training Chairman.

Father Martin Feild, pastor of St. Peter's Church, was involved with Scouting in the Baltimore area. Upon his arrival in Oakland, Father Feild became the District Commissioner, which he has served as since that time.

On Saturday, June 10th, an overnite campout was held for all Boy Scouts and Webelos/Dads. Over 40 people participated in an outdoor program and an evening campfire.

Organizers of the Scouting weekend were Pat Fischetti; Chip Mosser, Cub Activities; Earl Ebert, Scout Camping; and Paul Johnson, Pinewood Derby.

The Potomac Council serves youth in Allegany and Garrett Counties in Maryland.

Make A Big Noise . . .

As we approach the 202nd birthday of our nation, it's fun to speculate just a bit on what the founding fathers would think if they were given a chance to come back and take a look at America, 1978.

Their first reaction would probably be one of real delight, just in seeing that the United States is still in existence. They must have wondered several times if what they were doing was right and if it would be upheld and improved upon by future generations. The fact that the U. S. has the highest standard of living and is the most influential nation in the world would indeed satisfy them.

They would be proud to see that the principles laid down by them have been successfully defended several times. Our military strength would astound them.

They would be pleased to see that the very basic rights, such as freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press and the right of trial by jury are still being upheld.

Scientific and technological advancement would leave them dumbfounded.

On the negative side, they would most likely be gravely concerned about the state of our economy and the magnitude of our national debt. Prices of today would literally pop their wigs clear to the ceiling.

Some would be puzzled, surprised, maybe even appalled, to see that slavery no longer exists and that members of the black race are so advanced, particularly in the areas of business and politics.

Air and water pollution would probably cause some uneasiness in their minds.

The apparent decline of patriotism and the gradual slipping-away from the Church would possibly upset them more than anything else.

In general, however, the founding fathers would be thrilled with the progress of our nation. In fact, they would probably lead the celebration next Tuesday.

Freedom is the greatest thing this country has to offer and it was made a reality on July 4, just 20 decades ago. We should all proudly wave the American flag, give thanks to God, make a big noise and join in the festivities.

Rev. Saville Is New Pastor At St. Paul's Church

Rev. L. Curtis Saville and his wife Virginia are newcomers to Garrett County, arriving here recently to serve the pastorate at St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Oakland.

Rev. Saville moved here from Logan, W. Va., where he had served the Nighbert United Methodist Church for the past five years. He will assume the pastor position vacated by Rev. George Porter, who has been transferred to the Milton United Methodist Church near Huntington, W. Va.

A native of Hampshire County, Rev. Saville received his AB degree from West Virginia Wesleyan College, and his Bachelor and Master's Sacred Theological degrees from Westminster Theological Seminary (now Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, D. C.).

He has previously served churches in Weston, Charleston, and Point Pleasant, W. Va., and was named Minister of the Year for 1978 by the Beckley District of the United Methodist Church.

His wife, the former Virginia (Dodrill) Saville, is also a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College and recently was a teacher in the Logan County school system. Their two daughters, both married last year, are Mrs. Cynthia Vance, Verdunville, and Mrs. Valerie White, Mitchell Heights, W. Va.

Rev. Saville commented that he and his wife have found the people here to be "very friendly and gracious" and are looking forward to fulfilling the needs of St. Paul's.

A flower lover, Rev. Saville brought with them 124 potted plants of all types. He enjoys golf and recently completed a grandfather clock which adorns their parsonage. His wife plays piano and sings in the church choir.

One Killed, Three Injured In Pickup Accident Friday

A 29-year-old LaVale man was killed and three other men injured when a pickup truck overturned several times on Route 495 about a half mile south of Grantsville Friday evening.

Dead is Michael Norman Hast, of Route 40, LaVale. He was thrown from the back of the truck when the accident occurred.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital in Cumberland was Jeffrey Gracie, Frostburg, driver of the truck. Treated and released at the hospital were David L. Grimes, 23, of Frostburg, a passenger in the vehicle, and Larry Dale Landis, 26, Frostburg, also a passenger in the back of the truck.

Hast was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. James Feaster, Garrett County medical examiner. Maryland State Police said the victim suffered chest and internal injuries. Mr. Hast apparently was killed when the truck rolled over on him. Members of the Northern Rescue Squad worked over him when they arrived, but to no avail.

According to state police the 1971 pickup was going south on Route 495 when it ran off the road, plunged down an embankment and overturned several times. The two men in the back were thrown from the vehicle, as was the driver.

None of those involved in the accident could account for the cause of the incident. The road was clean and dry and there were no skid or skuff marks. The group was on its way from Frostburg to Deep Creek Lake.

The driver has been charged with negligent driving. Tfc. G. D. Resh of Maryland State Police investigated.

A Christian wake service was conducted Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Leasure-Stein Funeral Home, LaVale, for Mr. Hast.

He is survived by his parents, Arthur V. and Angela (Donahue) Hast; a sister, three brothers, and his maternal grandparents, Stanley L. and Leah (Knee) Donahue, with whom he resided. He was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, a 1967 graduate of Allegany High School, a 1971 graduate of Mt. St. Mary's College, and was employed as a construction worker.

Board Approves Deadline Extension

The Maryland Board of Public Works has approved a request from the Garrett County Sanitary District to extend the deadline for payment of $13,688 the commission owes to the Water Quality Loan of 1968.

Members of the Board of Public Works are Acting Gov. Blair Lee III, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer William S. James.

NOSE DIVE — This single-engine Citabria piloted by Jim Gibson of Oakland, crashed Sunday at the Garrett County Airport. The plane was literally pulled from the air when the rope of an advertising banner he was trailing became entangled in the tall grass near the runway and the engine failed to accelerate properly. The pilot is listed in satisfactory condition at West Virginia University Medical Center, Morgantown. (See story below).

Leuschner Given Life Sentence After 1st Degree Murder Conviction

A Garrett County jury of seven women and five men Monday found Ellwood Leroy Leuschner guilty of the murder and sexual assault of a nine-year-old Salisbury boy last year.

The jury deliberated less than two hours before returning the guilty verdict around 6:30 p.m.

Judge Fred A. Thayer of the Garrett County Circuit Court imposed the mandatory life sentence on Leuschner.

The defendant was charged in the death of William Russell "Rusty" Marine, Jr., on October 29 of last year. Leuschner, who lived next door to the Marine family in the Salisbury trailer park, was charged with first degree murder, sodomy and kidnapping in Marine's death.

After sentencing, the defendant told Judge Thayer, "I just have one thing to say. I'd just like to get to some place like (Clifton T.) Perkins (Hospital Center) the rest of my life where I can be of some help to someone."

William A. Windsor, the stepfather of "Rusty" and his wife Elaine, gathered outside the courtroom after the verdict was announced and tearfully joined several friends and relatives.

Windsor broke down sobbing while testifying last Thursday. He stated then that the boy had been with Leuschner on the day of his disappearance. He also said Leuschner had come over to his trailer home several times that day saying that Rusty was angry with him for not taking him for a drive. Windsor cried when the prosecutor showed him a picture of the boy and asked him to identify him.

Betty Jean Larmore, 27, who was living with the defendant next to Windsor, also broke down and was unable to testify for several moments. She told the court that Rusty had been in their trailer with Leuschner the morning of his disappearance and had asked to go with him to pay the gas bill.

She also stated that the 45-year-old former soup factory worker had asked her to wash his clothes several times upon his return home last October 29.

Jim Gibson Hurt In Plane Crash At Local Airport

A 31-year-old Oakland man sustained injuries Sunday when the plane that he was flying crashed at the Garrett County Airport. The accident, which occured at approximately 2:30 p.m., was caused when an advertising banner being picked up by the plane became tangled in tall grass.

Jim Gibson, RD 5, is in satisfactory condition at the West Virginia University Medical Center in Morgantown with numerous facial fractues, including a fractured lower jaw which required surgery, a fractured nose and left cheekbone and a chipped vertebra.

Gibson was piloting a single-engine Citabria and attempting to pick up an advertising banner when the rope holding the banner became entangled in the tall grass along the landing strip. When the airplane's engine failed to accelerate properly after the rope became entangled, the plane crashed into the ground just off the right side of the airstrip. The landing gear of the plane was broken off as the plane skidded along the ground and eventually came to rest, nose-first into a small embankment. The right wing was broken in half and the plane was considered a near total loss.

The Deep Creek and Accident Fire Departments along with the Northern Rescue Squad were dispatched to the scene. The equipment truck of Southern Rescue Squad was also summoned, but was called back to the station before arriving at the scene. The plane did not catch fire. Gibson was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Squad and was later transferred by helicopter to the medical center.

Robert Bailey, Gibson's father-in-law and also a pilot, met with the county commissioners Monday morning to inform them of the hazard created by the high grass and a crew began to mow the grass along the airstrip that afternoon. Bailey stated that the commissioners said they would step up all maintenance action at the airport immediately.

He will remain at West Virginia University Hospital as a resident pathologist.

Grantsville Cuts Taxation Rate

At their regular meeting, June 5, the Mayor and Council of Grantsville voted to lower the tax rate to $.87 per $100 assessment. The tax rate had been $.95 per $100.

Due to the increase in assessments, the Council felt the lower tax rate was justifiable. The $.87 will be in compliance with the Constant Yield Tax Rate which the state has set for the town.

Tax bills for the town of Grantsville are expected to be mailed sometime in July.

One Arrested For Arson At Gregory Property June 12

One person has been arrested in connection with the burning of a house June 12 off Ben DeWitt Road south of Oakland.

Russell Tasker was arrested late last week and charged with arson and possession of stolen goods in connection with the destruction of the Roy Edward Gregory home. Tasker was later released on $1,500 bond pending trial.

An investigation by Robert Shimer, fire investigator for the state fire marshal's office, and local law enforcement agencies is continuing.

The unoccupied Gregory residence burned to the ground in the early morning hours of June 12 despite efforts of the Oakland fire department.

The owners, Roy and Graniella Gregory and their infant son, were visiting relatives in Italy at the time of the incident.

Commissioners Adopt Budget At Monday Meeting

The Board of County Commissioners adopted the proposed budget at Monday's meeting, dictating that property owners will pay $2.40 per $100 of assessed valuation on their property tax bills next year, plus five cents per $100 of assessed valuation for the fire department fund.

The Commissioners also levied nothing for unmined coal revenue, as part of their attempts to eliminate this type of property tax.

Although unmined coal escaped taxation, mined coal is providing a new source of tax dollars for the county — a $120,000 revenue item on the budget, provided by Garrett's six-cents-per-ton share of the state's 15-cents-per-ton tax.

The $7,880,422 budget represents a nine percent increase over last year's budget, excluding capital costs. The property tax decrease was attributed to new development in the county by county Administrator W. Marshall Rickert.

Garrett's assessment of real property increased $21,430,558, about half of which is due to new development in the county. The budget reflects no other major new source of revenue.

The largest single expenditure for the county taxpayer will go to the Garrett County Board of Education, which will receive $3.9 million and action is expected by that board at a special meeting Thursday night to determine how the money will be spent.

The commissioners have also allocated $150,000 for building programs. Approximately $60,000 will go to an addition at the animal shelter for a veterinarian technician program through Garrett Community College.

The remaining $110,000 is earmarked for the Court House renovation and annex project now under construction. The commissioners anticipate selling seven acres of land sometime this budget year to generate the $110,000 necessary to fund the local share of the courthouse project.

Major increases in the county budget in addition to the $400,000 to the Board of Education include $20,000 more to the Board of Elections because this is an election year, and another $20,000 for government services which are contracted.

The commissioners budgeted salaries at the rate prescribed by law for elected officials and included as county employes some former CETA employes, particularly for maintenance.

Man Given Charge Of Manslaughter By Automobile

Terrance M. Alexander, 32, of Star Route, Frostburg, in Garrett County, was ordered committed to the county jail in Allegany County Thursday pending trial on a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

District Court Judge Miller Bowen conducted the bond hearing and jailed Alexander in default of $1,000 bond.

Alexander is charged in connection with the death of Ralph Frank Tilgner of Deep Creek Road, McHenry, March 2, 1977. Mrs. Tilgner was seriously injured in the accident which occurred about 8:30 p.m. on U. S. Route 40 at Keyser Ridge six miles west of Grantsville.

State Police said at the time Alexander lost control of his car, which went across the center line and struck the Tilgner vehicle head on.

Alexander was charged by state police in Garrett County and was arrested Wednesday night by state police in Allegany county.

Elderly Housing Complex Proposed

A housing complex for the elderly to be built in Accident is in an early planning stage by interested persons in the community, according to Mrs. Mabel Kahl, Accident.

If built, the Accident Community Housing Corporation would house senior citizens 62 years and older who had been living alone and were finding it difficult to keep up a house. In addition, the complex would give a healthy elderly person a place to live as opposed to a resident in a nursing home or with his family. "Instead of living with their families, elderly people would often rather live with those their own age," stated Mrs. Kahl.

The complex would be built to contain eight to 25 apartments depending on the number of those interested in occupying them. Each apartment would contain a kitchen, living room, bedroom and bathroom with laundry facilities and a community room in the complex.

Currently a steering committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Aza Stanton, Deep Creek Lake, Debbie Lawton, of the Garrett County Housing Committee, Rev. William Carlson, Rev. Fred Illick, Carlton Sisler and Richard Kolb, all of Accident, is looking for a building site in the Accident area. "Accident is a natural community for such a thing," said Tom Jones of the Garrett County Development Corporation, "since the town has the water and sewerage facilities as well as community services needed for such a complex."

Attorney James Sherbin, Oakland, will be representing the group in drawing up the necessary legal documents.

According to Mrs. Kahl, the group will be submitting an application to the Department of Agriculture's Rural Rental Housing program but it is not known at this time if the complex will be funded by the program.

A questionnaire will be sent out in the Accident area to determine the number of those interested in occupying the facility. The next meeting to discuss further developments is tentatively scheduled for July 10 at 7:00 in the Accident Fire Hall. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The only substantial drop from the county budget is a $22,000 item for indigent patients in state-maintained hospitals. The state this year picked up the full cost for those patients with no local contributions.

For the fourth year in a row, the commissioners designated $15,000 for their business expenses.

Heavy Storms Knock Out Power Lines In Area

Heavy thunder and wind storms knocked out some power lines and dumped over an inch of rain on the area last night. There was also a series of heavy thunder storms Monday night.

Several powerlines, that were out last night, were restored early today, by PE Company employes working through the night. The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department was called out several times to check on some 'hot' transformers and downed power lines. Last night's storm dumped 1.33 inches of rain on the area. The previous night's storms soaked the area with 1.04 inches of rain. Yesterday was very hot and humid until the storms broke, beginning about 6 p.m.

Last Wednesday was cloudy with showers in the afternoon and Thunder storms during the night. Thursday was variably cloudy becoming clear late in the day. Friday was clear all day. Saturday was variably cloudy followed by much fog Sunday morning. Sunday remained fair and hazy after the morning fog cleared. Monday was overcast until the storms broke. This morning skies were cloudy until mid-morning when the clouds broke and the sun appeared. Rainfall for the week totaled 3.09 inches with the month so far being 4.93 inches, slightly above normal.

In spite of temperatures in the 80s the past three days, the week averaged 1.5 degrees below normal. Highs averaged 78 degrees or 1.1 below normal. Yesterday's 86 degrees is the high so far this year. It was 80 Sunday and 82 Monday. Lows averaged 52 degrees or 1.8 below normal. A 43-degree reading Friday, Saturday and Sunday kept the temperature below normal in spite of a 62-degree reading yesterday and 61 this morning.

Summer arrived last Wednesday at 2:18 in the afternoon with a 76-degree reading and light showers.

Fireworks Illegal In State, Except By Special Permit

Dr. Neil Solomon, Maryland Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene and James C. Robertson, Maryland Fire Marshal, today warned that the use of fireworks is not only highly dangerous but also illegal in Maryland, except where a permit has been issued by the State Fire Marshal's Office.

Dr. Solomon noted that despite patriotic symbolism associated with setting off fireworks over the Fourth of July, they present a very serious safety hazard, particularly for children. He said that deaths, blindings, amputations and severe burns have been all too often the result of Fourth of July celebrations. Dr. Solomon reported that there were more than 7,500 injuries nationwide caused by fireworks in 1977.

Mr. Robertson cautioned that even sparklers, which are illegal in Baltimore City and Montgomery and Prince George's counties, burn at very high temperatures and can easily ignite clothing. He said that under no circumstances should young children be allowed to play with sparklers, for they are unaware of the potential danger involved in their use, and are not able to act correctly in case of an emergency. Mr. Robertson warned that the Maryland General Assembly, at its last session, made illegal in Maryland the purchase of a popular new fireworks item called "Snap and Pop" or "Whippersnapper." These are small but dangerous explosive pellets.

"Trout Unlimited" Unhappy With Lake Sewage Plan

Fishermen and environmentalists around the state are registering their concern about the trout which inhabit the Youghiogheny River in western Maryland. Source of the worry is a permit which covers the Deep Creek sewage treatment plant.

The facility would be allowed to dump 600,000 gallons a day of treated, chlorinated waste water into Deep Creek which runs into the Youghiogheny — one of the best natural trout streams in the area, and it is feared the chlorine will kill the trout.

"If our natural trout waters in Maryland and other Appalachian states are to be protected from the many sewage treatment plants that are going to be built in the next five years, we must set a precedent against chlorinated discharges now," said Jim Gracie, leader of the fight for Trout Unlimited.

The State Water Administration has issued a temporary permit for the plant, but scheduled a hearing on the makeup of the permit at Garrett Community College in McHenry.

Peter S. Tinsley, chief of the administration's municipal and agricultural wastes section, said in a letter accompanying the preliminary permit:

"The administration cannot guarantee that all risk to trout species is eliminated by the effluent limitations set forth by the discharge permit for the Deep Creek facility.

Trout Unlimited has charged the need for the plant has never been determined.

In addition, it said the state's strict limit of .02 milligrams of chlorine per liter of discharge is still too high. Trout can detect even the smallest amount of chlorine and will leave the stream or die.

"We agree with Maryland Fisheries. The amount of chlorine should be zero," Gracie said.

July 1 Proclaimed International Free Enterprise Day By Mayor

Oakland's Mayor, H. D. Swartzentruber, signed a proclamation Monday declaring the first day of July as International Free Enterprise Day in Garrett County. This action, which was initiated locally by Garrett County Young Americans for Freedom (YAF), was in conjunction with a movement by many diverse organizations in the U.S., Canada and Great Britain to promote the importance of economic freedom to the nations of the "Free World." Pictured with the mayor is Elwood "Larry" Groves of Mt. Lake Park, executive director of Garrett County YAF.

The proclamation stated, "Whereas friends of free enterprise at home and abroad, recognizing that economic freedom in the market place is essential to political freedom and personal liberty; and, Whereas free enterprise has been a major factor in the progress of our great nation and in the prosperity and abundance enjoyed by our citizens; and, Whereas free enterprise has been acknowledged by peoples throughout the world as the economic system which creates material wealth and abundance, while preserving the freedom of the people from oppression by the State; and, Whereas the forces of socialism and communism understand that their own economic systems cannot fairly compete with the free market, and that they must therefore seek to destroy it. Now, therefore, recognizing that July 1, 1978, has been designated International Free Enterprise Day in observation of the significance of the free enterprise system in the lives of a free people; I, H. D. Swartzentruber, Mayor of Oakland, urge all citizens to observe this day in recognition of the importance of free enterprise in our community and our nation."

Young Americans for Freedom, the nation's largest conservative youth organization, is comprised of concerned citizens under 40 years of age who are working to find solutions to the nation's problems that are compatible with the free enterprise system and limited federal government as intended by the U.S. Constitution. YAF has been active in this area since 1973 and now has over sixty members in two chapters operating in Garrett County.

Girl Is Satisfactory After Riding Mishap

Cathy Huffman, 20, remains a patient in the intensive care unit at West Virginia University Medical Center after a horseback riding mishap Sunday on the family farm near Table Rock.

Miss Huffman and a brother, children of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Huffman, were riding their horses when the girl's horse apparently fell on her.

Miss Huffman is presently making satisfactory progress following an operation to repair her liver. She also sustained a broken arm. She was transported first to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment, and later transferred to Morgantown.

PLANE PIECES — Pictured is a piece of the landing gear of a single-engine airplane which crashed at the Garrett County Airport Sunday afternoon. Jim Gibson, of Oakland, the pilot of the plane, remains a patient at the West Virginia University Medical Center in Morgantown having suffered several facial fractures. He is listed in satisfactory condition. The crash occurred after the rope of an advertising banner being picked up by the plane became entangled in tall grass along the airstrip. See story on front page.

American Burger To Open In July

A grand opening is expected the second week in July for a fast-food restaurant under construction just east of Mt. Lake Park on Route 135. Richard Williams and his wife will be owner-managers of American Burger Center, located next to Tressler's Suzuki Country.

A prefabricated building will arrive next week and finish work can be completed in ten days.

Groundwork began several weeks ago, with 350 truck loads of fill dirt hauled and leveled. Work is progressing this week on the parking area, which will be blacktopped. The property was purchased from Willis Shaffer.

The restaurant, part of a mid-west franchise chain, will offer, in addition to regular hamburgers, a half-pound burger, chicken, barbecued ribs, soft ice cream and soft drinks.

Mr. Williams and his wife, the former Rebecca Shaffer, live at Green Glade.

Letters to the Editor

REMINDER — Unsigned letters to the editor will NOT be printed under any circumstances. Letters exceeding 300 words will also not be printed.

Dear Sir:

I read with great interest the letter by Edd Doerr in last week's paper concerning tax tuition credit for non-public schools. At one time I would have sided with him 100%, but no more. I should like to give a few reasons as to why I changed my mind.

The things I will say are not meant to be an attack on teachers, administrators and schools; but rather an evaluation of the public schools in general. Discipline is lacking; prayer and Bible reading are out; promiscuity, pornography, drugs and smoking rooms are in. America and the Free Enterprise system is degraded and made fun of in many text books; while socialism and bureaucratic governments are extolled.

For the last ten years, the standards of testing have been lowered in order to qualify a certain number of students, pacify the government bureaucracy and deceive parents. Today many High School graduates cannot read on a Sixth Grade level and some even lower.

The tax credit plan is not a massive federal aid bill at all. As it stands now, we who have our children in private schools are made to pay for the public schools, as well as for our private schools. All this bill would do is allow parents who have children in a private school to subtract X number of dollars from their income tax before they make payment to the government. What could be more fair than that?

I do not want Mr. Doerr to pay for educating my children; why should he want me to pay for his? Our private school has continually refused local, state or federal aid of any kind and always will. But we should certainly be able to use our own money and not be forced to pay for two schools systems.

Sincerely,
Rev. W. H. Leake

Dear Sir:

Who does Mr. Edd Doerr think he's kidding? The Tax Credit Plan is not "massive federal aid" as he claims and please tell me what part of the Constitution it would violate? Aren't we supposed to have freedom of association; why can't we use our own money to educate our child with our value system rather than the humanistic value system of the public schools of today? What does he mean the public school would receive nothing from this bill? Isn't he aware that the public schools are already supported totally by the government? It costs over $2000 per year per student for public education. The private school where our daughter attends charges $550 for the first child, $450 for second, $350 for third, etc. And the families that make up our school are certainly not, on the whole, affluent, but rather average wage earners.

If the public schools had not changed so much from what they were when we went to school, the Christian School movement would not be what it is today. He talks about private schools undermining our basic values. Sir, it is the public schools that are guilty of that. Telling us how great the public schools are and then what we must do to defend them and force all students to attend same is tantamount to the Communists telling us how great socialism is, then building massive walls, mine fields and armed guards to keep people in.

We feel a Voucher Plan where each child would be given so much to be used at the school of his or her choice would make for better education. Each school would produce quality students or else.

Sincerely,
Kenneth M. Kenner
Jacqueline Kenner

Dear Sir:

I read with disgust Hubert Friend's letter last week. Mr. Friend's allegations were tantamount to calling our firm the Garrett County parasite. He'd have the people of Garrett County believing they donated "land and factory" to us. Let me state the facts for Mr. Friend and his group, if by chance they want to be bothered by the truth.

American H. V. Test Systems, Inc., pays the Garrett County Development Corporation $2,236.72 per month according to a lease-purchase agreement. They in turn meet their mortgage payment obligations to the Garrett National and First National Banks from this payment. We've paid this $2,236.72 since early in 1976 and will continue for another 18 years.

While some manufacturers in Garrett County do not pay real estate and personal property taxes, our company does. This year, 1977-78, we will pay in excess of $263.35 in State of Maryland real estate taxes, $3,011.35 in Garrett County real estate taxes, $858.75 in Town of Accident real estate taxes, $125.11 in State of Maryland personal property taxes, and $1,169.04 in Garrett County personal property taxes.

As for Mr. Friend's real estate appraising abilities, I can only assume he is confusing the construction cost of an industrial building with what it costs to erect a pole barn in the 1930's. One does not purchase ten acres of land within the town of Accident, construct a 12,500 square-foot industrial building, including 2,500 square feet of finished office space, and pay for utility service extensions for the trifling figure Mr. Friend indicated.

In fact, I challenge Mr. Friend to duplicate our facility on the ten acres in front of our plant for the figure he indicated. American H. V. Test Systems, Inc. will be happy to move forward with its future plans of expansion at the Central Garrett Industrial Park.

Sincerely yours,
Keith R. Reed, President
American H. V.
Test Systems, Inc.

Dear Sir:

I am writing this letter as a Garrett Countian and taxpayer, not as an employe of American H. V. Test Systems.

The letter from Mr. Friend in last week's issue was grossly erroneous and should not have been printed. I believe that Mr. Friend and his so-called taxpayers group are misusing your column to gain attention and cause turmoil.

He had demonstrated in the past his ability to change facts and cause false statements to be issued in the name of Garrett County taxpayers. I do not endorse Mr. Friend or his small group and believe that most Garrett Countians do not. I suggest that Mr. Friend publish a written apology to the Garrett County taxpayers, Garrett County Development Corporation, and to Mr. Keith Reed, president of American H. V. Test Systems. I also suggest to Mr. Friend that prior to release of any future statements that he take the time to research his information.

Sincerely,
Richard L. Cropp

Dear Editor:

There is a need for safe, reasonable housing in Garrett County. We feel one solution would be for elderly people with ample living space to sublet or rent a room to tenants. In Garrett County there are a number of elderly residents who have more room than they can care for. Tenants renting from the elderly can share the expenses and chores. If we can get people to respond to the subletting concept it will serve a dual purpose.

I urge anyone interested in including their empty rooms on the rental list kept by the Garrett County Community Action Committee to contact me. I can be reached by calling the Community Action Committee at 334-9431, or by visiting the office at 360 West Liberty Street, Oakland, Maryland.

Sincerely,
James Ford
Housing Worker

Dear Mr. Editor:

It is so surprising to occasionally discover that a young native Garrett Countian, visiting the farm, is uncomfortable in the mountains. They are repelled by cobwebs, ants, bees and the like.

How can this be?

I can only fault their dad who did not take his time and trouble to walk his children through the woods and demonstrate the basics of nature. These parents seem content to allow Bugs Bunny and Bambi teach a nature course which is untrue.

Come on Dad, it is summertime. Let's get on the ball, take that child for an afternoon in the woods, with no purpose in mind except to introduce the child to the reality of nature. It costs nothing but your time. It will surely cause an increase, not only in your child's love but also my respect for you.

Sincerely,
Pine Nut

Leuschner Given

torney who prosecuted the case, asked each of the witnesses he called to the stand Thursday, whether they had noticed the defendant talking to imaginary beings or been told by him that he heard voices. Each said they had not.

Then Patrick L. Rogan, Jr., the public defender representing Leuschner, received testimony from the defendant's former girlfriend and a nephew that said he had frequently complained of severe headaches. Ms. Larmore commented, "He would sit like he was just thinking . . . like he had a lot on his mind."

Leuschner, who entered a not guilty by reason of insanity plea at the onset of the trial, declined to testify in his own defense. His lawyers proposed that the defendant was suffering from a mental disorder that caused him to hear voices at the time of the murder.

Earlier this week, the defense called John M. Henderson, a Baltimore psychiatrist to testify about psychiatric evaluations he had made of the defendant on two occasions at the public defender's request.

Henderson testified Monday that Leuschner suffers from a mental disorder that gives him a multiple personality. The defendant's psychiatric problems were caused by his father who had sexually molested his sister for eight years, was an alcoholic, frequently beat him and accused him of being illegitimate. The public defender said Leuschner had been placed in an orphanage before he was 10 years old, where he was seduced by the house father.

Sergeant Raymond F. Leard of the State Police Investigation Assistance Unit in Pikesville spent time with the defendant undercover in the Wicomico County Jail two days after the killing. In a conversation, the defendant told him, "the Marine boy was stabbed because they (the Army) taught me how to use a bayonet."

Henderson then outlined Leuschner's attempts to quell his "bad personality" and to steer away from homosexual activity and sexual deviancy. Under cross examination by Richard D. Warren, the Wicomico County state's attorney, the doctor admitted it was possible for a patient to fool a psychiatrist and that the defendant, after the murder, had written his sister asking her to obtain material on schizophrenia for him.

Warren countered that Leuschner was well aware of the criminality of his act at the time the Marine boy was sexually assaulted and stabbed numerous times with a long-bladed Bowie knife, which he then hid under the floormat of Ms. Larmore's Camaro.

In the closing arguments yesterday, Warren termed the murder "premeditated" and "calculated," and instead of obeying the law the defendant chose to pick on "women and helpless children." He then went on to call the defendant a "back-stabbing homosexual child killer."

Warren argued that Leuschner was sane enough to drive the Marine youth to an isolated area where they would not be discovered, and after the attack, not only attempted to hide the body, but returned home to the trailer park to develop an alibi.

The body of the Marine youth had been buried on a farm owned by Leuschner's sister and brother-in-law. Much of the evidence introduced in the case was found in the area of the grave and a deer stand constructed by the defendant and his nephew while he lived on the farm at one time.

Recalling Larmore's testimony, Warren stated that after the killing Leuschner was capable of going to play bingo and concentrating on six cards at a time to win $100.

The state's attorney also noted that persons closest to Leuschner had testified he was a good, hard worker who had never exhibited any unusual behavior.

Leonard C. Redmond, III, who also worked on the Leuschner defense, said prior to the jury's deliberation that the Henderson testimony should be adequate for the jury to find some doubt.

Robert E. Proudfoot, jury foreman, commented after the ruling that it was not an easy decision. He said, "I don't think something like this is ever easy. I considered this my civic duty, but it was one of the hardest things I've ever had to do."

Judge Thayer commented on his sentencing of the defendant, saying, "There was no consideration for parole or suspension of any kind as far as I was concerned." He further explained that the defendant would be eligible for parole consideration in 15 years, but that wouldn't mean he would necessarily be eligible for parole.

Leuschner, who is also a California fugitive, will now stand trial for the charges of first degree murder, sodomy and kidnapping in the death of Troy Krause, 10, who disappeared June 2, 1977, and whose body was found November 3, buried on a farm 10 miles northwest of Salisbury. The youth's body was discovered near that of the Marine boy.

Judge Thayer, after presiding over the first trial, said he had told attorneys in the case to file motions regarding a possible second trial "at their convenience." He recommended that they return to the calmer atmosphere of Salisbury and reflect on when the trial, which is also scheduled for Garrett County Circuit Court, should be held.

Leuschner also has three previous rape convictions in California and was originally arrested by Maryland State Police on a California fugitive warrant, issued when he violated parole in Sacramento.

YOU CAN BUY A CHEAPER MOPED, BUT YOU'LL PAY FOR IT.

If some mopeds cost less than a Puch, it's simply because they're lesser mopeds.
They don't have the hill-hungry hi-torque engine that most Puchs have.
They aren't designed as thoughtfully, or constructed as carefully, as Austrian-built Puchs are.
At a lower price, Puch couldn't offer things like a 2-speed automatic transmission, oil injection, or an automatic starting system.

Melhop, a veteran director, playwright, and actor, stated that the first production will feature three actors from New York, one local actress, Betty Snyder, and the remainder of the cast will hail from New Mexico. The cast will rehearse through Saturday and the play will open next Wednesday evening at 8:30 p.m., in the Blue Barn at Deep Creek Lake. The Garrett County Playhouse will kick-off the new season with a gala affair at Will o' the Wisp on Monday evening.

Discussing Visa and Master Charge services with Mr. Hanley is Ben Ridder, Director of Marketing for the First National Bank of Oakland.

Ed Hanley doesn't always have time to come to the bank, so we go to him!

Running a modern, full-line hardware store like Manor Home Center in Mt. Lake Park is a challenging job for Ed Hanley. But, he doesn't have a lot of spare time, especially during the busy summer season. Ed believes he should give his customers the best service possible . . . and we agree!

So, when Ed can't come to the bank to discuss financial services, we go talk to him . . . at his convenience.

We think sound financial advice and modern banking services are vital to our commercial customers' growth . . . and to the growth of our local economy. That's why we go out of our way to make banking with us as convenient as possible.

If you can think of some financial services you'd like to know more about; or if you'd enjoy talking about banking in general, just call and arrange to meet with one of your financial friends at First National. We'll be glad to talk with you at your convenience - your place or ours!

People serving people - that's the way it is at . . .

By Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with the citizens of Central and Western Maryland. You may send your questions to me, in care of the U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I will answer each of you who writes. The following questions are typical of those asked of me in recent weeks:

Congress recently considered their first budget resolution, setting budget targets and guidelines. What was your vote?

I feel very strongly that both Congress and the President should make more progress towards a balanced Federal budget. I therefore voted against the final version of the budget resolution, which passed by the very narrow margin of 201 to 197. The fact that the vote was so close — as were many of the votes on amendments I supported to cut the budget — reflects widespread concern in the country, and in Congress, over the continued inability to make significant progress in reducing the Federal deficit which stands at a staggering $750 billion. Because of this lack of progress, I will continue to press for legislation I have introduced to require the Federal government to balance its budget — except in times of national emergency.

I understand you have contracted a Congressional Committee concerning the ability of Senior Citizens to pay rising utility bills? Please explain.

I have presented several hundred letters from Central & Western Maryland retirees to the Select Committee on Aging which is currently holding hearings on the effects of energy costs on older Americans. The letters are in response to my recent appeal to area senior citizens in which I requested grass-roots suggestions on ways the government can assist in easing the financial strain of paying high utility bills. Anti-inflation programs, tax credits and senior citizen discounts were among the recommended ideas and I hope the outpouring of opinions will lead to remedial legislation to aid the elderly. There is little doubt retired individuals living on a fixed income cannot absorb higher fuel costs, they have less savings to make necessary home improvements, and are generally more vulnerable to the rising utility rate squeeze. Although energy conservation is a goal toward which we all must strive, we have to make a special effort to maintain the older person's environment safe for his or her minimum physical needs.

Can you please explain Medicare to me?

To help you understand the Medicare program, the Social Security Administration has published a pamphlet called, "A Brief Explanation of Medicare." For your free copy, write Consumer Information Center, Department 685F, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

How did you vote on the $2 billion New York City fiscal assistance act?

I opposed this bill just as I had opposed the original legislation providing special assistance to New York in 1975. I felt that the bill in 1975 providing the original federal loans for New York City established a bad precedent and the new legislation continued the unfortunate practice of the federal government bailing-out a local government which has not practiced responsible fiscal management in the past. There has been a lot of publicity given to the fact that per capita municipal spending in New York City is nearly 50 percent higher than spending in the average American city, and I don't want other large cities to believe that if they have a similar unsound fiscal posture that the federal government and taxpayers will provide special loans.

How do I obtain a Golden Age Passport?

The Golden Age Passport is a lifetime permit which allows citizens 62 years of age or older free entrance into our national parks, monuments and recreation areas. The passport also provides fifty percent discounts on Federal "use" fees charged for facilities and services within the Federal areas, such as camping fees. For further information you may write Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of the Interior South, Washington, D. C. 20240.

What are you doing to curb Federal spending?

I have always believed that Congress must exercise fiscal restraint in order to reduce the budget deficit. In this regard, I have sponsored legislation to require that the Federal government balance its budget, except in times of national emergency. I have also consistently opposed spending tax money for foreign aid and have introduced legislation in Congress to require that all bills proposing government regulations must contain an estimate of the direct and indirect costs of complying with the bill.

Is it possible for miners to receive benefits for partial disability due to Black Lung?

No. The law restricts benefits to miners who are totally disabled from Black Lung disease. However, dependent survivors may now be entitled to Black Lung benefits if the miner died on or before March 1, 1978, and worked at least 25 years in the coal mines prior to June 30, 1971. The miner's dependent survivors must supply the Department of Labor with whatever medical evidence is available.

What is the maximum FHA insured mortgage amount for houses?

The Department of Housing and Urban Development has increased the maximum FHA insured mortgage amount for one-family residences from $45,000 to $60,000 and has also reduced the amount for down payment.

4-H Members To Go To Nebraska

The Garrett County 4-H program is sponsoring a trip to five Northeast Nebraska counties from July 12 to 23. Twenty-one 4-H members from Garrett County and three from Allegany County, in addition to three adults from Garrett will be spending six days with host families in Nebraska and becoming familiar with their state and 4-H program.

This trip is Garrett County's response to the visit made by Nebraska 4-H'ers during their 1976 visit to the National 4-H Center near Washington, and their resulting stay with host families in the Garrett County area.

As part of the trip, the 4-H'ers will visit St. Louis, Chicago, and Cedar Point Amusement Park. In Nebraska, they will be the guests of county 4-H families who will treat them as family members and let them discover what life in Nebraska is like.

To fund the trip, the Garrett 4-H Extension service has been coordinating numerous projects and fund raising activities with the 4-H'ers. Presently, Garrett County T-shirts and sweat shirts are being sold to help defray the costs of the trip. Shirts can be obtained by contacting the Extension office in Oakland or participating 4-H'ers.

Goat Club Travels To Allegany County

The Garrett County 4-H Dairy Goat Club traveled to Allegany County on Friday, June 16, as guests of the Cumberland Valley 4-H Dairy Goat Club. The event was a 4-H workshop and field-day held at Burk-Heits, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burkle and their large herd of purebred Toggenburg goats. The Cumberland Valley leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Skip DeLaney and the club members served lunch to the Garrett County group before the workshop started.

A slide presentation was given on kidding, showing an actual birth of twins in progress. Members of the Cumberland Club then gave talks on many subjects and answered questions. Some of the subjects presented were: feeding the young kid; clipping and trimming a goat for show; trimming hoofs; history of the Toggenburg breed; the parts of a goat and milking a goat the proper way. The group then went outside and the Cumberland Club, using some of Burkle's goats, had a goat showing complete with judge. The group was told how to hold the goats in the correct judging position, where to stand in relation to the judge and how to switch positions gracefully. The goats were then turned over to the Garrett County group to experience showing and receive pointers from the Cumberland Valley club leaders and members.

A tour of the Burkles' dairy barn, milking room, buck and kid barns completed the day and the group arrived back in Garrett County about 6 that evening.

Attending the field day from Garrett County were members: Tom DeBerry, Jill Margroff, Tina Kepple, Louise Gay, DiAna and Heather Savage, Robyn Hutzel; leaders: Howard and Bernice Kepple, Mrs. Susan Glotfelty and Mrs. Everett DeBerry and guests: Mrs. Sally Marc, veterinary assistant to Dr. James Fearer of Pineview Veterinary Hospital, Shane Kibby, Tim and Mike Kepple and Rebecca DeBerry.

The club held its regular meeting on June 20 with members Jill Margroff, Tina Kepple, Tom DeBerry and Louise Gay present. New business included planning a bake sale, requirements for the posters which members must make and turn in before the fair, and plans for a combination work day and picnic.

This work day picnic will be held at Kepples on July 15 and members are asked to bring their goats and any equipment needed to groom them, a covered dish and place setting. Drinks will be provided. The work day will begin at 10 a.m. and last through out the afternoon. All members who plan to exhibit goats at the fair are urged to attend this event.

Steve Liller New Garrett Recruit

Garrett County Community College's new basketball coach, Pat Walsh, signed former Southern High School basketball star, Steve Liller last week. Steve is one of many local players coming to Garrett this season. Coach Walsh is in the process of concluding an accelerated recruiting drive and stated that his hopes were to continue GCC's impressive record.

Southern High School standout Steve Liller recently became the first recruit of Garrett Community College's new basketball coach, Patrick Walsh. Liller was voted "Player of the Year" in the Cumberland area and was named by Basketball Weekly as an All-State Selection. He was the only Western Maryland player so honored.

Liller, a three-year starter at Southern, rewrote his school's scoring records for most points in a season, in a career, and in a single game. He scored 623 points in 24 games for a 25.9 average to break the record of 597 held by Ken Niner.

Liller scored 1270 points from 1975 to 1978, breaking a record held by his brother, Kevin, a former star at GCC. His high game of 47 against Elk Garden broke a 23-year old record for most points in a game.

The overall statistics compiled by Liller during the 1977-78 season are impressive. Steve shot 54.4 percent from the field and 75.3 percent from the free throw line. He grabbed 12.4 rebounds per game and led his team in steals.

As the area's top athlete Liller was also outstanding in the classroom. He was an Honor Roll student every year and was recently awarded the History Award at Southern. Liller plans on majoring in Business Administration at GCC.

Liller will join returnees, Ken Niner and Ric Phillips to give Garrett Community College one of the strongest front lines in the community college ranks.

Liller is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Gene Liller of Oakland.

Northern Girls End Win Streak

After a six-game winning streak, the Northern Girls' softball team suffered its first loss to Cresaptown 7-4 Friday at Northern.

Linda Wengerd tripled in the first inning with two girls on base to drive in the Garrett County team's first three runs. The Northern team rallied for an additional run again in the sixth.

Carol Wengerd, with one walk and seven hits, was the losing pitcher, while Kelly McKenzie was slated with the win.

Cresaptown scored two runs in the second, added three in the fifth, and scored once in the sixth and seventh innings.

Monday's action against Barton was rained out in the fourth inning. The girls take on Keyser Thursday and host Lonaconing July 3.

In Pen Mar League action Sunday, Island Creek gained a tie for first place with Romney in the Southern Division after taking two games from Hyndman 3-1 and 8-4.

Island Creek's two runs in the sixth broke a 1-1 knot against Hyndman in the opener and in the nightcap John Cumberworth and Wayne Skidmore slammed homers as Chuck Snyder won the contest.

Grantsville Bows To Fort Cumberland 9-7

Grantsville Post 214 bowed to unbeaten Fort Cumberland Post 13, 9-7 Saturday in spite of a late inning rally by the Garrett Countians who fell behind 7-0 in the early part of the game.

Grantsville was blanked by Fort Cumberland's Kevin Carcella in the first five innings until a run was produced in the sixth on two errors and a single by Kenny Marks.

Tim Cosner walked four men in the first to produce a run for Fort Cumberland and an error allowed two more runners to cross the plate for a 3-0 lead. A walk to Poland, a single by Cunningham and a sacrifice fly by Day made it 4-0 in the second. A single by Eirich, walks to Holshey and Poland and three straight wild pitches accounted for the three Fort Cumberland runs in the third.

Carcella doubled home a run after singles by Carr and Rapp in the seventh and Eirich slammed another double to send home Rapp for Fort Cumberland's final run.

Grantsville scored twice in the eighth on singles by Marks and Allen Sweitzer and a double by Tom Cuppett. Marks, who had four hits in the game, rapped a bases-loaded triple in the four-run ninth.

Cosner, who was relieved by Jeff Colaw in the third, was tagged with the loss.

Post 214 Victorious, Snaps Losing Streak

Grantsville American Legion Post 214 snapped a 14-game losing streak by defeating Westernport 11-4 behind the three-hit relief pitching of Joe DiSimone and run-producing doubles by Ed Wildesen.

DiSimone pitched five and two-thirds innings, giving up only three hits and striking out eight. Starter Jim Simms gave up three runs to Westernport in the top of the fourth.

Post 214 started a hot streak in the first after a single by "Corky" Sweitzer, walk to Jamie Workman, followed by the first of Wildesen's two-run doubles. Mickey Chapman singled in the final run of the inning and Grantsville added three more runs in the third.

An error, single by Ken Marks and a two-run double from Frank Lewis allowed the Garrett Countians to gain three additional tallies again in the sixth.

Wildesen belted another two-run double in the eighth following a single by Frank Lewis and a walk to Workman.

County Car Racers Show Well At Morgantown Track

Trips to the pits for emergency repairs delayed Garrett county entrants in stock car racing at Morgantown Saturday night, but did not keep them from finishing lower than tenth place.

Frank Lewis started first in the heat race but did not finish as the rear end came out of his car. His mechanic crew installed a new rear before the feature, when Frank started 20th and came in eighth.

In the semi-late division, Randy McCartney started fourth in the heat and finished second. In the feature he started fourth and finished tenth.

Dewey Wakefield's car, driven by Bob Arsenberger, started third in the heat and finished first, then started third in the feature and finished second.

Bob Hershman, newcomer to the tracks from Garrett County, started first in the heat and finished fourth; then started twelfth in the feature and finished eighth.

In the dune buggy event, Randy Murphy finished eighth in the heat race. In the feature, he started 15th and finished ninth after a defective clutch caused him to drop back two places.

On Sunday at Hagerstown Raceway, Frank Lewis came in fifth in the heat and 13th in the feature after leading the track for ten laps.

ARC Health Project Topic Of Council's Quarterly Meeting

A talk by Harry Teter, Executive Director of the Appalachian Regional Commission, highlighted the Health Planning Council of Appalachia Maryland, Inc. (HPCAM) quarterly meeting held on June 26, at the Will o' the Wisp in Garrett County.

Mr. Teter's talk was entitled "The Status of the Appalachian Regional Commission Health Program." In his remarks, Mr. Teter emphasized the need for intensification of preventive programs such as the Berkeley School Health Education program and felt that future investments of the health program would be concentrated in this area. However, the provision of primary health would still be a priority in the region.

The Council moved to form an Ad-Hoc Committee to work on behalf of HPCAM in determining the future functioning of the organization in light of the condition on the staffing grant that when the H.S.A. becomes fully designated, the Appalachian function will be transferred from HPCAM to H.S.A. Mr. Carlisle, Administrator, stated that a meeting was being arranged in mid-July with Federal officials and local H.S.A. representatives to discuss this issue.

Miss Ann Smith, Project Developer, stated that all projects for Fiscal Year 1978 have been submitted to the state ARC administrator and have just recently been transmitted to the appropriate federal granting agencies. She stated also that the 1979 HPCAM Project Package was being developed now.

Other actions taken by the Council were ratifications of previous executive board actions which were as follows:

— To accept two new members, Mrs. Joy Mappes of Frostburg and Mrs. Ruth Chaney of LaVale for membership to the Council;

— To extend the length of the project period for the ACCESS project sponsored by the Allegany County Medical Society;

— To approve massive Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation training for the public in Allegany and Garrett Counties, Community Rescue Service, Inc., Building and Satellite Center (Hagerstown), Speech Pathology and Audiology project for Allegany County, Grantsville Area Health Center Deficit Project, Hancock Primary Care Center, Continuing Education for Health Professionals (Cumberland AHEC), Psychiatric Day Treatment (Allegany County), Williamsport Rescue Capability Enhancement, and Corriganville-Ellerslie Water Project.

Man Dies From Gunshot Wound

Dennis James Evans, 23, of Route 1, Burlington, W. Va., died last Wednesday of a gunshot wound to the head which he had received June 15.

Evans was found on the Nayburlee Farm, Route 495 south of Bittinger, about 4 p.m. on the 15th. State Police said the shooting probably occurred about 10 a.m. that day. Police reported this week that the death appears to have been a suicide, following study of the autopsy report and other investigation in the case.

Evans had been welding for Mt. State Harvester, Inc. on a silo belonging to Roy C. McCrobie, owner of Nayburlee Farm. When McCrobie returned to the site later in the afternoon, he found the man lying on his back on the floor of the silo.

The Northern Rescue Squad transported Evans to Memorial Hospital.

433 Employed In CETA Jobs

A total of 433 persons are employed in the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) program in Garrett County, according to a report released this week by County Commissioner Wayne Hamilton.

Hamilton, who is chairman of the county's manpower advisory committee, said the CETA program was discussed earlier this week, with Earl Savage, administrative director of the program, detailing the statistics.

This year, $1,547,445 was made available to Garrett for the program, a sum higher than CETA funding in previous years.

Of the 433 persons on the CETA payroll, 255 are in the summer youth program receiving training or employment opportunities while earning the $2.65 minimum wage per hour.

Monty Pagenhardt, director of the youth programs, told the commissioners about the activities in the program.

Savage pointed out funds allocated by the federal government are sufficient to carry all CETA programs through the end of September. The next year's allocation will not be known for another month or two.

The increase in present funding has permitted Garrett to fill nearly all of its CETA programs 100 percent, according to Commissioner Hamilton.

New State Income Tax Provisions Take Effect July 1, 1978

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced today that provisions affecting retirees, working parents and students head the list of changes in the State income tax law which take effect on July 1, 1978. "The new laws increase the pension exclusion, provide a tax break for day care expenses, and treat students as other single taxpayers," Mr. Goldstein said.

Retirees will benefit from an increase in the amount of their pension which is excluded from taxable income. On State tax returns filed for 1978, the pension exclusion will be an amount equal to the maximum social security benefit received by Marylanders 65 years old and over or totally disabled.

Formerly, the pension exclusion equalled the average social security or railroad retirement benefit received by Marylanders. Had the new provision been in effect for State tax returns filed for 1977, the maximum pension exclusion would have been $5,300 instead of $3,200.

Working parents who must pay day care expenses will now be able to take credit for part or all of those expenses when figuring their Maryland taxable income. The new law provides a subtraction modification on the Maryland income tax return for child and dependent care expenses of up to $2,000 for one dependent and $4,000 for two or more dependents.

"The Federal government allows a tax credit for these expenses, and we will request taxpayers claiming this new State subtraction modification to send a copy of Federal Form 2441, listing these expenses, along with their Maryland income tax return," Mr. Goldstein said.

Students with income from interest or dividends will also receive a break under laws taking effect July 1. Students will be subject to the same requirements for filing tax returns as any other single individuals.

The special student filing status has been eliminated and students will not have to file unless they have income equal to the filing requirement for single individuals established by the Federal government. For 1977 this figure was $2,950.

Some retirees and other taxpayers who have a State and local income tax obligation of $100 or less will not be required to file declarations of estimated tax after July 1, 1978. A quarterly declaration of estimated tax payment is required under Maryland law from taxpayers with an income of $500 or more per year which is not subject to employer withholding.

The measures are all the result of legislation passed by the 1978 session of the Maryland General Assembly and signed by Acting Governor Lee.

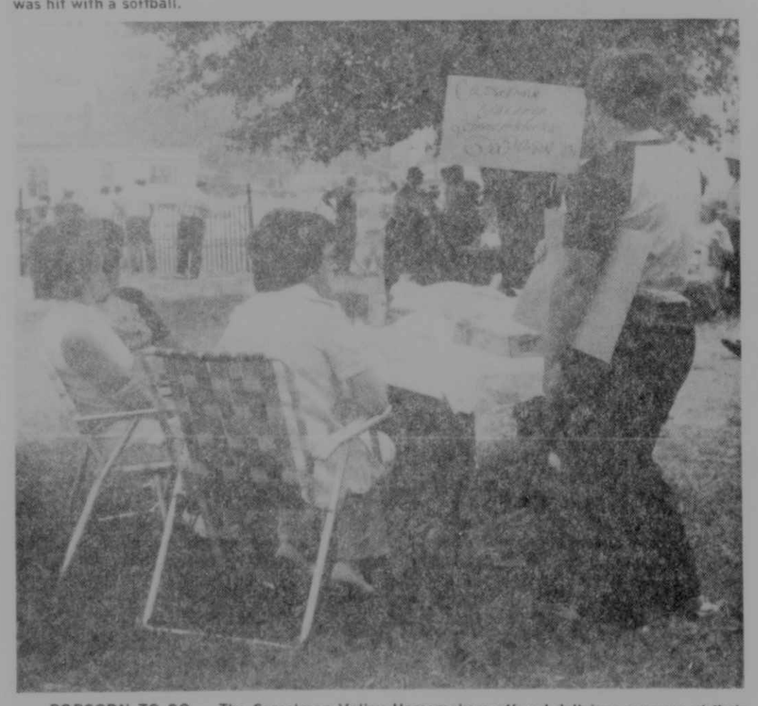
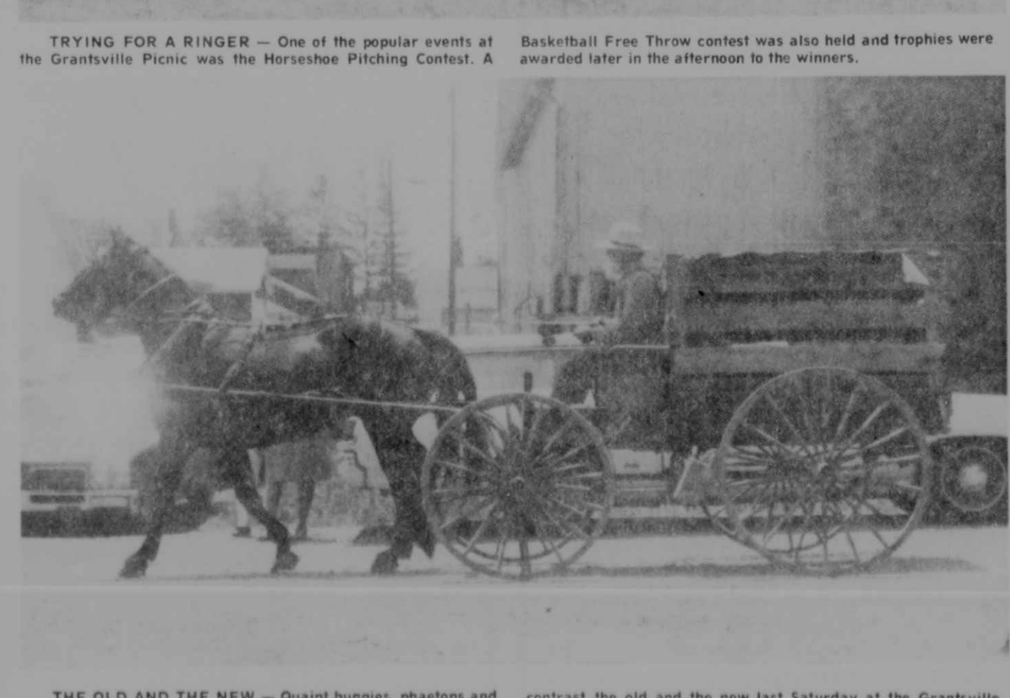
Grantsville Days, 1978

UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE — Workers at a variety of booths welcomed the shade provided by trees at the Grantsville Park. The booths and sale tables were organized by the community's churches, scouts and other local clubs. Over 1,000 people attended the first annual picnic which culminated a two day event called Grantsville Days.

FINGER LICKIN' GOOD — The sumptious smell of barbecued chicken lured most hungry picnickers to the barbecue pit staffed by the Grantsville Lions Club. Proceeds from the concession will help fund the new Grantsville Park on Miller Street where the picnic was held.



CRAFTS GALORE — Many local organizations sold handmade arts and crafts at the community picnic. The picnic was the first event coordinated by the Grantsville Community Business and Development Association.



SPLASH! — One of the most popular events at the Grantsville Picnic last Saturday was the dunking machine. As you can see, the girl in the cage received a nice cool dip when the trigger was hit with a softball.

SWING YOUR PARTNER — Members of the Belles and Beaux square dancing club delighted spectators with their colorful display of dancing. Country music for the event was provided by Delmas George and the audience was invited to participate.

POPCORN TO GO — The Casselman Valley Homemakers offered delicious popcorn at their sale table. Other concessions sold hot dogs, chili dogs, hamburgers, baked goods, hoagies and sloppy joes. The picnic was a good way for the community to enjoy a leisurely day together - even if they did put on a few pounds doing so.

TRYING FOR A RINGER — One of the popular events at the Grantsville Picnic was the Horseshoe Pitching Contest. A Basketball Free Throw contest was also held and trophies were awarded later in the afternoon to the winners.

BEST DRESSED — This may seem to be unusual attire for a picnic - unless of course, you're going to be square dancing, which is exactly where these members of Belles and Beaux are heading. The audience thoroughly enjoyed participating in the square dancing lessons.

THE OLD AND THE NEW — Quaint buggies, phaetons and wagons paraded past a line of Buicks, Fords and Chevrolets to contrast the old and the new last Saturday at the Grantsville Picnic.

Two Injured As Car Hits Train

The driver and his passenger were slightly injured when their car collided with a B&O Railroad train at the crossing at Swanton early Sunday morning.

James Douglas Brady, driver, and his passenger, Timothy Allen Tuel, both 18 of Kitzmiller, were conveyed to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. Brady was eastbound on the Swanton Hill road about 3 a.m. and ran into the 39th car of a 84-car train. The train continued on to Keyser, W. Va., the train crew, unaware that anything had happened. Francis J. Jennings of Grafton, W. Va., was the engineer. Tfc. E. J. Upole investigated.

Three persons were injured in a two-vehicle mishap on U. S. 219 in the Cove area late last Saturday morning.

Virginia Dare Rainey, Star Route 2, McHenry, driver of the car, her passenger, John H. Rainey, same address, and the driver of a small pick-up, William L. Casteel, Somerset, Pa., were conveyed to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad. The Rainey car was northbound as the pick-up was southbound. Virginia Rainey attempted to make a left turn into a gas station. Casteel's vehicle went into a skid and struck the Rainey car as it pulled directly into his path. Tfc. J. E. Foley charged Virginia Rainey with making an improper left turn.

Earlier that morning James William Tegethoff, PO Box, McHenry, was taken to the Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad. He was driving north on the State Park road about 6 a.m., fell asleep, ran off the road and struck the end of the steel bridge over Cherry Creek. Tfc. Upole investigated this one also.

Three Complete Fire Training

Three area fire chiefs recently completed a fire ground command course offered by the University of Maryland Fire and Rescue Institute.

Gary Wolford, chief of the Bowling Green fire department; James Lininger, chief of the Friendsville fire department, and Robert Shimer assistant fire chief at Potomac Fire department, Westernport and fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett counties participated in and completed the 16 hours of classroom instruction.

Instructors for the class were all from the Phoenix Fire Department.

The more than 100 chief officers from Maryland who participated in the course were instructed in fire ground factors, tactical priorities, fire control, apparatus placement command, safety, decision making, command and control and fire ground etiquette.

Twelve Die On State Highways

Twelve persons lost their lives on Maryland Highways according to the Weekly News Release compiled by 2nd Lt. M. I. Morgan of the Maryland State Police. Of those killed, six were drivers, four were passengers and two were pedestrians.

In the opinion of the investigating officer, two of the twelve deaths could have possibly been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Persons killed through June 25 total 274 compared to 304 for the same period last year.

Straight Talk About Aging

Five Years In the Right Direction—Mandatory Retirement

By Dr. Matthew Tayback, State Director on Aging

Over four million older Americans were given the opportunity recently to add five years to their productive, working lives. This spring the Federal government passed a law making it illegal for an employer automatically to require an employee to retire simply because he or she has reached 65 years of age.

There are a few exceptions (namely, executives whose annual retirement benefits are at least $27,000 and tenured university professors) and there is still a mandatory retirement age for non-Federal employees. That age now, though, is 70 instead of 65.

Before the law was passed, there were voices raised in opposition to it. Few, however, could counter the basic argument of Representative Claude Pepper, the law's chief backer. "Each day," Rep. Pepper likes to point out, "more than 5,000 Americans reach the age of 65. There is no evidence that on that day their ability to function productively in the labor force vanishes."

One could, of course, take Rep. Pepper's argument further. If there is no evidence of the instantaneous evaporation of ability at age 65, is there at 70? Or at 75? Why, indeed, should there be a mandatory retirement age at all? Any age selected can be no less arbitrary than was 65 when it was was chosen in the 1880's by German Chancellor Otto Von Bismark as he was setting up the West's first social security

Still, even though age 70 is as arbitrary as was age 65, it is at least five years in the right direction.

I want to emphasize that the new law does not compel anyone to work until he is 70. He may retire at whatever time he thinks best for him. (And, in fact, the average age of retiring Americans is getting lower every year).

The point is, the law gives older workers the option of lengthening the earning phase of their lives at a time when inflation makes the prospect of retiring on a fixed pension considerably less bright than it used to be.

The law will also contribute significantly to the emotional wellbeing of those employees who genuinely enjoy their jobs. Postponed will be the listlessness and the preoccupation with frailities, real or imagined, that often plague workers forced to retire before they are ready.

Business and industry will gain, too. Employers will discover that many of the myths surrounding the older worker are simply not true. (It is not true, for instance, that older workers are less productive than younger ones. Studies show that just the opposite may be the case; they also demonstrate that workers over 65 have less absenteeism and fewer accidents than those in younger age groups).

Additionally, employers will benefit from those special traits that can only come with age and experience. One example succinctly given by an assistant personnel director in a Texas refinery: "The mature salesman has the patience to stay with a customer until he's sold."

There is a concern that this new Federal law will affect the availability of job opportunities for young people entering the labor market. The solution to this concern, of course, is an expanding economy. The burden of employment for the young must not and should not be imposed on the elderly.

As a group, all senior Americans will benefit from the extension of the mandatory retirement age. To quote Steve Skardon, of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees: the elderly are "caught in this national image of incompetence and feebleness. They feel they benefit immeasurably from the legislation, even if they are already retired, because it will help dispel these myths."

Scouts In Action

Two rematch softball games were held between Deep Creek Pack 80 and Friendsville Pack 45 Sunday, June 25, at the Accident ballfield. Friendsville was victorious 20-9 and 7-6.

Several scouts received awards at the meeting including: Robert Mansfield, Wolf and Gold Arrow Point; Fred Glotfelty, Advancing into Webelos; Brian Alexander, Webelos activity badges; Outdoorsman, Brian Alexander, Bryant McKee, Owen "Buddy" Dolan and Gordon Noble; Naturalist, Bryant McKee and Gordon Noble; Engineer and Forester, Gordon Noble; Webelos Badges and Arrow of Light (Cub Scouting's highest award), Tim Everly, Bryant McKee and Keith Alexander and Advancing into Boy Scouts, Tim Everly.

Pack 80 will be marching in the July 4 Parade in Accident.

Supreme Court Rules Bakke Must Be Admitted To Medical School

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court ruled today in the Allen Bakke "reverse discrimination" case that the 23-year-old engineer must be admitted to the University of California Medical School.

At the same time, five justices held that the school may not be prevented from taking race into consideration of race in its future admissions policies.

Bakke failed to gain entrance to the medical school because of its admissions program setting aside 16 percent of openings for minorities.

Justice Lewis Powell, in the leading opinion, said California courts "failed to recognize that the state has a substantial interest that legitimately may be served by a properly devised admissions progra involving the competitive consideration of race and ethnic origin."

The university had conceded, after the California Supreme Court ordered Bakke's entrance, that it could not prove he still would have been barred if the admissions restrictions had not been in effect.

For this reason, the admission order must be affirmed, Powell said.

The Justice Department had urged the court to send the case back to California for more proceedings to determine what might have happened if the school had been operating an appropriate program. But Powell said there is no reason for that.

He said since Bakke was injured solely on the basis of an unlawful classification, the university cannot now indulge in thoughts that it might have achieved the same results by using lawful means.

The university had reserved 16 spaces for minorities out of 100 in each first-year class at the medical school. The objective was to give preference to disadvantaged applicants and promote diversity among the student body and in the medical profession.

Powell said it may be assumed that reserving a specified number of openings in each class for preferred groups would contribute to considerable ethnic diversity in the student body. But he said the university's arguments that this is the only effective means of doing so "is seriously flawed."

A compelling state interest that would justify consideration of race or ethnic background is not "in simple ethnic diversity," said Powell, but "encompasses a far broader array of qualifications and characteristics of which racial or ethnic origin is but a single though important element."

He said the Davis program, which focused solely on ethnic diversity, would hinder rather than help attain "genuine diversity."

Justice William Brennan, in an opinion joined by Byron White, Thurgood Marshall and Harry Blackmun, said today's ruling "affirms the constitutional power of federal and state government to act affirmatively to achieve equal opportunity for all."

Six separate opinions were filed in the long-awaited case.

Although the nine justices did not speak together in any one opinion, Brennan said, "This should not and must not mask the central meaning of today's opinions:

"Government may take race into account when it acts not to demean or insult any racial group, but to remedy disadvantages cast on minorities by past racial prejudice, at least when appropriate findings have been made by judicial, legislative or administrative bodies with competence to act in this area."

Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justices John Paul Stevens, Potter Stewart and William Rehnquist said Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits programs such as that at the Davis Medical School, and thus Bakke's rights were violated and he should be admitted.

Powell, while saying race may be taken into account in university admissions, said this particular program did not stand up. This made a five-man majority affirming the California Supreme Court's finding that Bakke is entitled to admission.

Brennan, White, Marshall and Blackmun held the Davis program constitutional, and wanted to reverse the California court on all points.

Powell joined with the Brennan group in saying that some uses of race in university admissions are permissible — making five votes to reverse the California court's prohibition on the university establishing race-conscious programs in the future.

Cancer Researchers Testing Vitamin A

CHICAGO (UPI) — Cancer researchers will begin testing a new form of Vitamin A next month to see if it can prevent malignancies in humans, the Chicago Tribune has reported.

Dr. Michael Sporn, chief of the National Cancer Institute's lung cancer branch, was quoted as saying the new compound has been highly effective in stopping tumors in laboratory animals.

The doses given animals were so high that equivalent amounts would be poisonous in humans, the newspaper said in its Sunday editions. But the dangerous side effects have been reduced by researchers, the article said.

Vitamin A compounds, called retinoids, have been chemically changed by molecular manipulation, Sporn said.

"This is a brand new concept," he said. "We are taking a totally different approach in trying to prevent cancer rather than attempting to cure it once it has occurred."

The laboratory animals were given cancer-causing chemicals, then half were given a retinoid compound, Sporn said. Those given the compound developed far fewer cancers.

The compound has been given limited testing in humans with skin problems, the Tribune said, with researchers reporting encouraging results.

The more extensive human trials will involve patients who run a high risk of developing bladder cancer, Sporn said. Other groups expected to be tested later include people who have a high risk of developing lung and breast cancer.

The bladder cancer trials are scheduled to begin next month at Rush-Presbyterian St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago; Virginia Mason Clinic, Seattle; Medical College of Virginia, Richmond; Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, and the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

"SUNSHINE ON MY SOLARS, makes me happy," is what H. Gurney Kolb of Accident must surely be singing. Kolb recently installed a unique solar powered water heater in his home. The system, manufactured by the State Company, has a 120-gallon storage capacity and will maintain a water temperature of 140 degrees. It is believed to be the only system of its kind in Garrett County and it utilizes distilled water in its heat exchanging process. Since its installation five months ago by Kolb's fellow employees at A. D. Naylor, Inc., Kolb has used it to heat all of his domestic water. The three special solar panels carry a 20-year guarantee and their high impact plastic surfaces can withstand winds of 110 m.p.h. Kolb plans to connect a fourth panel which will make the system even more reliable. The panels contain a roof sensor that will automatically drain the tank if the temperature drops below freezing — if this happens, a 60-gallon emergency back up system will continue to provide hot water. Kolb estimates that depending on the size of the family and current energy costs, the system could pay for itself in seven years . . . it originally cost $1,600. Kolb and Duane Weaver, a Naylor's engineer, have installed special thermometers to measure the system's efficiency. Weaver commented that the system has been remarkably effective considering Garrett County has a denser cloud cover than any other locale in the United States other than areas in the state of Washington.

Two Plead Guilty In Fraud Scheme

PARKERSBURG, W.Va. (UPI) — Two former employees of the Weirton Steel Division of the National Steel Corp. have pleaded guilty to four counts each of mail fraud in connection with an alleged scheme to defraud the company on lumber shipments.

Justis McCaskey and Harry Israel, both of Weirton, entered the pleas Tuesday before U.S. District Judge Charles Haden II, who set sentencing for late July in Wheeling. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

According to the indictment, the two employees conspired with a Maryland lumber company to bill Weirton Steel for more lumber than was actually delivered.

The indictment said McCaskey's job was to check the lumber trucks when they arrived and inventory the items before permitting the trucks to enter the mill area where Israel was in charge of the warehouse where the lumber was stored.

Weirton Steel officials said the exact amount allegedly defrauded from the company has not been determined but the indictment said it involved at least $150,000.

Also indicted in the case was Allied Lumber, Inc., of Friendsville, Md. the company president Marvin Lawson and vice president Robert Thomas. All are accused on 40 counts and are scheduled to stand trial July 24 in Wheeling.

Judge Considers Request To Jail Griffin B. Bell

NEW YORK (UPI) — A U.S. District Court judge is considering a request that he cite Attorney General Griffin B. Bell for contempt and jail him until he complies with a court order to produce confidential FBI files.

Judge Thomas Griesa reserved decision after a two-hour hearing Tuesday on the Socialist Workers Party's five-year-old lawsuit against the FBI in which it alleges harassment, illegal wiretapping and mail tampering. The complaint seeks $40 million in damages.

Leonard Boudin, a lawyer for the SWP, recommended that the nation's top law officer be cited for contempt and given 30 days before going to jail to decide whether he would turn over 18 files on FBI informants who worked within the party's ranks.

U.S. Attorney Robert Fiske urged the court to consider some other form of sanction short of an unprecedented contempt citation.

Fiske said Bell was willing to turn over to Boudin the files of those informants who have no objections to having their identities disclosed.

From this information, the prosecutor suggested, Boudin could determine the nature and extent of the illegal activities allegedly engaged in by the informants and compute the proposed damages.

Fiske said Bell is not acting out of defiance to the court order, but to protect the confidentiality of government informants.

To comply, the prosecutor said, could have a serious impact on domestic law enforcement and counter-intelligence work.

The order to turn over the files was issued by Griesa in May 1977. Bell's refusal to comply is aimed at bringing the merits of the government's position before the U.S. Appeals Court for the Second Circuit for review.

U. S. Sweet Teeth Satisfied With 15.4 Pounds Each

WASHINGTON (UPI) — 1977 was an off-year for candy-lovers.

The average American chewed, sucked, licked and munched his way through 15.4 pounds of candy last year. That may sound like a lot of sweets for every man, woman and child in the country, but it's the lowest per-capita consumption rate since 1938.

It also was more than five pounds below the level of 1968, when the costs were almost 50 cents a pound less.

The main reason for the decline, said the Commerce Department Tuesday, was consumer resistance to soaring prices coupled with health concerns raised by consumer groups, federal regulatory agencies and Congress.

The report noted than the average price of candy per pound was 94 cents last year, a dime higher than in 1976 and almost half a dollar above the 1968 level.

It said that while prices for corn syrup and sugar dropped substantially, the savings more than offset by sharp price rises for chocolate and cocoa products.

Missouri and Tennessee both touch on eight other states.

Al Capone's business card described him as a "second-hand furniture dealer." Capone grossed about $105 million in 1927.

Warning: Diesel Engines May Cause Cancer

DETROIT (UPI) — Remember years ago, when the surgeon general warned cigarettes cause cancer? We've come a long way.

Since then, the government has warned about saccharin, hamburgers and even bacon. Today, there may be a new twist — though both U.S. and foreign automakers hope not.

The Environmental Protection Agency was expected to release in Washington a preliminary report on a six-month study of diesel engines and the possible cancer-causing effects of their exhaust particles.

A finding by the EPA critical of diesel exhausts could result in tighter emission controls — something U.S. and foreign automakers say would force them to curtail plans to boost output of increasingly popular diesel-powered cars.

Demand for fuel-efficient diesels so far this year has outstripped production. The industry expects sales this year to top 120,000.

The EPA, under provisions of the federal Clean Air Act, must propose a standard this year for particulate emissions from diesel engines. The standard will take effect in 1981.

Concerns about potential cancer-causing effects of diesel emissions were raised by a recent study that found mutations in certain bacteria exposed to diesel exhaust particles.

The EPA undertook the study to determine how strictly diesel particulates should be controlled. Diesels already are subject to EPA regulations covering other automotive pollutants — carbon monoxide, hyrdocarbons and nitrogen oxides.

General Motors Corp., which this year began offering diesel engines in its Oldsmobile line, has announced plans to triple diesel production in 1979. GM officials have predicted by 1985 more than 25 percent of cars will be powered by diesels.

An industry insider said GM's bullish predictions for the diesel will "obviously change" if the EPA "comes down hard" on diesel emissions.

"But if their standards take into account the current state of the art, there should be no problem," he said.

Although the other domestic firms have no immediate plans to build diesel-powered cars, foreign car makers are taking aim at the U.S. diesel market.

Mercedes-Benz and Volkswagen each expect to sell more than 20,000 diesel-equipped cars this year. Peugeot, of France, is expected to sell 4,000. Fiat, Volvo and Mazda also reportedly are developing diesels for the North American market.

A Mercedes spokesman said strict diesel standards would pose serious problems for the German auto firm, which counts on diesels for more than half of its U.S. sales.

"But whatever the standards, we're going to meet it," he said. "We're not going to walk away from it."

The United States produces more than twice as many cars each year as babies.

English Language Greatly Changing

CHICAGO (UPI) — English is changing so much in America that in 200 years, Americans and Britons won't be able to understand each other without the help of a translator, a British lexicographer says.

"Since 1776, American English and British English have been on a divergent course," says Robert Burchfield, the chief editor of the Oxford English dictionaries. "They should end up being unintelligible to one another in another 200 years."

There is a popular misconception that the ever-broadening influence of the media is narrowing the differences between the two forms of English, Burchfield told a news conference this week.

"However, I would guess that 200 million Americans haven't been to England, and there are probably 47 million British who haven't been to the U.S. And it's not the media that control the language, it's the 200 million and the 47 million who are staying at home, writing letters, talking to one another."

American English is changing more rapidly than its British counterpart because there are more cultural influences, said the soft-spoken, silver-haired lexicographer, attired in a conservative, gray business suit.

"A lot of people here don't speak English as a first language. Also, there are simply more stimuli here than there are in Britain. New developments often create the need for new words.

"I feel British English is retaining its more ancient character. I think in Britain there is a form of standard English to which the British aspire, but there is no one standard here." In countries where English is taught as a second language, British English eventually will be taught exclusively because it is easier to learn, Burchfield said.

"Look, for example, at the encyclopedic content of an American novel. It is infinitely more complicated than that of a British novel."

Burchfield, 55, also said the recent increase in the number of books and scholars deploring the demise of English doesn't concern him.

He laughed when asked about recent concern over the misuse of the word disinterested.

"Edwin Newman (the author of several books on the use and misuse of English) is concerned over the sloppy use of 'disinterested.' Well, in the 17th century, disinterested was used to mean both impartial and indifferent. No one complained about it, and the language didn't die.

"I, at the moment, make the distinction when I use the word. It's useful in the 20th century. But we shouldn't be worried about changes in the language. What sense does it make to worry for 10 years whether 'hopefully' is used correctly, even though some of my friends continue to sermonize about it?

"For example, I was in New York recently," he said with a smile. "And I saw a restaurant called the 'Psychidelicatessen.' That doesn't bother me."

Congress Begins Cutting Budgets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The message, sent loud and clear from California, is being heard and heeded in Congress. Both Senate and House are cutting spending and letting the dollars drop where they will.

Ever since California adopted Proposition 13 — slashing property taxes — by a 2-1 margin, the election-year Congress has whacked away at appropriations and authorization bills to show it knows the country wants government spending reduced.

And they are using a tactic that in previous years was shunned as the province of the non-thinkers — an across-the board percentage cut that lets the agency or department decide what has to go.

Opponents of such cuts call it the fiscal "meat ax" approach to spending and Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., said Tuesday it's like "telling the appropriations committee it doesn't matter what you do because we're going to have a 2 or 5 or 10 percent cut."

"It's time to do more with less," argued Sen. William Roth, R-Del. "That's the message from California ..."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, said cuts in the remaining appropriations bills are "highly likely" and will continue to be across-the-board.

But Tower said he did not believe Congress would make such reductions in the $100 billion-plus defense budget. He said there is national concern that "the Russians are getting ahead of us."

The Senate indicated Tuesday that it is just as eager as the House is to make the slashes.

Although it passed the fiscal 1979 Transportation Department appropriations last week without an effort to make a percentage cut, the Senate Tuesday slashed funds for the Treasury Department, the White House and several smaller agencies by a flat 2 percent, or about $144 million, reducing the size of the bill to $8.8 billion.

The U.S. Postal Service was exempted because, as sponsor Roth explained, its growth was less than the inflation rate.

Two other signs of cost-cutting were included in the bill by the committee: a freeze on pay raises for members of Congress and other high-ranking government officials with salaries over $47,000, and a 5.5 percent ceiling on pay raises for federal blue-collar workers, the same as that proposed for white-collar employees by President Carter.

The House has approved 10 of the 13 major appropriations bills and three suffered across-the-board cuts. Combining the three House cuts and the Senate cut Tuesday, Congress has trimmed $678.5 million by the percentage methods.

The House cut the labor-HEW money bill by 2 percent for a saving of $397 million; the legislative appropriations bill by 5 percent for a reduction of $44.7 million; and state, justice, commerce and the judiciary by 2 percent, which trimmed about $92.8 million.

Three House appropriations suffered pinpoint cuts — the normal method — and four others escaped unscathed.

Although the savings have been minimal in a $500 billion budget, Tower said, "it's not a meaningless political gesture if in the aggregate they start to amount to something."

Princess Caroline Married Today

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI) — High society gathered today for the marriage of Princess Caroline of Monaco and Philippe Junot, a French playboy 17 years her senior.

All eyes were on Princess Caroline, 21, whose beauty, youth, wealth and royal lineage made her the most brilliant of all the assembled stars.

A prenuptial palace ball drew 800 guests, most of them rich and famous, and invoked memories of the storybook marriage 22 years ago of the bride's mother, movie star Grace Kelly, to Monaco's Prince Rainier, ruler of the principality.

The gala brought together such celebrities as Cary Grant, Greek billionaire Stavros Niarchos, the pretenders to the thrones of France and Russia, Prince Bertil of Sweden, former Kings Umberto of Italy and Michael of Romania and the Aga Khan. Many of the women were ablaze with jewels.

Today's civil ceremony does not constitute final marriage in this Catholic principality and Caroline and her husband will sleep apart tonight.

It is only after the religious ceremony Thursday that pious Monagesques will really consider them man and wife.

Only a small group of family, close friends and representatives of the native population of Monaco were invited to today's ceremony, conducted by the chief law officer, Louis Roman, Monaco's director of judicial affairs.

The glittering parade of royalty, real and Hollywood-style, and the rich and famous queued to get into the palace. The bride's parents invited 4,500 natives of Monaco to a garden party after the wedding — held in the historic gilt and marble throne-room of the 200-room palace of the Grimaldis.

The semi-official reason for the attempt to minimize publicity is that Grace took a long time getting over the excitement of her own wedding and wants to spare her daughter the same experience.

Some think it might have been a more publicly joyous occasion if Caroline had married into one of the great families of Europe.

Junot has been trying hard recently to live down a reputation as a playboy.

All the people of Monaco were invited to watch after the wedding, as the bride took a short, heavily guarded walk in her white wedding gown to have her bouquet blessed in the nearby Chapel of Mercy in the old town.

Caroline chose as witnesses her brother Prince Albert, 20, the hereditary prince, and her cousin, Grace Levine of Philadelphia.

Junot's witnesses were his sister, Mrs. Jean-Louis Vouillon, and Baron Michel Allard.

Caroline's wedding dress, designed by Christian Dior, was a softly pleated ice-blue georgette crepe with open-work seams, short-sleeved and three-quarter length.

Among those attending the civil ceremony are Michel Junot, the bridegroom's twice-divorced father, a deputy mayor of Paris, Olympic athlete John B. Kelly Jr. of Philadelphia, Princess Grace's brother, and his daughter Maura.

Christian and Laurent Junot, Philippe's half brothers, Princess Stephanie, Caroline's 13-year-old sister, and other members of both families also were guests.

Electrical Storms Batter Maryland

By United Press International

Heavy rains and crackling electrical storms battered Maryland early today toppling barns, downing power lines and leaving thousands of homes across the state without electricity.

State police said Calvert County was the hardest hit.

Cpl. Ray Smiley of the Prince Frederick police barracks said the high winds knocked down 12 barns, capsized two boats and downed numerous trees throughout the county.

Several minor electrical fires flared up in the county, but there were no serious injuries, Smiley said.

The Baltimore Gas and Electric Co., which serves 800,000 customers in Baltimore city and the five surrounding metropolitan counties, said some 35,000 customers were without power late Tuesday night.

Spokesman John Metzger said the power outages were caused by lightning striking high power lines. He said falling trees ripped down several power lines throughout the metropolitan counties.

Metzger said power was restored to most customers by 3 a.m. He said company crews worked to restore power to about 3,000 customers, who were still without electricity after 3 a.m.

Two Reporters Face Trial In Soviet Union

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two American reporters today were ordered to stand trial on July 5 on civil charges of slander brought against them by the Soviet state committee for radio and television.

Craig Whitney, 34, of the New York Times, and Hal Piper, 39, of the Baltimore Sun, spent 10 minutes before a Soviet judge this morning and were told to return to court Friday to file written responses to the civil slander suit and to be prepared to go to trial July 5.

Soviet authorities originally ordered the trial for July 4, but postponed it one day when Whitney and Piper pointed out that July 4 was a national holiday for Americans.

The television authorities brought the case against Whitney and Piper in response to articles they wrote, quoting Soviet dissidents as saying that they fabricated a filmed confession by Georgian dissident Zviad Gamsakhourdias.

Whitney told the Moscow court judge that he had planned to be away on vacation at the time set for trial.

The judge told him the authorities could not order him to remain in the Soviet Union in a civil case but they hoped he would appear for the trial July 5. They pointed out that under Soviet law a trial can proceed even if the defendant is not physically present.

The summonses raised concern among reporters in Moscow because it was feared the Soviet Union may be starting to use such cases to respond to any unfavorable reporting. Such tactics could keep reporters endlessly tied up in legal actions, stifling their ability to cover news.

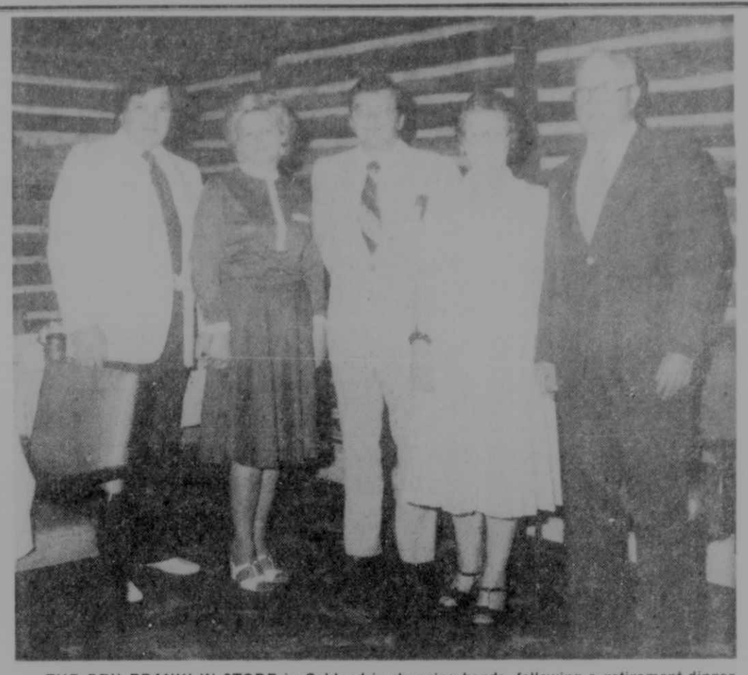
Berkeley Health Program Is Now In Curriculum



The School Health Education Curriculum Project (Berkeley Model), that has been introduced into the curriculum of the Allegany, Garrett, and Washington County school system during the past four years, has been integrated into the regular curriculum.

The Regional Education Service Agency, through a series of grants from the Appalachian Regional Commission via the Health Planning Council of Appalachia Maryland and the Maryland Regional Medical Program, has assisted the school systems of Appalachian Maryland in introducing a grade level each year since 1974. The lungs and respiratory system phase was initiated in the fifth grades the first year; the heart and circulatory system was introduced into the sixth grades the second year, and, the brain and nervous system phase was started in the seventh grades the third year.

An additional grant was received from ARC to purchase the instructional materials necessary to implement the fourth grade phase of the project. This grade level treats the digestive system. The teacher training and related costs for the fourth grade are the responsibility of the local school system.

The School Health Curriculum Project is an innovative approach to help children learn how their bodies function, what affects their bodies, and how to make better health choices throughout life.

At the completion of each implementation year, the local school system assumed total control and responsibility for the program. The program is now offered to all fifth, sixth, and seventh grade public school students in Allegany, Garrett, and Washington County each year. Persons desiring further information should contact P. Edward Firlie, Regional Education Service Agency of Appalachian Maryland, 13202 Sixth Avenue, Cresaptown, Maryland 21502.

Local Candidates Should Heed Campaign Sign Placement Warnings

As political campaigns intensify, the State Highway Administration reminds candidates of regulations concerning the placement of campaign signs.

All applications for the erection of a sign along any State highway must be approved by both the local zoning board and the State Highway Administration.

Signs erected along a Federally-funded primary road must be located in an area zoned either commercial or industrial or be an "on-premise" sign. (An "on-premise" sign is one within 100 feet of an election headquarters). The signs must also meet the space, size, and lighting criteria prescribed by law. Although zoning does not affect the placement of signs along the secondary State highway system, such signs must also meet the prescribed space, size, and lighting criteria.

No signs or advertising are permitted within the limits of highway rights-of-way, and no signs are permitted closer than 200 feet from an intersecting highway or a curve.

This does not apply to beltways or expressways where no advertising is permitted with the exception of certain real estate and "on-premise" signs. Historical markers are also permitted when approval has been granted by the State Highway Administration.

A permit tag, issued by the State Highway Administration, Outdoor Advertising Section, must be affixed to all outdoor signs erected along the State highway system. If a sign is erected without a permit, the State has the right to remove it after a violation notice is sent to the owner.

There is a penalty for erecting signs without a permit, and a violator may be found guilty of a misdemeanor. Upon conviction, he may be subject to a fine not exceeding $500. In the case of political advertising, the candidate will be held responsible for all illegally displayed signs.

Further information may be obtained from Morris Stein, Chief, Outdoor Advertising Section, State Highway Administration, Stanbalt Building, 501 St. Paul Place, Baltimore, 21202. Telephone numbers are 383-4103 and 383-4104.

Fifty bright stars suggest a nation conscious of and dedicated to a divinely-inspired destiny. It is no poetic accident that one of the stanzas of "America" is addressed:

One father's God, to Thee
Author of liberty

The churches in the United States and Canada, and in all liberty-loving lands, believe that freedom has spiritual roots.

And THE STRIPES. They remind us of furrows stretching across the plains. Man toiling season after season . . . carving a nation out of wilderness . . . with faith in the providence of God.

And the future will always require faith and hard work . . . the partnership of God and man!

THE RUBBISHPILE GARDEN

Lesson for July 2, 1978

Background Scripture:
Acts 18:1-17;
1 Thessalonians 1 through 3.
Devotional Reading:
Matthew 13:18-23.

Two years ago I visited an unusual spiritual community near Iverness, Scotland. It is called Findhorn and it started in a trailer park which was situated near a rubbishpile by the Firth of Moray, a large body of water leading into the North Sea. One of the reasons Findhorn has attracted great attention is because of the beautiful flower garden the rubbishpile has become, a miracle in the eyes of many, particularly in light of the austere, forbidding climate. According to the people of Findhorn, the secret of the rubbishpile's fruitfulness is to be found in spiritual principles.

Rev. Althouse

Corinth The Evil

When the Apostle Paul went to the Greek city of Corinth there must have been many skeptics who were certain that nothing worthwhile could be done there. Corinth had the very worst of reputations. To "live like a Corinthian" meant to live a life of unrestrained appetites and passions. Commercial crossroads of the Aegean Sea, Corinth was a breeding ground for every kind of evil imaginable. It was the rubbishpile of Greece.

Several years ago when I visited the ruins of Pauline Corinth I remembered its evil reputation. Yet, as I looked over those lovely ruins my associations with Corinth were only good. The name "Corinthians" always evokes remembrance of Paul's beautiful "Hymn to Love," 1 Corinthians 13. I cannot help remembering that some of the finest passages in Paul's epistles come from the Corinthians letters.

I remember too that it was from Corinth that he wrote what is likely the earliest of all his published letters to churches, 1 Thessalonians. Then too I remember that some of Paul's finest work was done there, some of his most influential converts came from the Corinthian ministry. Although Corinth might have been the rubbishpile of Greece, God was able to make it bloom through Paul and his associates.

Unexpected Flowers

The name of Corinth ought to serve as a vital reminder to us; God is able to bring fruitfulness from any rubbishpile. Corinth would have been the last place that most people would have thought would attract Paul as a site for his missionary work. Paul chose Corinth, not because he closed his eyes to the evil, but because he could see beyond it and perceive the fruits that could be produced there by the power of God. Others looked and saw rubbish; Paul looked and saw flowers.

We need to remember this whenever we view the world about us. There is nothing or no one that cannot be made beautiful by the power of his touch. No place and no person are hopeless. Wherever we find an unpromising situation, let us remember the rubbishpile gardens that God can call forth by the power of his love.

by Cathy Helbig

In May of 1921, Mr. Rinker, a farmer of the Table Rock area, was charged after having shot several cows belonging to Mr. Conneway who lived on the adjoining farm. "Mr. Rinker maintained that the animals wandered onto his farm and when he shouted at them to get off his property and they did not oblige, the firearm shots were heard." He was fined $50.00.

The Romney Review had an editorial comment by, then the Governor of West Virginia, John J. Cornwall: "Newspaper dispatches from our neighboring city of Cumberland tell of a new species of crime committed there by a citizen of the metropolis of Western Maryland. A man fixed a leaky pipe in his own house and was arrested and fined $45 for doing the work. Now don't laugh. This is not a joke but a fact. His offense, the crime against the peace and dignity of the state of Maryland, consisted in doing plumbing without a license. Plumbing, you know, is a good paying job and plumbers are well organized. The State Legislature of Maryland is composed in part, if not largely, of politicians who are looking for votes, so when the plumbers demanded a law prohibiting a person from doing plumbing who is not a license plumber, the demand being backed by organized labor, generally. Of course, the bill went through."

This editorial stirred ill feeling among Allegheny and Garrett County residents.

"Henry McGinniss, who is employed on a farm two miles South of Oakland, was returning from the barn to the house when he was stunned by a bolt of lightning which had struck a tree about thirty feet away. He was rendered unconscious until resuscitated by a physician."

Between June 21 and June 30, Maryland residents from Baltimore to Oakland were expecting to see a meteoric shower which was to accompany the appearance of the Pons-Winnecke Comet.

In early July the announcement was made for the town of Deer Park to prepare itself for a visit from the Mountaineers:

"More than fifty candidates for the West Virginia University football team will go in training at Deer Park on August 29."

Athletic Director Harvey A. Stansbury "stated that Deer Park was preferred because the hotel at that resort is better equipped to handle the large squad and also to accommodate the large crowds from Fairmont, Morgantown, Clarksburg, Wheeling and other West Virginia cities that flock to the camp to watch the Mountaineers go through their preliminary training." Their schedule for the '21 season would have them clash with such teams as Pitt, Virginia, Rutgers, Lehigh, Bucknell, W. & J., Washington & Lee, Ohio and others.

Henry Ford, Thomas Edison and H. S. Firestone arrived with all eight vehicles of their caravan on Tuesday, July 26, 1921 to camp at Swallow Falls. On Wednesday, July 27, "Mr. Ford motored to town and spent an hour or two shopping."

$336,764 Grant Available For Drug Treatment Program

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) recently announced a $336,764 grant to the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice for an experimental drug treatment program. The funds were made available by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration. The State of Maryland is expected to contribute $84,191 to bring the program funding to $420,955.

The Treatment and Rehabilitation for Addicted Prisoners (TRAP) program will seek to fill a gap in existing services. It will be administered by the Maryland Drug Abuse Administration in cooperation with the Division of Corrections.

TRAP will provide intensive therapeutic treatment for addicted prisoners, who will receive six months treatment in a correctional institution followed by six months in a community correction facility. Upon parole, they must remain in the treatment program for an additional three months.

The recidivism rate for drug offenders in Maryland stands at 35 percent. Many repeat offenders have drug abuse problems. The TRAP program is expected to reduce the number of addicted repeat offenders.

IMPROVEMENT CAN BE COSTLY

You can make a million mistakes trying to sell your own home. And one of them is making the wrong improvements. Many times, an expensive addition or repair can be the kind of thing that'll cost you far more than you get back. True, the house should present a favorable appearance - mowed lawn, trimmed shrubs, and no obvious indications of neglect, but it's rare when a large financial undertaking will bring more than its cost in the final selling price.

There is always the financial risk of miscalculation too. Home repair costs frequently end up a lot higher than originally anticipated. You may end up with a faster sale and less inconvenience if you lower the selling price an equivalent amount.

Instead of guessing as to how much, if any, repair work to undertake, see a Realtor. He can tell you what to do to make your home more salable. And what not to do so you won't lose money

On this day in history:

In 1894, Congress declared the first Monday in September as Labor Day.

In 1919, World War I was officially ended with the signing of the Treaty of Versailles.

In 1971, the use of public funds for parochial schools was ruled unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court.

In 1972, President Nixon announced that no more draftees would be sent to Vietnam unless they volunteered.

A thought for the day: General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, in landing on Leyte October 20, 1944, said, "I have returned. By the grace of Almighty God, our forces stand again on Philippine soil."

GARRETT COUNTY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

This new column is meant to provide communication between the public and Garrett County Memorial Hospital. It is a combined effort by The Republican news staff and the administration of the hospital. Persons having questions and comments, both negative and positive, may send them to The Republican office for publication. Questions concerning specific medical cases will not be accepted because of possible legal consequences.

1. How do you explain the decrease in the census of the hospital? Could the increased rates be the cause?

I wish there was a logical explanation as to the decrease in hospital census over the past three weeks. I don't believe it's the rates since our last rate increase was April 1, 1978. Following that rate increase we had the busiest and highest census in April and May that we've ever witnessed. In April our overall occupancy for the month was 84% while medical/surgical occupancy was 92%. In the month of May the overall occupancy was 85% and the medical/surgical occupancy was 95%.

As of June 5, 1978 as identified in a Health Services Cost Review Commission report, the Garrett County Memorial Hospitals aggregate rates ranked 50th lowest out of 54 hospitals statewide and 4th lowest out of 19 rural state hospitals.

Many factors enter into a reduced census including the time of the year, vacations, weather, etc.

It is expected that the census will again pick up over the summer and through the fall months.

Most hospitals witness an ever fluctuating census from month to month.

How does the Garrett County Memorial Hospital go about beginning a new service or program?

The first step in beginning a new program or service is to develop a need. A careful look is taken to see if there is enough support for the program and if it is of true value for the care of the patient. Once this need has been proven, then a complete analysis is made of the projected volume (usage) and the cost of implementing the program. The overhead involved, cost of supplies and materials, personnel necessary and equipment needed are all part of the financial feasibility study.

Next, the projected volume is related to the anticipated cost of the service and is evaluated as to its reasonableness. If the figures show that the service is needed and the cost is reasonable then an application for approved rates is made to the Maryland Health Services Cost Review Commission. They in turn re-evaluate the new service figures and compare them to state-wide standards. If they are reasonable by the Cost Commission standards then approval to implement the service and the appropriate rates are forwarded to the hospital and plans to begin the service are made.

It should be noted that all major new programs that are planned are discussed with and suggested to the medical staff and Board of Governors for their approval prior to application being made to the Cost Commission. If the cost of the project is more than $150,000 then approval of the Health Systems Agency and the Maryland State Comprehensive Health Planning Agency must be received prior to requesting approval from the Health Services Cost Review Commission. The average length of lead time in this process is about six to nine months.

Battery Brings A Suspended Sentence To One

One person received a suspended sentence having pleaded guilty of battery before Judge Lewis R. Jones in District Court last week.

Kenneth Dawson, H Street, Mt. Lake Park, pleaded guilty of battery on Phyllis Dawson at Oakland in May. A 15-day sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for 18 months. He also paid costs.

Edward Alvin Morton, RD 1, Swanton, pleaded not guilty of receiving stolen goods at Deer Park in February and his plea was upheld.

Charles W. Palmer, Sr., Cumberland, pleaded not guilty to trespassing on the property of another at White Rock, Friendsville in May (fishing in a stream), and his plea was upheld.

Richard Dale Ward, RD 5, Oakland, had been charged with disorderly conduct on land of another and also battery in Oakland in May. Both charges were dropped.

State Police Look Into Drug And Assault Cases

Two drug cases, assault and battery and destruction of property were among several cases investigated by the Maryland State Police, McHenry Detachment, recently.

A house on U. S. 219 just south of Devils Half Acre road has been said as the residence of one person accused with possession of marijuana. The daughter of a near-by family is said to babysit at the residence and she spoke of the smell of burning marijuana when she went in the house. Tfc. C. H. Hinnant, criminal investigator, made the report.

Another CDS case has been reported as being on First Street in Loch Lynn in early June. The owner of the house said a man who rented an apartment of his was selling marijuana. Seeds were found in the rug after the occupant had moved.

Alleged assault on Dan Allen Fox, McKeesport, by two area men took place in the Green Glade area recently. After a chase on Glendale road beginning at Das Gasthaus and ending at a residence on Green Glade road near Harvey's Peninsula road, Fox was threatened with shooting by one of the suspects. At the beginning and during the case beer bottles were thrown at Fox and his vehicle.

Two men from Longstretch Youth Home on U. S. 40, have been charged with assault and battery. The alleged incident occurred on Town Hill in Allegany County and the case was filed in that county. The two men were first charged with child abuse.

The breaking and entering of Ward's Tavern in Oakland was reported to have occurred about 4 a.m., June 4.

Destruction of property of the Potomac River Commission at Savage River Dam occurred in early June. Weather recording instruments valued at $275 were destroyed. The vandals climbed over the wire fence. No suspects have been named in the case investigated by Tfc. J. E. Foley.

Another suspect has been named in the breaking and entering and larceny case of the Martin residence on U. S. 219 near Red House.

Art Show Slated At Thomas, W.Va.

Artists from Thomas, W. Va., will display their works in the newly opened Aquinas Hall on Brown Street in that town beginning Sunday, July 2, and continuing through July 4.

The art show will start Sunday, July 2, with the hall open from 5 to 8 p.m. On Monday, July 3, the show will be open from 1 to 6 p.m., and on July 4 the hall will be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. The public is invited.

Paintings will be displayed by Rev. Joseph Wdowiak, priest and artist, who studied in Paris at Beaux Arts Academy, and Ernie Gabler, president of the Tucker County Arts Council. Woodcarvings by Stanley Sedmock will be on display as well.

A primary witness in this week's Ellwood Leroy Leuschner trial was Betty Jean Larmore. She testified Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court that she was living with the defendant in a Salisbury trailer park next to the home of the murdered boy. Pictured above in the artist's sketch, Miss Larmore composes herself after sobbing and was unable to testify for several moments. She then told the court that "Rusty" had been in her trailer with Leuschner the morning of the disappearance and had asked repeatedly to go with him to pay a gas bill. She also testified that the former soup factory worker asked her several times to wash his clothes after he returned home later on the afternoon of October 29, the day the boy was murdered.

BY JIM WILLIS

A new book of stories from the author of Carrie, The Shining, and Salem's Lot is a chilling collection of strange imagining, ghoulish twists and diabolical terror.

Stephen King, a modern master of the macabre, has brought together nineteen of his most unsettling short pieces — bizarre tales of dark doing and unthinkable acts from the twilight regions where horror and madness take on eerie, unearthly forms — where noises in the walls and shadows by the bed are always signs of something dreadful on the prowl.

The settings are familiar and unsuspected — a high school, a factory, a truck stop, a laundry, a field of Nebraska corn. But in Stephen King's world any place can serve as devil's ground — if the time of night is propitious, and the forces of darkness are strong, and the victims are caught just slightly off their guard—.

Forest Land In Maryland Includes 2.7 Million Acres

Forest land in Maryland comprises 2.7 million acres (42%) of the 6.3 million acres of land in the state.

Preliminary data from a survey designed to provide a reliable estimate of the extent and condition of Maryland's forest resource is now available from the Maryland Forest Service. The 1976 survey, conducted by the U.S. Forest Service with the cooperation of the Maryland Forest Service outlines the current forest situation and apparent trends of the forest resources.

According to Jack Brodie, Maryland Forest Service Forest Products Utilization Specialist, the survey indicates that since 1964 there has been a 13% decline in commercial forest land. Commercial forest land is defined as land that is capable of producing at least 20 cubic feet of wood per acre per year and that is not withdrawn from timber production, such as forested park land. Ninety percent of the forestland is in private ownership; 56 percent in sawtimber stands, 46 percent in the oak-hickory forest type. Timber volume has increased to 3.5 billion cubic feet of growing stock and 8.2 billion board feet of sawtimber. Seventy-three percent of the growing-stock volume is in sawtimber stands and 49 percent is in oak-hickory types. In a state that is dominated by hardwoods, loblolly pine is the single species with the most volume. Net growth exceeds removals for the state as a whole, but overcutting is occurring in certain units and in certain species.

An evaluation of industrial timber output is available in the publication entitled "The Timber Industries of Maryland." This evaluation is based upon a complete survey of the primary wood manufacturing plants in Maryland.

To receive a copy of "A Preview of Maryland's Forest Resource" or a copy of "The Timber Industries of Maryland" write to the Maryland Forest Service, Tawes State office Building, Annapolis 21401.

Livestock Producers Receive $315,182 In Feed Assistance

Livestock producers in Maryland received $315,182 in emergency feed assistance during the period ending May 31, according to Paul A. Crowl, an official of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Crowl said that 121 farmers received assistance during this period to help purchase 16.5 million pounds of feed. The Emergency Feed Program authorizes financial aid to farmers when their livestock is threatened by conditions caused by a natural disaster. Participants may be reimbursed up to 50 percent of the cost for feed purchased during the emergency period. This, however, may not exceed two cents per pound in terms of feed grain equivalent, the ASCS official said.

To be eligible for the feed, producers must have suffered a substantial loss in the amount of feed normally produced; have insufficient feed for the period of the disaster; and must purchase larger-than-normal quantities of feed.

According to Crowl, U. S. livestock producers received $121,654,849 during the period October 1 through April 30 to purchase about 11.1 billion pounds of feed (198 million bushels, corn equivalent).

Lisa Zuckerman Wins Essay Contest

Lisa Zuckerman, student of the Route 40 School, was the Garrett County winner of the essay contest sponsored by the Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution.

Each year the Daughters of American Revolution sponsors an essay contest relating to a history topic. This year, the topic throughout the United States was "Children of Colonial Times."

Each county's essay winner is sent to compete with regional and state winners.

Poet's Podium

By Jim Willis

It's always nice to read the work of local poets — and it's refreshing, in these days of negative attitudes, to read a work that celebrates God and country. The following poem is by Mrs. Iola P. Guy of Bloomington.

America's Birthday
by Iola P. Guy

Our Nation's Birthday gives us cause to celebrate right here.
To give Thee thanks we humbly pause in this another year.
We sing about America, our hearts with rapture thrills
To celebrate in '78 from valleys and the hills.

We're happy that our people sailed across the ocean blue
And settled in this wondrous land to form a nation true.
We know not how the few survived nor how they were so wise
Except You led them in their fight their concept to devise.

We proudly hail our Country's flag, may it forever wave
To kindle in our hearts always, a love for the land of the brave.
For freedom's sake they fought and died to save our liberty
Now may we work to keep it so, our land so rich and free.

There's some who'd have us to believe our Country's fate is sealed
When we oppose the enemy as they the sword do wield.
May we be mindful of the cost paid for this land to free
Us from the fate of other lands, and put our trust in Thee.

For all the past, so many years we've fought for liberty
With our concern for all mankind, the world to feed and free.
Speak to the enemy we pray that they might work for peace
Joining hands around all the world that wars and strife may cease.

That never more white crosses mark where brave men fought and fell
Across the seas on foreign shores or in a prison cell.
Grant them the same desire that our forefathers here did share
And then with love and trust and faith look unto Thee and care.

Kathy Jo Nice Participates In Farmers' Cooperative Institute

Kathy Jo Nice of the White Church area was one of the twenty-six youths selected on a statewide basis to participate in the first annual Institute of Cooperative Education of Farmer Cooperatives. The two-day institute was held June 12 and 13 at Summit Lake Camp in Emmitsburg, Md.

Four-H and FFA Youth in attendance were selected for participation based on their application and interview with the manager of a local farmer cooperative. The application questionnaire included such topics as family involvement in cooperatives, school and community activities and awards, as well as positions of leadership held in school, church and youth organizations.

Kathy represented the Garrett County 4-H Program and the Southern States Cooperative of Oakland.

The purpose of the two-day institute was to provide an educational program to inform Maryland youth of how agricultural cooperatives serve our local farmers. In addition, the Maryland youth representatives will be chosen from this group to attend the A.I.C.'s National Institute of Cooperative Education at Montana State University during the period of July 31 to August 3.

The educational content of the two-day program included an analysis of the business structure of a cooperative, and a brief review of the history and purpose of agriculture cooperatives. Guest speakers from the major cooperatives presented the topics which included case studies and movies. The program concluded with a written quiz on the basic principles of how a farmer cooperative functions.

During the two-day program, the youth had an opportunity to talk with many of the organizational presidents, local managers and representatives of the major Agricultural Cooperatives in Maryland.

State Law Says County Employes Need Not "Resign Before Running"

Attorney General Francis Bill Burch, in an opinion requested by Queen Anne's County Delegate Carter M. Hickman, has advised that a county may not require one of its employees to resign his job before running for elective office.

Mr. Burch said that although "resign-before-running" statutes are not unconstitutional under Supreme Court standards, Maryland's General Assembly has not enacted such a prohibitory law. Instead, in 1973, the General Assembly provided generally that "Participation in politics or political campaigns and the free expression of political opinions by employees of this State or of any county, municipal corporation, city, political subdivision, public authority, body political or board of education shall not be prohibited."

Measured against this State law, a Queen Anne's County ordinance requiring county employees to resign before running for office was invalid, Mr. Burch said. He added that the fact that Queen Anne's was neither a "Code" or "home rule" county would not affect the conclusion reached in the opinion, because such a broad category "resign-before-running" ordinance would be invalid no matter what county enacted it.

Mr. Burch noted that the only broad group of county employees who could be faced with a choice of resigning or running for office are those subject to the Federal Hatch Act.

"The Hatch Act prohibits certain State and local employees from being candidates for elective office in a partisan election. However, the Hatch Act is only applicable to State and local employees whose principal employment is in connection with an activity financed in whole or in part by loans or grants of the United States or a federal agency. Accordingly, only State and local employees, including Queen Anne's County government employees, employed in activities financed by the federal government are potentially barred by the Hatch Act from running for elective office in a partisan election."

Finally, Mr. Burch said that despite Maryland's broad rule favoring the political rights or public employees, "a State officer or employee in a very sensitive position, for example, a judge, may well be precluded by ethical considerations from running for political office." He also said that State law nevertheless prohibits public employees from engaging in political activity on the job during work hours or being obligated to contribute or render political service.

Crime Rate Down 6% In Maryland

Reported serious crime in Maryland decreased 6 per cent during the first three months of 1978 as compared to the same period in 1977 according to figures compiled by the Maryland State Police Central Records-Central Repository.

There was a decline in all seven serious crime categories. The biggest decrease was a 16 per cent drop in the number of motor vehicle thefts which was followed by a 12 per cent decrease in forcible rapes. Larceny-thefts declined by 7 per cent, murder was down 4 per cent, breaking or entering declined by 3 per cent and both robbery and aggravated assault decreased by 2 per cent.

Crimes against persons (murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault) accounted for 13 per cent of the crime and the crimes against property (breaking or entering, larceny-theft and auto theft) accounted for 87 per cent of the total.

Baltimore City reported 30 per cent of the total serious crimes. Prince George's County accounted for 21 per cent; Baltimore County logged 16 per cent of the Statewide total; Montgomery County reported 10 per cent; and Anne Arundel County accounted for 8 per cent of the total reported serious crime.

The Southern Maryland region of Calvert, Charles and St. Mary's Counties reported a decrease of 15 per cent in the number of reported crimes, while the Western Maryland region of Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett and Washington Counties showed a 12 per cent decrease. Garrett County alone showed a 3% increase in its crime rate. The Eastern Shore region of Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Anne's, Somerset, Talbot, Wicomico and Worcester Counties reported a 9 per cent drop in serious crime. The Baltimore Metropolitan region of Baltimore City, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Harford and Howard Counties logged a 7 per cent decrease and the Washington Metropolitan region of Montgomery and Prince George's Counties showed a 2 per cent decrease in the number of reported serious crimes.

Garrett County's number of breakings and enterings increased by five from 35 in 1977 to 40 this year. However the accounts of larceny or theft decreased from 59 to 53 in 1978. Motor vehicle theft rose from five to 11 reports while the crime index total moved upward from 102 to 105. Garrett County now has the third lowest crime rate in Maryland, preceded by Kent and Caroline Counties, respectively.

AMA HEALTH TIPS

POISON IVY SEASON HERE

Poison ivy season is here again.

You may have handled poison ivy last year and escaped without an itch, but don't push your luck.

No one is permanently immune to poison ivy, oak or sumac, the American Medical Association reminds.

Your next meeting with this pesky plant could take place in your own yard, as well as in the woods and fields. Poison ivy, oak and sumac have appeared in city gardens. Poison ivy sometimes forms a beautiful vine up the side of a house. Poisonous oils from these plants can come your way in the smoke of a neighbor's trash fire, or on your dog's coat.

If you can detect poison plants, you can often avoid them. Poison ivy and its close kin, poison oak, are three-leafed plants which may grow as low bushes or climbing vines. They may be mixed with honeysuckle and other climbers. Poison sumac, an eastern swamp plant with seven to thirteen leaflets and small white berries, usually grows as a shrub.

If you have been exposed, carefully remove your clothes and thoroughly wash all affected areas with warm water and soap. Sponge with a 50 to 70 per cent alcohol solution. Using rubber gloves, clean your clothes in an oil solvent and soapy water. Dry them in the sun.

Ivy, oak and sumac poisoning start with itching and redness within a few hours to several days after exposure. Watery pimples appear. There is no cure for the big itch. Wet dressings of boric acid or Epsom salts solution bring some relief. Calamine lotion reduces itching. If the inflammation is extensive, see your physician.

If you know that you will be near poison plants or working with them, have your druggists make a 10 per cent sodium perborate ointment and apply on exposed skin. After contact with the plant, wash off ointment and scrub all clothing — even shoelaces.

Half Of Cancer Deaths May Be Related To Diet

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The director of the National Cancer Institute says it is possible as many as half of the cancer deaths in the United States are related to diet.

Dr. Arthur Upton said his agency wants to spend more money researching suspected dietary links with cancer, but few medical researchers seem interested in taking NCI's funds for that purpose.

"About 380,000 Americans died of cancer last year," Upton said in an interview. "Some say half of those deaths were related to diet. I wouldn't argue with that, but we have no proof of it."

Medical schools don't devote enough curriculum to nutrition, Upton said, and there is a lack of experts to probe such mysteries as the suspected link between a fatty diet and breast, colon and uterine cancer in this country.

"We have sent out pamphlets to medical schools, doctors and research centers urging them to take an interest," he said. "And we are putting them on notice that we want applications for grants to research nutrition and cancer."

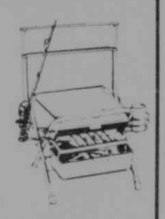
Sen. George McGovern, D-S. D., charged at a hearing of his Senate subcommittee last week that only 1 percent of the cancer institute's current $867 million research budget was being spent on the nutritional aspects of the disease.

"Actually, the figure is closer to $16 million, or 2 percent," said Upton.

"But the problem is not that we don't want to spend the money. There are simply not enough people around with bright ideas about nutrition — nutrition experts.

"Medical schools are a big problem," he said. "A survey taken a few years ago showed that only 19 of more than 100 medical schools in this country emphasized nutrition as a definite branch of science and medicine. And money doesn't do any good unless it can be channeled into proper research programs."

Apparent links between different dietary habits in various countries and the incidence of cancer in those countries were cited by committee witnesses.



Japanese don't eat a lot of fatty foods and the incidence of breast and colon cancer is low, for example, but when Japanese come to the United States their incidence of breast and colon cancer increases.

PET POINTERS

On Sunday, July 2, the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club of Cumberland, Md., is sponsoring its 25th Annual All Breed Dog Show & Obedience Trials at the Cumberland Fairgrounds in Fairgo, on Route 220 South, Cumberland, Md.

There are 1,010 dogs entered in the show, representing more than 100 different breeds. Entries have been accepted from dog fanciers all over the United States; Maryland and its neighboring states are, of course, well represented, and dogs will be arriving from Florida, Vermont, North Carolina, Michigan, New Mexico, and California among other states.

A dog show provides an excellent opportunity for adults and children with an interest in dogs to have a look at a favorite breed, as well as unusual ones, like the Belgian Sheepdog, the Rhodesian Ridgeback, the Schipperke, the Viszla, and many others. A dog show is the best possible place to gain information about dogs, obtain breeders' addresses, etc., — But please, wait and talk to dog owners AFTER they have been in the ring — it's more relazed that way!

The judging starts at 9 a.m. and continues through the whole day. The final event, the Best in Show competition, will take place around 5 p.m.

The judges at the show will be: Mr. Robert Braithwaite of Peapak, N.J.; Mr. Heywood Hartley, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Heywood Hartley, Richmond, Va.; Mr. Charles P. Herendeen, Broadview Heights, Oh.; Mr. Roy M. Kibler, Lancaster, Oh.; Mr. James Mahan, Fairfax, Va.; Mr. Howard Mickelson, Hartwood, Va.; Mr. Chester Monaghan, Hummelstown, Pa.; Mrs. Virginia Paine, Ashville, N.Y.; Mr. Donald Robinder, Newville, Pa.; Miss Patricia Scully, Suffern, N.Y., and Mr. Robert Slay, Beech Island, S.C.

Entrance fee to the Showgrounds is $1.00 (includes parking) for visitors; children under 12 are admitted free.

The Arts & Letters Trophy Shop on North Centre Street in Cumberland has a window display of former Upper Potomac Valley Dog Show Winners and other show information, including a Breeders Directory.

The dog show is licensed by the American Kennel Club and a portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Additional information, including individual breed showtimes, can be obtained from: in Maryland: Mrs. Thomas Berry, Club President (301) 722-0570; Mrs. Earl Smith, Show Chairman, (301) 463-2754; in Pennsylvania: Margareta Surkiewicz (814) 356-3573, evenings; in West Virginia: Jean Bradshaw (304) 738-8925.

Nothing To Do On The 4th? Celebrate In Accident, Terra Alta

by DiAnne Rook

Although July 4 in Oakland is not the hubbub of excitement that it once was, Garrett Countians need not feel left out of the holiday celebration. The nearby communities of Accident and Terra Alta, W. Va. offer numerous events for the young and old alike and parks within Garrett County allow various activities for all to enjoy on the 4th.

Holiday festivities in Terra Alta begin on Friday, June 30 and last through Tuesday night, July 4. Sponsored by the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department, the annual celebration draws large crowds from West Virginia and Maryland and is a lively small-town gathering. In its 52nd year, the celebration is the oldest of its kind in West Virginia.

At 6:30 p.m. on Friday the carnival, amusement booths and concession stands open in the Terra Alta Park where most of the four-day's activities will be held. The carnival, provided by McGuffy Amusements of Vienna, W. Va., is open again on Saturday and Sunday at 1 p.m., Monday at 6:30 p.m. and on July 4 at 10 a.m. Advance ride tickets are on sale now at Spahr's Exxon, Gregg's Pharmacy and Fez's Amoco, all in Terra Alta, the Terra Alta Bank, Terra Alta Dairy Queen and Preston Parts in Kingwood.

An Old-Fashioned Antique Auction with Blizzard and Hill Auctioneers will be held at 7:30 Friday night in the Park Community Building. The auction, given for the benefit of the Terra Alta Fire Department, will include numerous hardware goods, glassware, kitchenware, TV's and stereos of all kinds along with much, much more. Door prizes will be given away.

At 1 p.m. on Saturday in the Park, a bicycle race, sponsored by Explorer's Post #280 of the Terra Alta Police Department, will begin while at 3 p.m. that afternoon the Terra Alta Boy Scouts are holding an "unusual" pet show in the park.

Highlighting the day will be a Championship Demolition Derby to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Park Ball Field. All entrants must have an application, available at Spahr's Exxon and Fez's Amoco in Terra Alta and Preston Parts in Kingwood, and must be 18 years or older. Entry fee for the event is $1. Those interested in participating who haven't filled out an application by Saturday, July 1, should be at the Ball Field by 6:30 p.m.

Sunday's activities kick off with a horse pulling contest sponsored by the Marion County Horse Pulling Association. The event will be held at 1 p.m. at the Park Ball Field. For evening entertainment the High Stepping Buckwheat Stompers will host a square dance at 7:30 in the Park Pavilion.

Talented country music star Debbie Chester will sing Monday night, July 3, at 7:30 in the Park Community Building and following her performance, a gigantic fireworks exhibition will be viewed in the Park, starting at 11 p.m.

Climaxing the July 4 celebration in Terra Alta will be the festival parade on Crane Avenue and W. Va. Route 7, beginning at 2 p.m. Jack Fleming, WTAE Pittsburgh Sportscaster and "Voice of the Mountaineers" has been chosen as Parade Marshal and will crown Miss Fireworks 1978 following the parade. Donna Hull, Miss Fireworks, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cuppett of Terra Alta.

Entertainment for the evening will be provided by the Thunderhill Singers, a well-known group from Deep Creek Lake. The band's act includes folk music, bluegrass, country western, novelty tunes and rock and roll. Thunderhill appeared on nationwide television and has done extensive college concert work and released several records.

The 4th of July Festival in Terra Alta will wrap-up Tuesday night at 11 p.m. with another huge fireworks display in the Park.

In the Western Maryland area, Accident will be holding its annual July 4 Homecoming featuring a parade and picnic in Spoerlein's Grove.

The Fireman's Parade, beginning at 10:30 a.m. and leading down the town's picturesque main street will feature firetrucks from all over the county including Oakland's 50-year-old Number 1, small floats, bands and marching units.

At noon plate lunches will be sold at the annual picnic in Spoerlein's Grove and sandwiches will be available throughout the day. The public is welcome to attend the event.

Since July 4 is a traditional day for picnics and outings, area parks will be open throughout the day to accommodate the large number of visitors expected to enter the county. For those interested in camping during the weekend, Swallow Falls and the State Park have advised that campers should secure campsites Friday, July 1, in order to have them for the weekend. Camping costs are $4.50 per night at both areas.

The State Park, located on State Park Road, is open daily from 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. with a $1.50 admission charge for cars entering the park. Offering picnicking, boating and swimming, the beach has lifeguards on duty from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Swimming, picnicking, and fishing are available daily in Oakland at Broad Ford Dam. The area, open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., has a $1.50 admission charge for cars, 75 cents for senior citizens and 25 cents for those who walk in. The beach area is open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Swallow Falls State Park, one of the largest scenic attractions in the area, is open daily until 9:30 p.m., with the camping area closing at 11. Picnicking and hiking are two activities which are enjoyed at the park and a stop to view the three waterfalls (Swallow, Muddy Creek, and Tolliver Falls) is highly recommended. There is no admission price charged to enter the park.

Farther away from Oakland but still well known in the area, New Germany State Park is located near Grantsville. The park operates from 8 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. and has swimming hours from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. An admission price of $1.50 per car is asked to enter the park.

Herrington Manor State Park, located on the Herrington Manor Road outside of Oakland, is a popular spot for swimming, picnicking, canoeing and paddleboating. The park, open from 8:30 until dark, has a $1.50 per car admission price.

Locally, for some good outdoor cooking to sample over the July 4 weekend, the Southern High School Band Boosters will be holding their annual chicken barbecue at the Information Booth at Deep Creek Lake. The group will be serving chicken from 9:30 a.m. to dusk on July 1 and 2.

And like Christmas without snow, July 4 would not be the same without fireworks. Although the town of Oakland does not hold a fireworks exhibition, area residents may view them on the 4th. Large displays are shown both on Monte Vista Road in Oakland (which can be seen from parts of Route 219 South) and at the Green Glade section of the lake.

It may not be a Monday holiday this year, but, as always, the 4th of July is welcomed by all any day it arrives. Whether attending any of the events mentioned here, going on an outing or spending time with friends and relatives, have a happy and safe 4th of July!

Citizens United To Cut Taxes Begin Movement

CUT-CUTT (Citizens United to Cut Taxes) of Allegany County has begun a movement to join forces with the numerous other tax protest groups throughout the state in an effort to hasten passage of MR 13, the Maryland version of California's controversial Proposition 13. A petition drive is being organized to allow the residents of the Western Maryland counties to express their dissatisfaction with overtaxation and, at the same time, take part in the statewide movement to return control of the budget to the taxpayers themselves.

Any persons or groups desiring additional information may contact CUT-CUTT by writing to Box 562, Cumberland, Maryland or calling 724-1200.

State Retains Triple A Rating For Sale Of General Bonds

The Maryland Board of Public Works, consisting of Acting Governor Blair Lee, State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein, and State Treasurer William S. James sold $115,350,000 in Triple A rated, General Obligation Bonds for a low interest bid of 5.332534% June 21. The successful bid was submitted by Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust of Chicago.

A total of three bids were submitted to the Board of Public Works, all in the 5.3% range.

"Maryland retained the Triple A bond rating from both Moody's and Standard and Poor's rating agencies. The Triple A rating is important in that it means a lower rate of interest when the State sells its bonds. This in turn, means a lower State real estate tax rate for our taxpayers," Mr. Goldstein said.

Of the $115,350,000, a total of $70,750,000 will be used for public school construction, $33,500,000 for general State construction, and $11,100,000 for other projects including water and sewerage and $6,000,000 for the State's third payment on the Baltimore Convention Center.

Among the curiously named towns and villages in the United States are such gems as:

Accident, Maryland
Ammunition Depot, Nevada
Anvil Location, Michigan
Battiest, Oklahoma
Burnt Corn, Alabama
Difficult, Tennessee
Dime Box, Texas

With a name like "Accident" a town could get a bad reputation. Actually, Accident probably has less mishaps than most towns in the United States. The above is reprinted from "Triviata, A Compendium of Useless Information," compiled by Timothy T. Fullerton, (Bell Publishing Company, New York.)

J. W. Jackson 5&10 Honors Store Employees

The J. W. Jackson Co., Inc., operating as the Ben Franklin Store 3062, held a dinner Wednesday, June 20, at Silver Tree Inn in honor of their employes.

At this time, Col. J. Haig Jackson announced that as of June 30, the store would be sold to John P. Kurilla, the manager since 1964 and a partner in the business since 1974.

Mr. Kurilla will continue to operate the store under his own Ben Franklin franchise on the same premises.

Col. Jackson's retirement will bring to a close the involvement of the Jackson family in the mercantile business that was originally started by John W. Jackson in Lonaconing in 1918.

The Oakland store was opened in 1933 and moved to its present location in 1935. At one time, J. W. Jackson operated Ben Franklin stores in Romney, W. Va. and Lonaconing in addition to the Oakland store.

Col. Jackson plans to remain active in his county and community, retaining his positions on various organizations. He is presently chairman of the Garrett County Development Corporation, secretary of the Planning Commission, chairman of the Governing Body of Health Systems Agency, a member of the Oakland Town Council, member of the Tri-County Council and a member of the vocational education advisory committee. He is also a member of the Board at Garrett National Bank.

He and his wife, the former Ruth Ridder, are active members of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, where Col. Jackson is a member of the church council and chairman of the building committee.

Mr. Kurilla has announced his intentions to operate the local store as a complete variety store, keeping the 5 and 10 cent store image. He has been in the variety store business since 1951.

SHA Lowers Truck Limits On Rt. 48

District 6 of the State Highway Administration began posting signs Friday limiting speed of trucks to 45 miles an hour on Route 48.

The decision to post the heavily-traveled route followed a study into the cause of accidents on the highway and failure of truck brakes, a spokesman said.

The limit will be imposed eastbound from east of Finzel Road in Garrett County to the Kelly Boulevard exit in Allegany County. At this point the speed limit reduces to 40 miles an hour and will be even less because of present construction on the crosstown bridge.

THE ARTS

by jim willis

"Copyright" has always been a dreaded word to artists, composers and the art community in general. The forms and statutes for a copyright were so riddled with "legalese" that the artist was never sure if his work was adequately protected. Now, thanks to a new proposal in simple terms, the artist can be assured that his work is safe from plagiarism. The following is an excerpt from a recent announcement issued by the Library of Congress Copyright Office:

"SUMMARY: This notice of proposed rulemaking is issued to inform the public that the Copyright Office of the Library of Congress is considering adoption of a new regulation implementing section 401(c) of the Act for General Revision of the Copyright Law. That section directs the Register of Copyrights to 'prescribe by regulation, as examples, specific methods of affixation and positions of the copyright notice on various types of works" that will satisfy the requirement that the copyright notice 'be affixed to the copies in such manner and location as to give reasonable notice of the claim of copyright.' The effect of the proposed regulation is to provide examples of methods of affixation and positions for the guidance of persons seeking to affix the notice in a manner and location that will comply with the statutory requirements."

"Pictorial, Graphic, and Sculptural Works. The following constitute examples of acceptable methods of affixation and positions of the copyright notice on various forms of pictorial, graphic, and sculptural works."

"(1) Where a work is reproduced in two-dimensional copies, a notice affixed directly or by means of a label cemented, sewn, or otherwise permanently secured to the front or back of the copies, or to any backing, mounting, matting, framing, or other material to which the copies are permanently attached or in which they are permanently housed, is acceptable;"

"(2) Where a work is reproduced in three-dimensional copies, a notice affixed directly or by means of a label cemented, sewn, or otherwise permanently secured to any visible portion of the work, or to any base, mounting, framing, or other material on which the copies are permanently attached or in which they are permanently housed, is acceptable."

"(3) Where, because of the size or physical characteristics of the material in which the copies are reproduced, it is impossible or extremely impracticable to affix a notice to the copies directly or by means of a permanent label, a notice is acceptable if it appears on a tag that is of durable material and that is attached to the copy with sufficient permanency that it will remain with the copy during the entire time it is passing through its normal channels of commerce."

"(4) Where a work is reproduced in copies consisting of sheet-like or strip material bearing multiple or continuous reproductions of the work, the notice may be applied: (i) To the reproduction itself; (ii) to the margin, selvage, or reverse side of the material at frequent and regular intervals; or (iii) if the material contains neither a selvage nor a reverse side, to tags or labels attached to the copies and to any spools, reels, or containers housing them in such a way that a notice is visible during the entire time the copies are passing through their normal channels of commerce;"

"(5) If the work is permanently housed in a container, such as a game or puzzle box, a notice reproduced on the permanent container is acceptable."

Gasoline Use In State Shows Little Increases In April

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein announced late last week that motorists seem to be definitely easing off the accelerator. "At least they're not using gasoline at the rate we saw prior to this year," Mr. Goldstein said.

Gasoline consumption figures show that 167,268,111 gallons of gasoline were used in Maryland during April, 1978. "That's only about one-third of one percent more than the 166.7 million gallons consumed during April of last year," Mr. Goldstein said. "That small amount of growth, combined with the less than one-half of one percent increase registered in March and the actual decline in gasoline use when February, 1978 is compared with February, 1977, means a very definite conservation trend has developed."

While the conservation trend in gasoline consumption seems well established, State Motor Vehicle Fuel Tax revenues continue to show growth. Motor Fuel Tax revenues for the first 10 months of Fiscal Year 1978 total $177,889,819, up 2.73 percent over the $173,168,673 collected during the identical period of Fiscal Year 1977.

"The increase in revenues comes primarily from a large increase in the revenue from the road tax on motor carriers and a significant increase in the sale of diesel fuel." M Goldstein said.

A total of $174,631,455 h been distributed to the Tra portation Trust Fund of t Maryland Department Transportation, 2.69 perce more than had been distribut at this time last year. Part that revenue is redistributed local subdivisions.

Glotfelty-O'Brien Vows Recited

Wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Lynne Marie O'Brien and Paul Edward Glotfelty on October 22, 1977.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank Chittock in the Calvary Baptist Church of Cresaptown.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randell B. O'Brien, Rawlings, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roger P. Glotfelty, Oakland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer organza trimmed with Alencon lace. Lace outlined the sheer bibbed yoke and formed the high Victorian neckline. Lace encircled the raised waistline and cuffs of the sheer Bishop sleeves. The A-line skirt featured lace in a tiered effect sweeping to a chapel train. A Juliet headpiece of coordinating lace and seed pearls held a fingertip length mantilla of lace-edged bridal illusion.

Miss Sherry O'Brien, Swanton, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Lisa O'Brien, cousin of the bride, Swanton; Miss Valinda Glotfelty and Miss Susan Glotfelty, sisters of the groom, Oakland.

The bridesmaids and maid of honor's dresses were handmade by Mrs. Ethel Glotfelty, grandmother of the groom, and Mrs. Pauline Savage, aunt of the groom.

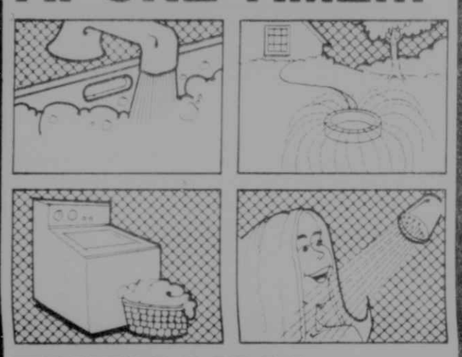
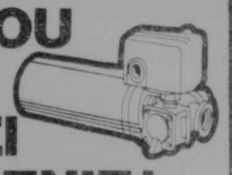
Drivers Warned On Positioning Auxiliary Lights



Motorists who attach auxiliary driving lights on top of their vehicles may be facing vehicle citations.

The state Motor Vehicle Administration said police will start issuing citations or equipment repair orders requiring drivers to remove lights from atop roll bars or truck cabs. Such lights are illegal in these positions.



State law permits two auxiliary driving lamps, but none can be mounted higher than 42 inches above the street surface.

Three Congressmen Get High Public Opinion Ratings

Three Maryland Members of Congress have received perfect ratings of 100 from the American Security Council for consistently representing public opinion in the American Security Council's 1973 National Security Voting Index released today.

The Index tabulates individual voting records of Members of Congress on major national security issues and compares these votes with public opinion on the same issues.

The following members of the Maryland delegation received a rating of 100 on the ASC's Voting Index: Representatives Bob Bauman (1st District); Marjorie Holt (4th District), and Goodloe Byron (6th District).

John Fisher, President of the Council, commented that "the people in Maryland who are represented by these Members of Congress can be proud of the fact that so many of their elected representatives have consistently voted to maintain a strong U. S. defense posture."

Several members of the Maryland delegation, however, are shown by the National Security Voting Index to consistently vote to weaken our national defense and against the wishes of the voters. Senators Paul Sarbanes and Charles Mathias and Representatives Barbara Mikulski and Parren Mitchell each received ratings of 20 or less on the ASC's Index.

These results were just released in the 1978 National Security Voting Index, which is published every two years by the American Security Council as a service to the public.

Covering key national security votes during 1977 and early 1978, the National Security Voting Index compares voting records of Members of Congress to a national scientific sampling of all voting age Americans by Decision Making Information (DMI).

The DMI Poll revealed, for example, that 79% of the American public favors a defense posture of military superiority over the Soviet Union.

It is significant that the Decision Making Information Poll showed that Americans of differing political ideologies all strongly favor U. S. military superiority.

For instance, the DMI Poll, 70% of the liberals favored U. S. superiority, together with 86% of the conservatives, and 80% of the moderates.

The American Security Council also conducts a National Security Issues Poll of opinion leaders throughout the nation, the results of which reinforce the DMI findings.

Fisher explained that the National Security Voting Index is an analysis of ten key Congressional and Senate votes on important national security matters, including internal security, South Vietnam aid, the importation of Rhodesian chrome, the B-1 bomber, and the Panama Canal.

He went on to say, "During the past several months, experts and leaders from both major political parties and from practically every other walk of life have expressed increasing concern over the dangerous growth of Soviet military power and the reduced capability of the United States to oppose effectively the expansion of Soviet global influence. Ultimately, the most important decisions regarding our national security are made by Congress."

The American Security Council's role in preparing the Index is strictly that of analyst-reporter. The Council, which is headquartered in Boston, Virginia, is a non-profit research and educational organization devoted exclusively to national defense issues. Its members and contributors nationwide number approximately 225,000, with over 4,790 of those members in Maryland.

Following are the National Security Voting Index ratings of all members of the Maryland delegation:

Senator Sarbanes 20%
Senator Mathias 13%

Dist.	Representative	Rating
1	Bauman	100%
2	Long	67%
3	Mikulski	11%
4	Holt	100%
5	Spellman	40%
6	Byron	100%
7	Mitchell	10%
8	Steers	40%

Goldstein Highlights Maryland's Advantages

"Maryland's outstanding location continues to be one of our greatest strengths," State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein told a group of State Secretaries of Agriculture, in a speech that stressed Maryland's many assets.

In his June 19 address to the Southern Association of the State Departments of Agriculture, meeting in Annapolis, Mr. Goldstein noted that, "as State Comptroller, I consider it my job to 'sell' Maryland wherever I go, and our location is one of my biggest selling points. Maryland is right in the midst of the great East coast megalopolis, but we are also on the border of the Southeast sunbelt. Being part of both of these great areas makes Maryland an excellent market itself."

The Comptroller also said that Maryland doesn't rely on just one major industry, "so our economy is not as subject to drastic highs and lows." He pointed out that agri-business plays a large part in Maryland's economy.

In affirming that "Maryland is meeting the challenges of today for all our citizens," Comptroller Goldstein also looked to what Maryland has to offer in the future. "Maryland offers two attractions which are necessary for life and commercial activity. Here in Maryland we have supplies of energy for today and tomorrow, to the Baltimore Gas & Electric Company's Calvert Cliffs Nuclear Power Plant, to the Columbia LNG facility at Cove Point in Calvert County.

"One other resource we can offer, which will become more and more important in the years ahead, is potable water, with our abundant supplies of underground water and thousands of miles of shoreline.

"Maryland's great location and other economic assets, plus sound fiscal management by our State government have paid off for Maryland's taxpayers.

"Our triple 'A' credit rating has been re-affirmed by both Moody's and Standard and Poor's rating agencies, for our General Obligation Bond Sale this coming Wednesday, June 21. We will market $115,350,000 in triple 'A' rated General Obligation Bonds," Mr. Goldstein said, adding "we here in Maryland will continue to work in the future to take advantage of our many assets and resources."

William "Rusty" Marine, Jr.'s stepfather broke down sobbing while testifying Thursday at the trial of Eilwood Leroy Leuschner, the man convicted in Garrett County Circuit Court this week of the nine-year-old's sex slaying. William A. Windsor, the stepfather, testified that the boy had been with the defendant on the day he disappeared. Pictured above in the artist's sketch is Windsor presenting testimony before Judge Fred A. Thayer. Windsor cried when asked by the prosecutor to identify a picture of his stepson.

Many Teachers Are Attending Classes

As many as 60 percent of Garrett County teachers will be involved in workshop or educational program experiences during this summer, according to a report received by the Garrett County Board of Education from Albert Ringer, assistant superintendent of curriculum and instruction.

Among the workshops scheduled are nutrition education; family life and human relationships; the Garrett County gifted and talented; Berkeley Health; designing successful individual, self-management and discipline strategies; Garrett County industrial visitation; science curriculum committee workshop; and Northern Middle School workshop.

Workshops vary in length from three to ten days, with teachers receiving college or regular credit for some of the workshops.

In addition to these workshops and classes, many teachers will travel to colleges and universities for educational programs leading to advanced degrees or certificates.

NSPB Issues Warning About Holiday Fireworks

NEW YORK — With an estimated 7,555 Americans taken to hospital emergency rooms to be treated for fireworks-related injuries last year, the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness (NSPB) has issued a warning that fireworks — all kinds of fireworks — are a threat to life and limb, but especially to eyesight.

More than 17 percent of last year's reported injuries from pyrotechnics were to the eye, the sight conservation organization points out. This figure represents only a fraction of actual injuries; there is no way to estimate the numbers treated in doctors' offices, by direct hospital admission or at home.

Among opthalmologists surveyed in Texas, 60 reported having treated 106 injuries to the eye from fireworks last year. Fifty six of these accidents were caused by bottle-rockets, in 32 cases resulting in total vision loss or impairment. Firecrackers and skyrockets followed, with roman candles and apparently harmless items like punk and sparklers, which burn at heats exceeding 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit, also on the list.

For many years, the 70-year-old NSPB organization has urged that use of all fireworks be restricted to licensed public display, a measure already enacted into law in many states and municipalities. Still bootleg fireworks appear regularly on street corners and in under-the-counter sales.

Since the majority of fireworks victims are usually under the age of 15, parents are advised to keep even the smallest firecrackers out of the hands of their children.

What looks like fun to the young can injure and even blind. NSPB says enjoy the holidays, but enjoy them safely.

CALLING ALL Homemakers
Brought to you by Debbie Paige
IF YOU DON'T HAVE ONE - YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU'RE MISSING

Although the so-called "action chairs" - the ones that recline, rock or swivel - are one of the most popular phenomenons in the furniture industry, there are still people not aware of the delightful addition that one - or more - of these chairs can bring to a home, and a life-style.
We say one or more, because these chairs can now be used in more than one room. With the improved styling and variety of fabrics and designs, you can use recliners in living rooms, dens, family rooms, offices and bedrooms as never before.
There are really three main reasons why recliners have zoomed in popularity in recent years. One reason is the improved styling that makes these chairs better looking.
The second reason is the technological improvement of the mechanisms within the chairs. And the third reason is the added comfort that makes these chairs so wonderful to settle in.
It's that last reason - the real comfort - that makes us say if you don't have one, you don't know what you're missing. Or, if you have one, it's worth considering another. Yes, recliners can go everywhere now, and be enjoyed in any room. We invite you to shop here.
We have just received a new shipment of Berkline wallaway recliners. They will fully recline while only 1½" from the wall. Please feel free to stop in.

Assessment Answers

by James Burley

Q. I am sixty-seven years of age, and I have owned my home for five years or more. I am retired and living on a fixed income. I would like you to give me all the information you can and would like to know just what I have to do to get the benefit of the Circuit Breaker Tax Credit Law, also when it would be effective.

Q. My husband is sixty-six years of age and totally disabled. We own and live in our home, and our net worth is far under $150,000. I hear of others getting tax relief, and can't understand why we can't.

Q. I settled for a home last month and paid part of the taxes on the settlement date. I was born on August 18, 1905, how do I go about getting a reduction in taxes?

Q. I am over sixty-five years of age, a widower since August, 1977, pensioned since June, 1977 [$700 per month], now living alone. I owe about $3,000 on my property. I own the ground. My net worth is the property and a couple dollars in a savings account.

The taxes for 1977-78 were $597.12 on an assessed valuation of $15,720. At the time I paid the above taxes, I inquired as to tax relief but was told I made too much money last year, and until my taxes reached $800, nothing can be done about it. What does last year's income have to do with next year's taxes?

I do not hold membership in any of the senior citizens' groups, and I don't know where and how to apply for tax relief; so any leads you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

A. Although these letters describe different personal situations and circumstances, they have one common thread. The homeowners in each case are over sixty years of age.

The new Maryland Homeowners' Property Tax Credit Law, that goes into effect on June 1, 1978, absorbs, with some important changes, the old Circuit Breaker Tax Credit Program which has been in existence the past three years for those sixty years of age or older, or the disabled.

One of the changes is that the age limit has been dropped. Now, homeowners of all ages can participate depending upon their income. In general, these changes broaden the benefits, and all homeowners, including persons already participating should be aware of them.

The maximum amount of property tax credit for the sixty or disabled group has been increased from $750 to $900. The maximum assessed valuation of the property for which the credit is sought has been increased from $30,000 to $40,000. Under the old Circuit Breaker Tax Credit Program, the homeowners' net worth must not have exceeded $150,000, including the dwelling. Under the new law, the net worth limit has been increased to $200,000, excluding the value of the home.

Some requirements remain unchanged. The homeowners still must have a legal interest in the property, they must live in the home for more than six months of the year, and the dwelling must be their principal residence.

The applications for those sixty or older or the disabled are available upon request at the local assessments offices. Those persons who have previously participated in the Circuit Breaker Program automatically receive new applications.

The property tax credits are tied to the homeowner's income in an attempt to relate property taxes to a person's ability to pay. A new formula based upon combined gross income has been developed which generally is more favorable to the property owner than the one it replaces. The law requires that the credit be computed on the homeowner's income as reported for the preceding year. As before, home-owners will be required to submit a copy of their federal income tax returns along with the application for the property tax credit.

Because of the fact that they are new to the program, homeowners who are under sixty years of age have been given until October 1, 1978, to file their applications for tax credits, but persons in the sixty and older category must file by September 1, as heretofore. Do not let these different dates confuse you.

If you, as the homeowner, have any question of eligibility, you should apply — even though you may have been determined ineligible for a previous year — for two very important reasons. First, there may have been changes in your personal situation which would cause you to be eligible. Second, the provisions under the new and expanded law are more generous and encompass a larger group of homeowners.

Questions or letters of general interest on assessments and the property tax should be addressed to 'Assessment Answers — James Burley' in care of this newspaper. They will be answered through this column to the extent that space allows.

This column was written with the co-operation of the Maryland State Department of Assessments and Taxation.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of Earl Harvey, Jr., who passed away one year ago, June 27, 1977:

Those we love live on with us, for love itself lives on; and cherished memories never fade, because the one we love is gone.
Those we love can never be more than a thought apart, for as long as there is memory, they'll live on within our hearts.

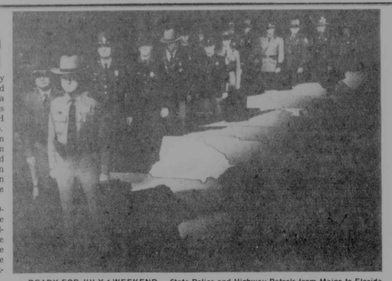
Fortieth Annual 4-H Conservation Camp Scheduled

Judging by a rapid early sign-up, "You, Me and Energy" is proving to be a popular theme for this year's fortieth annual Maryland 4-H and Youth Conservation Camp.

The week-long event is again scheduled at the Western Maryland 4-H Center, located on the shore of Cunningham lake, south of Bittinger on Meadow Mountain. Dates are July 24-29.

Older teen-agers (14 to 19-year-olds) throughout the state are eligible to attend, regardless of whether they are members of 4-H clubs. Three chartered buses will provide free transportation from pick-up points throughout the state.



Registration deadline is this Friday, June 30. However, late reservations might still be available next week. Reservation may be made at any county Extension 4-H office throughout the state or in Baltimore city.

This year's program will explore three aspects of energy. They are: non-renewable sources; renewable sources; energy conservation and what it means to people as a society and as individuals.

Special features will include a whitewater raft trip down the Youghiogheny river or a canoe trip on the Savage river reservoir. These excursions require written parental permission and a slight additional cost.

Speakers for various energy-related topics will represent a wide range of public utility companies, universities, the state Department of Natural Resources and other public agencies, trade associations, and a large petroleum company, plus the University of Maryland and its statewide Cooperative Extension Service.

Program coordinator again this year is David G. Pitt, Extension specialist in landscape architecture and regional development at the University of Maryland in College Park. Sponsoring organization, as usual, is the Maryland Cooperative Extension Service. Financial assistance is again being provided by the Federal Cartridge Company, headquartered at Minneapolis, Minn.

READY FOR JULY 4 WEEKEND — State Police and Highway Patrols from Maine to Florida are ready for the long Independence Day weekend. These 16 state enforcement agencies have joined together in Operation Care in an attempt to save lives and energy on the highways. Troopers will be paying special attention to the enforcement of the 55 MPH speed limit and the apprehension of drunken drivers. The first East Coast Operation Care effort was during this past Memorial Day weekend. During that period, traffic deaths dropped 14 percent on the east coast although fatalities were up 19 percent nationwide. The National Safety Council predicts that between 650 and 750 persons will lose their lives on the nation's highways during the July 4 weekend. Excessive speed and alcohol are the two leading contributing causes of serious and fatal crashes. (State Police photo by Bill Clark).
